PLAN NEW TEST FOR DRY LAW

BUGLES OF WAR RECALL VICTORY TO CITY TODAY

Armistice Meetings to Honor Dead.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

When the silver trumpets sound at 11 o'clock this morning, the fusion of [illegible] spirit in another Armistice day memorial will again become manifest.

As the priests on the walls of Solomon's temple awoke the people to holy sacrifice, so the Legion trumpets will call for this moment of silent tribute to those who gave their lives in the great war.

All hearts will turn eastward, where in the tombs of the unknown soldiers, many presidents and kings, the mud and the glory of Flanders field, and the forest of Compiegne, where, on a rainy morning 12 years ago, at this hour, there came a hushed moment as the first Armistice day began.

Plan Series of Meetings.

The 11 o'clock moment is the signal for many celebrations in the Chicago communities. The day is marked this year by a strong revival of interest in its significance, and from the loop to the farthest suburb will be speeches and parades and music, with much talk of peace and much talk of preparedness.

This year finds much of the world in the throes of war and revolution, with war talk rampant in Europe, and many new inventions at hand to make "the next war" more deadly. Many of those who fought in the great war are out of work, or still disabled and ill. It is to be a day of stock taking, with many serious programs calling for a study of the situation, with passionate desire to find the way to permanent peace, which is the finding of a new social consciousness.

The city hall will be closed to all except necessary business, and for the first time the main Chicago celebration will be held in the loop. This will be on La Salle street, between Washington and Randolph streets, where a huge platform has been erected to seat representatives of all the veterans' organizations.

MacNider Principal Speaker.

Gen. Hanford MacNider, United States minister to Canada, will fly here from Ottawa to make the principal address here. Wartime tunes will be played by the bands, a drum corps of the Woodlawn American Legion post, the Chicago police band, and the drum corps of the Chicago Board of Trade, the Yarmo-De Vere, and Bell Telephone Legion posts. Thousands of voices will join here in singing the national anthem.

"After several months of preparation," said Charles West, chairman of the American Legion Armistice day committee, "the Legion awaits the hour of 10 to 11 o'clock on Tuesday when Chicago's loop gets its first glimpse of an Armistice fête as war veterans view the occasion."

An all day conference of the Catholic Association for International Peace will be held at the Congress hotel in observance of the day. It is held under the auspices of the Chicago branch of the association, of which the Rev. Frederic Siedenburg, S. J., dean of the downtown college of Loyola university, is the head. Dr. Charles O. Fenwick, professor of political science at Bryn Mawr college, will discuss the political causes of war and will suggest a remedy. The economic issue will be discussed by the Rev. J. W. E. Maguire of St. Viator's college, and the Rev. R. A. McGowan of the National Catholic Welfare conference, Washington, D. C. Dr. John A. Lapp of Marquette university, Chief Justice John P. McGoorty, and Father Vernon G. Kerwin of the University of Chicago will preside at the various sessions.

Hold Noon Peace Meeting.

One of the outstanding celebrations of the day will be held between 12 and 1 o'clock at the Chicago temple. This is to be a city-wide massmeeting in the interests of world peace, under the auspices of the Conference of Jewish Women, the Chicago Church federation, Chicago Urban league, Chicago Women's Aid, Council of Jewish Women, Forum of the League of Women Voters, Northwest Study club, Hull House, Temple Sisterhood, Women's City club, Women's International league, and the Young Women's Christian association.

Dr. Ernest Bourner Allen, chairman of the commission on world friendship of the Chicago Church federation, will preside and the speakers will be Morris D. Hull, member of the house of representatives; David D. Shillingiaw, and Rabbi Solomon Freehof.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION IS UNDER SCRUTINY

Wickersham Group Ready to Act.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Plans for a national constitutional convention for what will be tantamount to a showdown on prohibition may be submitted to President Hoover soon by the national law enforcement commission, according to well authenticated reports here tonight. If the recommendations should be adopted, the fate of the 18th amendment would be put up squarely to the forty-eight states.

Decision to confine their efforts to a solution of the wet and dry problem was reached recently by the eleven members of the Hoover commission, THE TRIBUNE correspondent understands. The vote of the commission was six to five, according to this information. Two or perhaps three of the commission members, outstanding legal authorities in the United States, stressed the means by which a national constitutional convention may be called. Their research delved into records as far back as 1899.

Are Old Petitions Valid?

The research, which required weeks of effort, brought to light the fact that twenty-nine states have already petitioned congress for a constitutional convention. Whether these old petitions are still valid is a question. It developed further that the bugaboo "three-fourths" was not involved in the calling of such a congress, according to the provisions of article V. of the United States constitution.

According to this article, all that is required is the application of two-thirds of the state legislatures—thirty-two states.

With twenty-nine states already listed as petitioners years ago for a national constitutional convention, only three more legislative applications are required, and these, it is hinted, may be procured from among New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Maryland. These are known as wet states. Some of the old petitioners are dry states and some of them provided in petitions for the direct election of senators that the convention might pass on such other amendments as may come before it.

Congress May Have to Act.

Experts on constitutional law here have expressed no opinion on whether the petitions of the twenty-nine appealing states, submitted between 1899 and 1911, are still binding, but it is believed that the Hoover commission is more or less convinced that the statute of limitations has no nullifying effect, as, for instance, in virtually all other legal projects or disputes. If this is the case, congress must consent to a national convention provided three or more states which have not already joined the almost forgotten movement, vote for the convention.

Outwardly the commission, as represented by its spokesman, Chairman George W. Wickersham, has given no indication of the reported plans for a recommendation for a convention to President Hoover. Mr. Wickersham last Saturday branded the widespread rumors purporting to forecast the pending suggestions of the commission as "purely conjectural."

Reports and Rumors Grow.

These reports and rumors grew and spread over the country. They hinted that 4 per cent beer would be legalized. Everywhere filtered stories of refittings of breweries. From the same sources flowed reports that the administration was not entirely unsympathetic to the reopening of beer industries, which might now, in this period of depression, put thousands of men to work. However, official confirmation was lacking, and the rumors gradually calmed.

In a statement to newspapermen, Mr. Wickersham declared the time was not ripe for publication of the commission's plan. There were certain phases of the inquiry yet to be investigated, and the report, he said, would be submitted to the President when completed.

Limit Inquiry to Dry Problem.

It has become known, however, that the split in the commission occurred two months or longer ago and that the six members, a majority, forced the abandonment of other issues and inquiries the commission had been concerned with and compelled concentration on the liquor question. Roscoe Pound of the Harvard law school, Judge Kenneth MacIntosh, and Judge W. S. Kenyon are said to be among

AN ARMISTICE IN THE FACE OF THE COMMON ENEMY

"Make New Plea for Charity Game"—Getz to Northwestern

NORTHWESTERN university athletic authorities are swamped by requests for tickets to the Northwestern-Notre Dame football game to be played on Nov. 22.

Max Hayford, ticket manager at Northwestern, last night said:

"The call for Northwestern-Notre Dame tickets is greater than any ticket demand ever experienced at N. U. Forty-eight thousand tickets, capacity of Dyche stadium, have been sold. Ten thousand dollars already has been returned to disappointed applicants. Before the game is played it is certain that we will have returned many thousands of dollars."

More than $120,000 has been banked by the athletic authorities—all of it paid in for Northwestern-Notre Dame tickets.

"We could sell 50,000 more tickets if we had them," Hayford said last night.

Tug Wilson, athletic director, said last night that the unprecedented call for Northwestern-Notre Dame tickets was enough "to drive a man crazy." "I don't know how I'm going to escape alive from the army of friends who forgot to make their applications early in the season and expect me to find tickets for them now," Wilson said.

URGE SECTIONAL GAMES.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Charity football games between teams from the same section of the country are more to be desired than games of a national character, leaders in President Hoover's campaign for the relief of the unemployed agreed today in discussing efforts to arrange charity games throughout the country.

Heads of the unemployment commissions in the various sections of the country were advised today to strive to arrange sectional games rather than "national" contests in the belief that greater interest would be aroused by the sectional games because of the local rivalry involved.

GEORGE F. GETZ, chairman of Gov. Emmerson's state unemployment commission, and as such familiar with the city's needs for funds to care for Chicago's unfortunates, last night sent the following wire to President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern:

"I am told that Northwestern is being forced to turn back thousands of dollars sent with applications for tickets to the Northwestern-Notre Dame game.

"Every dollar that is returned would go to relieve the suffering of Chicago's unemployed if the game were played on Soldiers' field.

"All Chicago was thrilled by Northwestern's plan to transfer the game from Dyche stadium to Soldiers' field and turn over to charity the receipts over the amount obtainable from ticket sale at Dyche stadium. That would have meant at least $150,000 for charity.

"Chicagoans were distressed when the faculty athletic committee of the Big Ten refused to sanction the change in the playing site and declined to move the site of a game 16 miles in order that $150,000 might go toward the alleviation of the suffering of thousands of people.

"There is no comparison between the suggestion of postseason games and the transfer of the Northwestern-Notre Dame game from one field to another. Nor is there any taint of commercialism in a plan solely designed to help a city's poor.

"And so, President Scott, as the head of a great university, I am asking you personally to arrange that the conference committee be asked again to permit the transfer.

"I cannot believe that in the light of present conditions the Big Ten committee would refuse your request.

"I well appreciate the shortness in time in which to make the necessary arrangements. But the south park board has offered the use of Soldiers' field; Notre Dame has declared its willingness to have the change made and I am sure that prompt action on your part will enable the change to be made and ensure the raising of $150,000 which will help solve the distressing problem so vital to all of us.

"I am sending a copy of this telegram to the presidents of the Western conference universities.

"GEORGE F. GETZ,
General Chairman Gov. Emmerson Commission on Unemployment and Relief."

3 Elephants Stampede; 50 Hurt in London

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Fifty persons were injured today when three enraged elephants bolted from the lord mayor's procession and charged into a crowd outside of King's college along the embankment of the Thames. The beasts stampeded after seeing a life sized effigy of a lion carried by students.

One elephant lumbered into the crowd, which at this point stood 20 deep, upon spying what it thought was one of its natural enemies of the jungle. Two other beasts followed. The crowd fell headlong through the open college gates in the effort to escape the trumpeting elephants.

Beat Beasts Into Submission.

Many women fainted as the elephants advanced and were trampled on by the struggling mass of humanity, which fought its way into the college grounds. Frightened horses of policemen ran away. Drivers of the elephants, aided by police, prodded and beat the animals into submission. It was stated tonight that four men, two women and a boy were seriously injured, and are in a hospital.

This incident marred the glittering procession in which Sir William Phene Neal rode to take the oath of fealty as the lord mayor of London before the king's judges at the law courts.

The lord mayor's show, preserving customs and rituals for hundreds of years, has marked the inauguration of the new head of London's "square mile" for centuries. Today's parade through the sand strewn streets from Guildhall in "the city" to the courts in the Strand revived the ancient custom.

1,000,000 Jam the Streets.

The new lord mayor, who will hold office for a year, was escorted to the chamber to take his oath behind streams of scarleted, gold braided and cockaded guildmen, office holders, and liveried retainers. A million Londoners jammed the streets for miles while the trains brought more from the provinces to see one of the best shows of pomp staged by the city in rigid observance of the medieval tradition.

The lord mayor's processions have taken on more and more splendor during the last centuries, and today's was the greatest. "Dick Whittington," thrice lord mayor of London, in scarlet tights, carried a knapsack in the same parade with royal guardsmen in flashing uniforms and buskins, and Highlanders in kilts. Great trucks pulled floats representing the empire and its products. Four elephants with golden head plates carried a reproduction of a Hindu temple resting on richly decorated trappings a short distance behind the enormous Canadian float, guarded by "mounties" wearing western sombreros.

"Mounties" Lead Parade.

The procession was led by the mounted police, followed by the city of London yeomanry, a battary, and other pieces of artillery. City organizations led the historical pageant showing the development of St. Bartholomew's hospital since 1189. Costumes nearly 1,000 years old were used by the marchers. Immediately behind were the companies of old silverware drawers, car men, wheelwrights, lorimers, paviors, and others.

Next came the pageant of empire productions interspersed with a mounted band of horse guards, companies of kilted Scots guards, Cold-

BUY YOUR NORMAL REQUIREMENTS NOW!

Someone has said that what this country needs is a good seven cent nickel. That's easy, we have it. The post-war deflation has added 40 cents to the purchasing power of the dollar. That's putting an extra two cents onto the nickel. But it isn't the nickel that's ailing. We are faced with these conditions because a number of people have put the cart before the horse. They say that they have cut their spending because times are hard. But they have created these very conditions of which they complain by the practice of their parsimony.

There are bargains at the stores. Money hasn't been able to buy more in years. But there is unemployment. If the articles now offered for sale are bought, the stores will have to order more. That will put people to work. The need of the day is return to normal by those who haven't reason to be otherwise. A mere resumption of normal buying by those whose incomes are the same as they were will steady business and help employment. BUY NOW TO MEET YOUR NORMAL NEEDS!

BROKER MAKES NONSTOP FLIGHT OF 3,189 MILES

Links N. Y., Canal in 24 Hours.

BALBOA, Nov. 10.—The first solo nonstop flight from New York to the Panama canal was successfully completed at 2:45 p. m. today when Capt. Roy W. Ammel, Chicago broker, landed his Blue Flash at France field 24 hours and 35 minutes after leaving the Floyd Bennett airport at Brooklyn at 3:10 p. m. yesterday. This was his third nonstop flight from continental United States to the canal, but the others started at Miami, Fla.

Shortly after his arrival Capt. Ammel announced that he will attempt a nonstop flight to Chicago after he has rested three or four days here.

Makes Rough Landing.

When he was first sighted from France field today the Blue Flash, with broad bright yellow wings and a deep blue body, was cruising easily over Limon Bay and looked like a huge flamingo. The plane circled high over the field and at 2:45 made a rough landing due to slight damage of the landing gear when he took off at Brooklyn yesterday.

Capt. Ammel estimated the total flying distance at 3,189 miles, and said he flew a great deal of the time against a head wind, with poor visability much of the way. He had 140 gallons of gasoline left when he arrived, which was sufficient for five hours of additional flying. Capt. Ammel explained that he was warned of bad weather when he left Brooklyn yesterday, and the warning was a correct one, especially of a bad storm over the Carribean, which drove him 200 miles north of the point he expected to strike in Nicaragua. The airline route from New York to Panama is about 2,270 miles.

Lights Out; Flies in Darkness.

From Brooklyn yesterday Capt. Ammel flew to Washington, then followed the beacons on the air mail route to Atlanta and Miami, where he cut across the ocean to Cuba.

"I was flying south of Washington when the sun set, and after a brief twilight darkness came," he said. "I then discovered my lights were not working, probably due to the failure to charge my battery. I read the instrument board with a pocket flash and flew all night in darkness."

The Atlanta airport seemed to be flashing a signal to land, which Capt. Ammel could not understand, unless it was a further warning of bad weather. Miami was blazing with lights when he pushed into the dark over the sea, flying towards Cuba.

Says It Was Lonesome.

Cuba slept while the Blue Flash soared over the island from Matanzas to the Isle of Pines, where Ammel said he was glad to see the sun again. Then began his longest water hop over the Caribbean.

"Gee, it seemed lonesome," said Capt. Ammel.

Then he encountered threatening clouds and a storm, and although he aimed to hit at Cape Gracias a Dias, when finally he sighted land he was 200 miles north of that point. Then with a low ceiling and poor visibility, he followed the coast of Puerto Cabezas.

Nearly Falls Asleep.

"I did not get sleepy in the night, but when I was warmed by the sun and perhaps made drowsy by the fumes of gas and oil in the cockpit I could hardly keep my eyes open," Capt. Ammell said. "Then I began to sing to try to keep awake. Finally I lifted the seat until my head stuck above the windshield, and after an hour in the 140 mile gale my head cleared and I began to try to see where I was at. My eyes seemed to go back on me, but finally I got down where I could see the tops of the palm trees outline the coast."

Bucking a wind most of the distance, Ammel flew from an altitude of 4,000 feet to skimming the tops of the palm trees. When he got near Colon things looked familiar, as he was stationed at France field in 1918 before going to Peru as the first American instructor of flying for the Legula government.

Says He's Not Tired.

At the end of the flight, Capt. Ammel said he was not very tired and no longer sleepy. He refused food, as he had three of the six sandwiches he took along left. In addition to the sandwiches he carried a thermos bottle of chicken broth, one of cold tomato juice, and one of coffee. He said he had not remembered meal time and ate when he thought of it.

The greatest hardship was the leather flying suit with the fur collar in which he left Brooklyn in near zero weather.

"I thought it would smother me before I got it off," he said, "and it was so crowded in the cockpit that it took hours to get out of the suit."

When correspondents asked what he might be advertising and asked the object of the flight, Capt. Ammel replied:

"It has not any object. I just wanted to come to Panama. I used to live here, you know."

DO-X FLYER'S STORY

BY WADE WERNER.

[Correspondent for the Associated Press, who made the flight aboard the DO-X from Amsterdam to Calshot today on the second leg of the airplane's flight to the United States.]

[Copyright: 1930: By the Associated Press.]

CALSHOT, England, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The "Flying Hotel DO-X" hoisted itself by its own bootstraps off the Zuider Zee today for a running jump across nearly 400 miles of North sea and English channel and set itself down here smoothly at the end of the second stretch of its trans-Atlantic flight to New York.

Fifteen men in her crew, 21 passengers, a black cat and Hans, the canary, shared the first sea-going trip this 50-ton giant has made since she flew to Amsterdam from Altenrhein, Switzerland, where she was hatched.

It was an epochal trip, from the time when the big ship flirted the last of Holland's sea from its tail only to drop back on the water for a minute, while some minor engine repairs were made. Repairs made, the ship took off again for Calshot.

Passengers Pace the Deck.

Flying across the open water, the scenery at first inspiring, quickly got monotonous. There were miles of English channel to starboard and only a hazy outline of continental coast to port. The passengers took to pacing the decks as though on an ordinary steamer.

Up forward from where the correspondent sat, within a birdseed's throw from the cage of Hans, the American bar began to function early. The feature of life on the upper decks seemed to be a noise like a boiler factory, and the interior of the tremendous wings looked like the nightmare of a skyscraper steel worker.

An International Venture.

All in all this was an international venture. Among the passengers, three of whom were women, were eight Germans, six Hollanders, three Americans, two Italians, one English woman, and one Jugo-Slav. In the crew were Germans, Swiss, and Americans, and the O-X itself, built by Germans in Switzerland, burned American gasoline in American motors.

The black cat was tied to a porthole to prevent hostilities with the canary, and walked the deck with the rest of the ship's company.

Up forward at the dual controls were Clarence "Dutch" Schildhauer, an American, who used to be a destroyer officer sniping U-boats in the channel, and Norst Merz, who piloted German seaplanes during the war.

12 "Babies" Hum Sweetly.

In the midst of the deafening racket from the 12 engines was Harvey Brewton, the American engineer, who sent downword from time to time that his 12 water cooled "babies" were humming sweet as a breakfast grapefruit. Brewton is a Florida boy. His aid, Joe Gody, who comes from Mount Vernon, N. Y., spent a lot of time by and large, asking him whether he had forgotten the red flannel underwear he had said he was going to buy in Amsterdam.

But the big ship roared along with less vibration than a railroad train. From the cabin portholes the outboard engines on either side looked like twin silver locomotives racing along the main line of the ship. They were half a block away from the cabin windows, but the ship's company soon got accustomed to their roar.

Dornier Plans Bigger Planes.

While the Belgian coast was passing in review, Dr. Claude Dornier, the inventor and builder of this big plane, seemed to be restless. He strolled up and down the 150 foot passenger deck for a while and he chuckled at the enthusiasm the spacious quarters evoked.

"O, it's all right for a starter," he said. "But give us five or six years and we'll have these ships so they'll really mean something to world commerce."

Along about the halfway mark there arose an interesting question of ethics. Newspaper correspondents aboard were getting sleepy, but the prospect of taking a nap created a nice distinction: would they be sleeping on the job, or would it be just taking an hour off for lunch? They compromised and took a nap.

English Crowds Mob Ship.

The coast of England rose out of the haze ahead and the ship circled over Southampton. The passengers could see the crowds waiting for their first glimpse of the biggest seaplane in the world, and soon the DO-X bounced down to a perfect landing in the harbor at Calshot.

The crowd poured toward the flying boat, officials of the air ministry and the German embassy in the lead. Dr. Dornier shook hands with all of them, the crew jerked on their leather coats and began crooning to their engines.

Already they were looking forward to the next hop to Bordeaux on Thursday, whence the DO-X will head for Lisbon, then out across the ocean for the Azores and the United States.

The DO-X will be visited tomorrow by many British notables, and possibly the prince of Wales.

DELIVER GOODS, HOOVER'S ADVICE TO ADVERTISERS

Success Dependent Upon Probity, He Says.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The vital importance of truth in advertising if it is to be successful was stressed tonight by President Hoover in an address delivered at the annual banquet of the Association of National Advertisers. The President asserted that the place of advertising in the American economic system is dependent upon the ability of the advertiser to deliver the goods and maintain the confidence of consumers of his products.

"The very importance of the position which advertising has risen to occupy in the economic system is in direct proportion to the ability of the people to depend upon the probity of the statements you present," the President told the representatives of 300 of the biggest buyers of advertising space in the country. "The advertising executive and the medium through which he advertises must see to it that the desire you create is satisfied by the article recommended."

Discuss Aids to Unemployment.

The banquet tonight culminated a day during which advertising executives discussed ways and means of aiding the government in solving the national unemployment problem. Edward L. Bernays, member of the President's emergency committee for employment, personally appeared before the convention delegates and urged them "to use all their influence and leadership to handle the problems of their communities." He suggested the use of slogans in their national advertising space, such as "Give a job to a worker," or "Fight unemployment."

During the day it was announced that national advertisers will expend $1,400,000,000 during 1931.

The President confined his remarks strictly to advertising, concluding with a word of praise for the advertising profession, which he said elected to police its own business rather than asking the government to interfere.

Industrial Song of Beguilement.

"Advertising is one of the vital organs of our entire economic and social system," the President said, "It certainly is the vocal organ by which industry sings its songs of beguilement. The purpose of advertising is to create desire, and from the torments of desire there at once emerges additional demand and from demand you pull upon increasing production and distribution.

"By the stimulants of advertising which you administer you have stirred the lethargy of the old law of supply and demand until you have transformed cottage industries into mass production.

"You also contribute to hurry up the general use of every discovery in science and every invention in industry. It probably required a thousand years to spread the knowledge and application of that great human invention the wheeled cart, and it has taken you only 20 years to make the automobile the universal tool of man. Moreover, your constant exploitation of every improvement in every article and service spreads a restless pillow for every competitor and drives the producer to feverish exertions in new invention, new service, and still more improvement. Incidentally, you make possible the vast distribution of information, of good cheer, and tribulation which comes with the morning paper, the periodical, and the radio.

"At one time advertising was perhaps looked upon as an intrusion, a clamor to the credulous. But your subtlety and beguiling methods have long since overcome this resentment. From all of which the public has ceased to deny the usefulness of advertising and has come to include you in the things we bear in life."

In conclusion President Hoover said that the good will of the public toward the producer, the goods or the service "is the essential of sound advertising —for no business succeeds upon the sale of an article once."

"And to maintain this confidence of the public," he added, "you and the mediums which you patronize have an interest that others do not violate confidence and thereby discredit the whole of advertising."

MAD ELEPHANTS STAMPEDE; FIFTY HURT IN LONDON

stream grenadiers, and Irish and Welsh guards in scarlet and gold braided tunics wearing white, red, green, and black plumes on their busbies.

The various city officers followed and then came the aldermen in open automobiles. One dignified city father was sound asleep on the shoulder of a discomfited colleague, his plumed hat askew.

The chief feature of the procession was the lord mayor's gilded coach, driven by a coachman in a burst of brilliant braid, piping, and plumes. The mayor, dressed in the robes of state, had the heavy chain of office resting on his shoulders.

Covered Wagon Is Feature.

A covered wagon, used by British pioneers in the United States 100 years ago, attracted great attention. The relic was escorted by a band of Indians. Other American touches included a figure of Benjamin Franklin and reminders of the historic Mayflower.

The ceremony started at noon and lasted three hours. Bells tolled for three hours tonight in honor of the occasion. The lord mayor's banquet was another brilliant affair. The dinner, itself, included the renowned turtle soup and baron of beef.

Prime Minister MacDonald, speaking at the banquet, voiced an appeal for disarmament, declaring that the world has still much to learn from the world war. His address was broadcast to the United States.

8 PASSENGERS INJURED AS "L" TRAINS COLLIDE

Eight persons were cut by flying glass and bruised last night in a rear end collision on the Metropolitan elevated railroad when a Garfield Park train, which had halted at the Halsted street station, was struck by a westbound train. The injured:

Peter Marando, Victoria hotel.
Mrs. Libbie Brown, 3404 West Polk street.
George Martin, 3118 Walnut street.
Fannie McLaughlin, 7770 Augusta street.
Rose Gates, also 7770 Augusta street.
Frank Hildebrant, 1216 South 59th court, Cicero.

Fire started on the Garfield Park train, but was extinguished with little damage. None of the members of the train crews was injured. The injured passengers were treated at the Garfield Park and county hospitals.

2,000 Taxpayers Appear to Protest 1929 Assessments

Two thousand taxpayers appeared in the rooms of the board of review yesterday to file complaints on their 1929 real estate assessments. They were given questionnaires to fill out, an innovation in the handling of complaints by the review board. Nov. 21 is the deadline for filing complaints, the reviewers said. The first public hearing will be held Nov. 24

CHARGE CAPONE GUNS DECIDED CONGRESS RACE

Kunz Asks Quiz Into Granata Victory.

Congressional investigation of a charge that Scarface Al Capone, with gangsters and guns, elected one of his proteges to congress loomed last night as the result of charges made by Congressman Stanley Kunz of the 8th Illinois district.

Kunz, a Democrat, charged that his defeat by Peter C. Granata, shown by the unofficial returns to have been elected by a plurality of 1,414 votes, was engineered by Capone.

"I believed, Capone anticipates that, in case of trouble with the government, it will relieve the situation if he has a representative in congress to take his part," Kunz declared. Granata said the charges were ridiculous and called attention to Kunz' record.

Jest About Capone Power.

With the Republican control of congress hanging in the balance, and with every vote in the Republican ranks of paramount importance, each congressman stands in a position of unusual power, it was pointed out. Politicians discussing the Kunz charges last night were jesting about the possibility of Capone holding the balance of power in congress.

Congressman Kunz said he was gathering evidence in affidavit form through the six wards in his district, which is located on the west side of Chicago and includes part of the Bloody 20th ward bossed by Morris Eller, and that he would present a petition to congress formally demanding an investigation.

Meanwhile, as soon as the canvass is completed, and the proclamation of the result is made, Kunz will ask the federal court to impound the ballots and tally sheets, preserving them for the congressional committee.

Democrats Win in District.

The Democratic ticket swept the entire district, Kunz said, and he asserted that on the basis of straight Democratic tickets voted he should have won by about 10,000 votes.

"Granata has been going around telling people that he 'took me as Grant took Richmond,'" the congressman said. "But my friends tell me that there were Capone gangsters, four or five to every precinct, using streets and gunplay where money could not buy them votes. I have election officials who will make affidavit that they were coerced by hoodlums with guns into marking Granata votes on straight Democratic tickets.

Cite Case in One Precinct.

"There is one Italian precinct where friends of mine are ready to prove that at least 220 straight Democratic tickets were voted. My vote there was 11. On some of these ballots the original vote is in black pencil, with a later mark for Granata in indelible pencil.

"I am getting affidavits from persons who will not be afraid to come forward and testify in federal court to the unbelievable things that went on in the Eighth district Tuesday. There were men from other parts of the city, registered as poll watchers, who pressed guns to the backs of Negro election officers and warned that so many Granata votes were voted in that precinct and they had better be careful or be hurt.'

"In one precinct in the 32d ward there are still 80 ballots missing.' In another precinct 143 ballots were found, not in the ballot box but in a cardboard box under a table, all Democratic ballots, but with Granata votes marked in different handwriting."

Charges Humorous, Granata Says.

"The charges made by Congressman Kunz are both humorous and ridiculous," said Granata last night. "The history of my campaign is an open book. My character and integrity cannot and shall not be assassinated by the mad charges of a misrepresentative whose greatest obstacle in the election was his own notorious character. Investigate his criminal record, which I have been too fair to capitalize on, and you will understand. The congressional office was one of the few offices where the people chose the candidate and ignored the straight Democratic circle, voting for the individual and not the party.

"The surprise of the election and the immediate cause of Kunz's fit of anger was the protection of the polls from the customary wholesale purchase of votes after closing by the fuming old fellow."

Served as Deputy Coroner.

Granata has been a precinct captain in the 20th ward under Morris Eller. He served as a deputy coroner under Coroner Oscar Wolff, and later became office manager in the city prosecutor's office, under the Thompson administration.

Kunz was indicted last January, with his son, on charges that they had collected a bribe of $400 from Walter Trochowski under a promise of helping Trochowski's brother obtain an appointment to the police department. Both Kunz and his son were acquitted. They were also acquitted on similar charges tried in 1919. Last Oct. 15 a warrant charging Kunz with having taken $800 from a woman on a promise to bring her mother and two sisters from Budapest was dismissed after the woman told Judge John H. Lyle that Kunz had repaid the money.

PARSONS, DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS CANDIDATE, WINS CLOSE CONTEST

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Official returns received from the county clerks of the Twenty-fourth congressional district, as compiled in the office of the secretary of state, indicate that Claude V. Parsons of Golconda, Democratic candidate for congress, has been elected for both the long and short term, defeating James V. Heiflinger, Republican of Fairfield. According to the figures returned to the secretary, Parsons wins the long term by a plurality of 29; the short term by 197.

The vote was:

	Long term.	Short term.
Parsons	27,325	26,929
Heiflinger	27,296	26,732

Misreading of a blurred figure in the returns was responsible for a report to the effect that the compilation had shown a change in the result reported by the clerks. This was denied when the figures were verified. Owing to the narrow margin, it is probable there will be a contest, but no notice to this effect has been received in Springfield. No meeting of the canvassing board has yet been held.

GROSS FRAUDS AT POLLS CHARGED BY JUDGE OLSON

Swanson Names Two to Conduct Quiz.

Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court, shown by the police returns to have been defeated in his campaign for reelection, yesterday called upon State's Attorney Swanson and made charges that gross frauds had been committed in the Nov. 4 election.

Later the two officials held a conference in Judge Olson's chambers. State's Attorney Swanson then announced that he had assigned First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup and Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks to investigate the Olson charges.

Swanson Promises Inquiry.

Both Olson and Swanson declined to comment on the specific nature of the former's charges, but the prosecutor said they would be fully investigated. Chief Justice Olson insists that an honest count of the ballots will show he was a winner over John J. Sonsteby, who was shown elected by 23,000 majority in the unofficial returns.

The official canvass of the votes was started yesterday at the offices of the election commissioners, under the direction of Chief Clerk John S. Rusch and County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. A total of 514 precincts was canvassed by the twenty-five teams at work. The work began with the first 25 wards in the city, and one ward, the Thirteenth, with 24 precincts, was completed. No totals were announced, however, so that a comparison with the police returns was not possible.

Will Finish in Ten Days.

Mr. Rusch said he expected the canvass would be completed within 10 days. Particular attention was being paid to the Olson-Sonsteby count, in view of Judge Olson's charges.

"The canvass doesn't mean a thing so far as I'm concerned," Judge Olson said. "The stealing was done in the precincts, and the tally sheets will show only the report of the judges and clerks of election. I'm interested in what the ballots will show. I'm not interested in the tracks of the bear. I want the bear."

Although he refused to go farther, Judge Olson indicated that he would seek a recount of the ballots. Watchers in the judge's employ said that errors had been made in the police count, and that the canvass probably would show that Mr. Sonsteby was the winner by 13,000 to 15,000 votes.

Cool Spell Due

Summerlike weather continued yesterday, a maximum temperature of 60 degrees being recorded in the early afternoon and again, as on Sunday, sending thousands of persons into the outdoors.

However, the Indian summer spell is probably over, according to the weather bureau, which last night predicted cooler temperatures tonight and tomorrow. Winds from the west and cloudy skies are expected to lower the mercury to nearer the normal temperature for this time of year. This would mean readings around 50 degrees.

Lincoln park, and other parks, particularly the smaller ones, were crowded yesterday. Golf courses, as on Sunday, recorded an unusual November patronage.

TRUCK DRIVER BURNS TO DEATH IN GARAGE FIRE

An unidentified man, about 35 years old, an employé of the Danville Motor Truck company, was burned to death last night in a fire which swept the South Water Market garage, 1367 Miller street, in the Ghetto district. His body was found under a charred motor truck which he had driven from Danville with a load of produce an hour before.

Damage of $25,000 was done by the blaze. Twenty-five automobiles, including several trucks, were destroyed and the garage, a one story structure stretching from Miller to Morgan streets, was almost leveled. Smoke and sparks spread to adjoining buildings, but the fire was confined to the garage.

A 4-11 alarm was sounded because of the fire hazards associated with the district. For the most part the houses are frame, and tenanted by colored families. Several families were routed but otherwise undisturbed.

NAVY ORDERS SIX DESTROYERS TO SCRAP HEAP

All Saw Service in the World War.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Six more destroyers were ordered stricken from the navy list today as part of the navy department's program to bring the fleet within the limitations prescribed by the London naval treaty.

DEMOCRATS MAY PICK CHICAGO FOR 1932 CONVENTION

Hot Springs Roundup Is Busy with Future.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Prospects that Chicago will land the Democratic national convention of 1932 formed the pitch of developments here today as Cook county Democratic chieftains swarmed in. Reports were circulated in the steam-rooms that John J. Raskob, national chairman, and other eastern party leaders are talking of holding the national conclave two years hence at the west side Stadium, to utilize the political capital in the landslide last Tuesday when rock ribbed Illinois went Democratic by about 700,000.

Eastern Democratic leaders are said to hold pronounced views that the drive for Illinois should be made the key to Democratic strategy in the northern states in the Presidential campaign of 1932, as Ohio was in 1916. The vote for James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic senator elect, on a dripping wet platform is regarded as the most decisive blow thus far struck at national prohibition, which bids fair to be the paramount issue next campaign.

Watch State Repealer.

If the legislature next winter follows the mandate of the statewide referendum and repeals the state search and seizure act Illinois will be more than ever a key state in the battle over the national liquor issue.

The view of the Democrats is that the position would be consolidated by picking Chicago as the convention city, and the party and the issue would be strengthened in Indiana, Wisconsin, which has already repealed its state prohibition act; Michigan, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska and the rest of the western areas where the Democrats last week either won or cut down old Republican majorities.

The streets and hotel lobbies here now look as if a Cook county convention is in progress. More than 250 Democrats are figured to be at the spa and the hilltops are hidden in a fog of politics. Tonight the executive committee and the winning Cook county candidates are to map out a plan of procedure for the distribution of the 2,000 and more new jobs now in the sack.

Mayoralty politics is in the air, despite the "shush, shush" of some candidates, who say the early buds are prone to be nipped by the frost. Booms for A. J. Cermak, county chairman; Ald. John Clark, and Michael Igoe are in the bathroom conversation, punctuated by resounding slaps as the rubbers knead the politicians, lean ones and stylish stouts.

In the early afternoon a caucus formed down the street in front of a bathhouse. It looked like a flag raising, but it was a group hoisting a mayoralty boom for Clayton Smith, county recorder. Corner Herman N. Bundesen is expected tomorrow with a boom in his suitcase.

So far all has been chatter on the job distribution. A bushel or so of wires came in recommending Peter M. Brady of the 19th ward, an undertaker, for city clerk in the city primaries in February.

Charles J. Peters, who has been chief deputy sheriff for more than 30 years, is likely to be retained by Sheriff-elect Meyering. Mr. Meyering also is trying to devise some way of picking jailers by competitive examination. These jobs having been one source of trouble with other sheriffs.

Talk Sanitary President.

Seven of the nine members of the next sanitary board are on the scene. Ross A. Woodhull is absent, and Howard Elmore is a Republican. A boom for Alderman Dennis A. Horan, trustee elect, for president Dec. 1, was squelched by Denny himself, who said he does not want the job. Mr. Woodhull is said to be favored by four of the eight Democrats who will sit on the next board. The opposition is saying he has been "high hatting" ordinary Democrats. Ald. Tom J. Bowler and Paul V. Collanni are being boomed by others. But the expectation is that two million words will be spilled in conversation before the pick is made.

Among today's arrivals were Ald. Frank Landmesser, E. J. Kelly, Tom Byrne, John Touhy, James Whalen, Edward J. Barrett, state treasurer elect; George Seiff, clerk elect of the Criminal court, and Leonard W. Schuetz, Democratic congressman elect from the 7th, the famous "leaky trunk" district."

50 HUNGRY PATRONS JEER AS DRY AGENTS RAID NEW YORK CAFE

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—While fifty or more men and women who had been driven from their meals stood on the sidewalk and jeered, agents of Andrew McCampbell, prohibition administrator, walked from Duffy's restaurant in West 44th street and placed sixty-five bottles in an automobile.

The agents had raided the restaurant, occupied until recently by Keen's famous chop house, and ordered the guests, all patrons of Bill Duffy, fight manager of Primo Carnera, to pay their checks and get out.

The agents, who said they found the bottles behind a bar in the rear, arrested Patrick Smith, described as manager; John Hogan, bartender; and Fred Schultz, waiter.

Deserted by His Wife 34 Years Ago; Asks Divorce

After 34 years Oscar C. Hessler, 930 Fletcher street, a steward at the Chicago club, has decided his wife, Hedwig, is not going to return and live with him. Hessler and his wife, now living in Germany, were married on March 1, 1895. A year later his wife left him. Yesterday, through his attorney, Eugene L. McGarry, Hessler filed suit for divorce on grounds of desertion.

DISPUTE ON JUDGE TO TRY FORMER CANAL OFFICIALS

Prosecutor Is Wary on Selection.

First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup told Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court yesterday that he does not want to be the victim of a confidence game in the selection of a judge to try the so-called sanitary district cases against Timothy J. Crowe and seventeen other former trustees and officials of the district.

It was pointed out that, should some judge rule that the indictments are improperly drawn or do not correspond with the necessary legal requirements, the state would be helpless to prosecute. It also was emphasized that the indictments were returned early in the summer, just before the cases would have been outlawed by the statute of limitations.

New indictments, lawyers said, cannot now be obtained if the present ones are quashed, because of the statute of limitations.

Unable to Agree on Judge.

The attorneys for the defense and the prosecution reported to Judge McGoorty yesterday that they had been unable to agree on a trial judge. The defense attorneys asked that the case be assigned in regular order as any other case would be assigned, but Prosecutor Northup objected and asked for a continuance of a week. He said with another week the attorneys might be able to agree. The judge allowed the additional week over the protest of the defense.

"We don't want to be placed in the position of agreeing on a judge," said Attorneys John L. McInerney and Albert Fink. "We want the case assigned by this court the same as any other case would be assigned. The last time I met with Mr. Northup I informed him I didn't want to hold any further conferences; that my clients are anxious to have this indictment disposed of. It has been pending a long time and it is absolutely useless to continue the conferences."

"There is much to our plea for an agreement," said Prosecutor Northup. "The defense is in possession of enough changes of venue to exclude half the sitting judges. It is up to the state to be careful as to the assignment of this case. If this case is assigned hurriedly it would be like taking a leap in the dark.

Judge McGoorty indicated that if the attorneys do not agree on a judge by next Monday he will make an arbitrarily assignment as provided by the rules of court.

"SHOCKING EVENING" HIS LAST REMARK IN ELECTRICAL CHAIR

Columbus, O., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Two men died in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary tonight. Charles Cramer, 31, Hamilton, O., slayer, was the first to die. He was followed at 7:45 by Bert Walker, Akron.

Cramer's face was immobile as the guards placed the hood and stepped back. He was convicted of the murder of Robert Clemons, 68, wealthy Brown county farmer, during an attempted robbery.

Walker, killer of Harland Manes, Akron policeman, walked directly to the chair and as he sat down said:

DOWDLES DENY GUILT

The Dowdle brothers, Thomas P., Raymond R. and John J., contractors, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Federal Judge Lindley yesterday on charges of trying to evade payment of more than $200,000 in taxes. The concern is alleged to have received contracts totaling almost $4,000,000 during the regime of Timothy J. Crowe as president of the sanitary district and to have had an income of more than $1,000,000 for 1926, 1927 and 1928. The brothers are also charged with conspiracy to evade payment of taxes, and Thomas and Raymond are charged with perjury in their returns. The case was continued, with leave to bring to trial on five days' notice.

LAW ENFORCERS SEEK A REMEDY FOR BAIL EVILS

The real estate bail bond for arrested gangsters was attacked yesterday by Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court and Municipal Judge John H. Lyle as nine notorious hoodlums were subjected to the annoyance of court procedure. It was blue Monday for public enemies.

As the result of a conference with Assistant State's Attorney A. C. De Witt, head of the Criminal court bond department, Judge McGoorty announced that he would instruct the December grand jury to make a full inquiry into the bail situation with a view to improving the present system, which is admittedly faulty, especially in the Municipal court.

The feasibility of trying a test case which would put up to the state Supreme court the legality of a requirement that property clear of incumbrances be scheduled in all criminal cases was discussed by the judge and prosecutor.

Forfeitures Cut, He Says.

"Bond forfeitures have been reduced in the Criminal court, because in all serious cases the state's attorney has arbitrarily demanded that clear property be scheduled," said Mr. De Witt. "If the law would make such bonds necessary in all cases, the bond forfeiture problem would be virtually solved.

"We have had only 39 bond forfeitures in the last year in the Criminal court, a total of $250,000, in cases where the defendant has not been subsequently arrested. In the Municipal court, where bonds are often accepted in haphazard fashion, the figures are undoubtedly much larger."

"The bond forfeiture situation is the result of a faulty system," declared the judge. "The grand jury may have recommendations to make for the betterment of this system and the law should be changed so that forfeited bonds may readily be collected by the state."

Lyle Orders Records.

Acting independently of the chief justice of the Criminal court, Judge Lyle directed an inquiry into the supplying of bonds in criminal cases by the Grand Central Surety company of New York, which has furnished bonds for many criminals, including such men as Frank Rio, Frank Nitti, and Leo Mongoven. All the records of the company were ordered brought into Judge Lyle's court next Thursday.

William Rothman, general manager of the company, appeared before the judge. Judge Lyle pointed out a suitcase full of pistols, shotguns, and a submachine gun. They had been taken to court as evidence against Terry Druggan, who had been expected to surrender in court.

Manager Is Questioned.

"Your company has been helping men who use such weapons to go free on the street," the judge said to Rothman. "I have received telegrams from a number of bonding companies pledging themselves not to furnish bonds for criminals. Why don't you do the same?"

"They may pledge themselves not to do it," said Rothman. "As a matter of fact, they take the business whenever they can get it."

"Prof. Leslie J. Thompkins of New York university," replied Rothman.

"He probably teaches cooperation with the government to his students," said the judge, "but his company doesn't follow his teachings."

"Does Al Capone own any stock in the company?" was the court's next question. Rothman answered in the negative.

"You've signed bonds for a number of hoodlums," said Judge Lyle. "I want the records of the company on all criminal bonds."

Hoodlums' Day in Court.

A brief review of what happened in court to the nine hoodlums who were required to appear to answer various charges follows:

JOSEPH CONDI. Held in jail by Judge Lyle while a wire was sent to Newark, N. J., to find if Condi was wanted on a bond jumping charge there.

IZZY ALDERMAN. Ordered extradited to New York on a robbery charge. His attorneys immediately filed a habeas corpus petition, which will be heard on Thursday. Alderman was released, meanwhile, on a $10,000 cash bond.

JAMES [JUR] SAMMONS. Jury trial on charges of being a fugitive from Baltimore in connection with a pay roll robbery set for tomorrow morning before Judge Edgar A. Jonas.

JACK GUZIK. Arraigned before Judge Jonas and vagrancy trial set for Nov. 20. Trial on income tax evasions set for tomorrow in federal court.

HARRY [LEFTY] LEWIS. Disorderly conduct charges continued to Dec. 3.

FRANK NITTO, alias NITTI. Pleaded not guilty to income tax frauds and case was set before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward for tomorrow morning.

SAM HUNT. Released on bond on disorderly conduct charge after being held in jail for night and day.

TERRY DRUGGAN. The elusive invalid, who faces a number of charges, was represented by attorneys when his income tax trial came up before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. The case was set for Dec. 8.

Dr. E. I. Sloan of the United States public health service told Judge Wilkerson that Druggan was examined in the Morrison hotel last Thursday.

"My assistant, Dr. H. M. Fogo, reported that Druggan had lain so long in a recumbent position that he would be unable to withstand the rigors of trial for three weeks more," the physician said.

Druggan has since left the hotel.

Court Is Asked for Writ to End Racketeers' Control of 2 Unions; Official Seeks Power

Aid was sought from the Superior court yesterday to regain for James (Lefty) Lynch the position of business agent for two coal teamsters' unions he said he lost by terrorism. A petition was filed asking an injunction to restrain George (Red) Barker and William (Three Fingered Jack) White, both public enemies now in jail; John Sheridan Sr., John Sheridan Jr., Marcus (Steady) Looney, and John Flynn from entering the premises of either union or interfering with the unions or their officials.

The petition was filed in the name of Lynch as business agent. Attorney Harry K. Curtis, son of Vice President Curtis, and Attorney Laurence M. Fine represent the petitioner.

Tells of Being Shot.

Lynch states in his petition that on April 15, 1928, William Clifford and Michael Reilly, both of whom have since been slain, together with four other armed men, went to his home at Brown's Lake, Wis., and shot him three times. They departed, believing him dead, the petition stated.

Soon thereafter he was warned to keep away from Chicago and the union or his children would be kidnaped and killed, Lynch charged. As a result of his fear Barker was enabled to usurp office in the unions.

While he was recovering from his wounds Sheridan Sr. came to him and told him, "It's all off now," meaning that the Barker gang had control of the union, the petition declared, and Sheridan warned Lynch to stay away or be killed.

Old Story to Police.

The facts alleged in the petition were an old story to the police, it was recalled at the detective bureau. A short history of the turbulent affairs of the coal teamsters' unions was related as follows:

Barker, who served two penitentiary sentences, was paroled early in 1928 and rejoined his old gang, in which Clifford and Reilly were prominent. The three seized control of the Midwest Garage Owners' association and then sought new fields to conquer. They decided to racketeer their way into union labor. Lynch was the first victim.

After shooting Lynch the trio went to the union headquarters and Barker asked "Where does the business agent sit?" and announced that henceforth he would sit there—and he did until six weeks ago, when Chief Justice John P. McGoorty ordered him returned to prison. With the aid of his gunmen he seized control of other unions and his "take" was said to amount to more than $50,000 a year.

Dealers Forced to Yield.

Independent coal dealers accused Barker of calling strikes at the instance of the Coal Merchants' association and that organization sought to cleanse its name by refusing further to recognize Barker as head of the coal teamsters' union. But the association had to yield because of Barker's strength, the gangster meanwhile having taken over other unions and having formed an alliance with Al Capone after the killing of Clifford and Reilly.

Recent raids on the offices of the coal teamsters' union furnished records showing the union funds had been taken to pay for the defense of Barker, Reilly, and Clifford in a murder trial and that union funds were used in the payment of $11,000 to effect Barker's release from the penitentiary on a writ of habeas corpus issued by a Peoria judge who has since died. The records showed the $11,000 was paid as a legal fee to Chauncey Jenkins in a habeas corpus case. Jenkins under Gov. Small headed the department of public welfare, the bureau having supervision of pardons, paroles, and prison matters. This was the writ annulled by Judge McGoorty in September.

Sheridan Is Sent to Jail.

In the investigation conducted by the grand jury Sheridan Jr. was sentenced to 10 days in jail because he had denied financial transactions with Barker, later established by records. Sheridan Sr. was a witness before the jury.

It was shown that Barker, White, and Looney were involved in many rackets. The state's attorney's office found an old murder charge against White that had been dismissed because of lack of evidence. The charge was reinstated and, according to the prosecutors, evidence sufficient to convict was obtained. Soon thereafter an attempt was made to kill Policeman James McBride of Bellwood, a witness against White. Claude Maddox, friend of Barker and White and associated with Capone in the booze business, was identified as one of the attempted murderers.

Feels Safe to Act.

It was explained yesterday that Lynch now feels safe in seeking to regain his former position in the unions, due to the incarceration of Barker and White. The six named by him have used the union as a means of extortion from members and from dealers, Lynch's petition alleges.

The six have levied tribute "in devious ways and by desperate methods and have gained immunity in extortion by inculcating in the victims a dread and fear of their lives and property and the lives of their families," the petition stated.

Judge Denis E. Sullivan, to whom it was assigned, found the petition lacking in certain legal essentials and suggested that it be amended. He will hear the amended petition tomorrow.

POLICE CHANGES SEEN NEED IN WAR ON CRIME

Too Many Chiefs, View of Prof. Vollmer.

Radical changes in police departments, both as to method and personnel, and in legal procedure are necessities if Chicago and other American cities are ever to solve the present crime problem, August Vollmer, professor of police administration at the University of Chicago, told members of the Woman's City club yesterday.

"No city of over five hundred thousand, with the exception of Milwaukee, keeps one police chief for more than two years," the former Berkeley, Cal., police chief said. "New York spends sixty million dollars a year on its police department and in the last five years has had four chiefs.

Cites Milwaukee as Example.

"Chicago has had four chiefs in five years. How long would a business conducted in this manner prosper? Milwaukee, which has one of the cleanest and most capable departments in the country and practically no crime problem, has had two chiefs in fifty years. The connection is obvious between a clean department and the method of administration."

Mr. Vollmer stressed the fact that each new chief tries to develop startling changes and has new political friends to whom he must cater.

Fail to Do Anything.

"As a consequence of such shifting of heads, the rank and file feel that the safest procedure is to do nothing," he asserted. "But even more important than a good police department is an adequate court system.

"We are using a system borrowed from the English and discarded by the English seventy years ago. Our judges are bound by too much red tape. It is doubtful if election of judges is productive of a good judiciary; they owe too much obligation. English judges are appointed and run a trial as they think the individual case demands. Some such method is our only hope for salvation."

EXPERT LAYS CRASH OF R-101 TO DESIRE FOR "SHOWING OFF"

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The public inquiry into the disaster of the British dirigible R-101 today heard testimony linking the ship's ill fated flight with the imperial conference in session in London at that time.

Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, commander of Great Britain's other giant ship, R-100, expressed the belief that officers of the R-101 permitted their judgment to be biased by knowledge of the wish of Lord Thomson, air ministetr, who was killed in the crash, and others that the flight to India be made while statesmen of the empire were deliberating in London.

"If the conference had not been on," he said, "I feel confident they would have insisted on more details."

New Claimant to Zuta Estate Is Discovered

A new claimant to a share in the $22,000 estate of Jack Zuta, slain gang leader, filed an appearance yesterday before Probate Judge Henry Horner. The new claimant is Elja Szmul Zuta, a resident of Poland. Two other heirs who have filed claims to the estate are Hirschel Zoota, also of Poland, and Ike Ginsberg, a cousin of the gangster, who lives in Kentucky. Zuta's will is in court litigation in three places—Delafield, Wis.; Pineville, Ky.; and Chicago.

TEN WISCONSIN CONGRESSMEN FOR DRY REPEAL

Only One Is Loyal to Prohibition.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Wisconsin's delegation of 11 representatives in the next congress will join almost unanimously with a majority of the Illinois delegation in seeking modification of the Volstead act and repeal of the 18th amendment. This was shown today in a poll of the Wisconsin congressmen elected last Tuesday.

All but one of the 11 Wisconsin representatives are expected to be aligned with the anti-prohibition forces, the poll and survey made by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE disclosed tonight, as a sequel to the Illinois poll which showed that a majority of Illinois' 27 representatives would favor modification and repeal.

The election in Wisconsin brought about the defeat of two of the state's three dry congressmen and virtually wiped out all the support the prohibitionists had in the Wisconsin congressional delegation.

Three Questions Asked.

Each of the 11 Wisconsin representatives was asked the following three questions:

1. As a member of congress will you vote to modify the Volstead act to permit a higher alcoholic content for beer and wine?

2. Will you vote to modify the Volstead act to authorize each state to determine what alcoholic content in beer and wine is non-intoxicating?

3. Will you vote for a resolution to resubmit the eighteenth amendment to the states?

Eight of them answered "yes" to each question; one, the lone dry, refused to answer; the two others, both classified as wets, declined to answer, but explained their reasons.

How They Answered.

These are the congressmen polled, their party and district, and their replies:

Henry Allen Cooper [Rep., 1st]—I decline to answer. There will be no extra session of congress and the prohibition question cannot be considered for 13 months.

Charles A. Kading [Rep., 2d]—My answer is yes to all three questions.

John C. Schafer [Rep., 4th]—I answer yes to all three questions and I also will vote to repeal the entire national prohibition act, as embodied in a bill which I have introduced.

William H. Stafford [Rep., 5th]—Yes to all three, with these reservations: I would vote to modify the Volstead act to fix a higher maximum alcoholic content for beer and wine and then let each state determine for itself what content within that maximum was nonintoxicating. The second question alone would be unconstitutional unless congress had previously fixed a higher maximum and I would not support it alone. Taken with question one, I would vote yes. I will vote yes on question three.

M. K. Reilly [Dem., 6th]—Yes to all questions.

Gardner Withrow [Rep., 7th]—Yes to each of the questions.

Gerald Boileau [Rep., 8th]—Yes to all three questions.

George J. Schneider [Rep., 9th]—My position is in conformity with that of the people of Wisconsin as expressed in the prohibition referendum. I shall vote for the modification of the Volstead act, which I think is the expeditious step to take first. I am not opposed to repeal of the 18th amendment, but I am doubtful if that issue will arise in the immediate future.

James A. Frear [Rep., 10th]—I never answer questionnaires. I have received a dozen lately from newspapers, women's clubs, and other groups, and I have not answered any of them. I find it takes too much time. My vote speaks for itself.

H. H. Peavy [Rep., 11th]—I vote yes on each question.

Congressman Frear and Congressman Cooper, while failing to answer the questions directly, generally have been grouped with the anti-dry forces.

Nelson Is Lone Dry.

Congressman Nelson, veteran legislator from the Madison [3d] district, always has been dry. He has served in congress for many years, representing a constituency mostly Norwegian, which has had a tendency to vote dry and determine personally what the private habits shall be.

Congressman Elect Boileau, a Wausau lawyer, campaigned as an avowed wet and won the seat formerly occupied by Edward Everts Browne of Waupaca, another veteran congressman who had been a leader of the dry cause. Representative Browne is a former regent of the state university and was first elected to congress without any opposition.

Congressman Elect Withrow, a railway conductor of La Crosse, also espoused the wet cause and defeated Representative Merlin Hull, lawyer and publisher of Black River Falls, a former speaker of the general assembly and formerly secretary of state. He had been one of the state's three dry congressmen.

In the Sixth district campaign to determine a successor for the late Representative Florian Lampert, who died from injuries in an automobile accident last summer, Michael Reilly, a lawyer of Fond du Lac, entered the race on the Democratic ticket as a dripping wet after Phil Lehner, a Princeton lawyer, running as a La Follette progressive, adopted only a moderately wet platform. Reilly previously had served in congress, retiring in 1914, and his victory over Lehner distinguishes him as the only Democrat in the Wisconsin delegation and the first Democrat to win in this state since he retired in 1914.

those who overruled Mr. Wickersham by the six to five vote.

Should a national constitutional convention be called, the delegates would be elected by the people on the platform on the prohibition question. In effect it would be a popular referendum, the votes of the various states instructing the victorious delegates as to their ballots in the convention on modification, repeal, or confirmation.

It was learned today that the Wickersham commission as a part of its investigation has sent out questionnaires to brewers in all parts of the country asking their views on the effect of modificatk of the Volstead act and also has sent questionnaires to leading chemists to determine what content of alcohol in light liquors they consider intoxicating in fact.

DRYS GIRD FOR FIGHT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (Tuesday).—(AP)—The drys are girding for battle in congress, buttressing their defenses around the eighteenth amendment to the constitution.

A recognized staff of the friends of prohibition pushing an educational campaign all over the country has been called for by Senator Fess of Ohio, who now carries the duties also of chairman of the Republican national committee.

In his stand was seen today a warning against any repeal movement within the Republican party. Fess has been mentioned by prohibitionists as a potential leader for reorganized dry forces. In the movement for rebuilding the prohibition attack group indications appeared that some of the burden of political activity would be lifted from the Anti-Saloon league, which for many years has borne the brunt of the task.

Renewal of Conflict.

Both drys and wets in congress are expecting a renewal of conflict some time after the prohibition report of the President's law enforcement commission is given out. Harrassed by an insistent curiosity and speculation as to what is being accomplished in closed session, the members of this commission have been pleading to be left alone with their difficult task. They have little hope of completing a report by the time congress meets Dec. 1. Perhaps a month later it will be ready—that now is expected generally to be the latest date it will be given out.

The defense of the eighteenth amendment in congress at the present time offers the drys no difficulty. They have ample votes for the purpose and all prohibitionists are united on that point. Regarding sentiment on the enforcing laws indications are less definite.

Senator Fess himself yesterday said the increasing penalties imposed on liquor violators under the Jones act had failed to be of the benefit he had hoped for.

Without Character.

"The bootlegger is without character and doesn't mind going to jail to be supported by the public," he observed. "We are filling the jails, but I am afraid that is not the necessary deterrent."

But he observed: "The people will never stand for the return of the saloon, nor will they give up the eighteenth amendment. We need a national campaign of education."

WEALTHY HOTEL WOMAN ENDS HER LIFE WITH BULLET

Mrs. Jennie De Tamble, 65 years old, wealthy owner of the Beverly hotel, 4314 Sheridan road, was found dead, a bullet wound in her right temple, in her hotel suite early this morning. A revolver with one cartridge exploded lay at her feet, and Town Hall police were satisfied she had committed suicide. Ill health was believed to be the motive.

Mrs. De Tamble was last heard from shortly before noon yesterday when she notified Aldo Cason, manager of the hotel, that she was not to be disturbed during the day. When her son, John Shepherd Kelly, president of the Supersound Radio company, attempted to call on her he got no response. The door of her apartment was opened and Mrs. De Tamble was found dead. She was the wife of Martin De Tamble, 80 years old, who is recovering from automobile injuries at the American hospital.

SOLVE MYSTERY OF LOST $3,000 PILE OF LUMBER

Sergt. Albert Jenner and his detective bureau squad last night solved the mystery of the disappearance of $3,000 worth of heavy timbers used in the construction of the Crawford avenue bridge at 38th street, which was completed three weeks ago, but no arrests of the thieves will be made.

The Underground Construction company sold the timbers to the General Wrecking and Lumber company, 5812 South Ashland avenue, which in turn sold them to a third company.

When trucks arrived to remove the timbers yesterday they found only neatly spaced piles of sawdust, and a Santa Fé railroad watchman stationed nearby told of watching men, women and children sawing and chopping at the timbers.

Police were saved the necessity of making innumerable raids to recover the wood when Benjamin Graff, engineer for the General Wrecking and Lumber company, said his company would charge the loss to "hard times."

ARRESTED AS KILLER.

Oscar Magbie, colored, was arrested yesterday in his home at 860 Orleans street, as the slayer of George Polk, also colored. Polk was stabbed to death at 420 Rush street in 1915. Magbie fled the city and has been sought ever since.

. . . Growing children should drink Sleepy Water

A HEALTHY body! What safer foundation is there on which to build your children's future happiness and success? Strong bones, straight muscular legs, sound teeth, and brimming vitality—parents must know the rules of health that assure these to their children.

Water and minerals are needed to protect and regulate body processes. Especially from first to eighth year, when chubby babyhood stretches out into gangling youth—when rapid growth demands far more mineral material than is necessary at maturity.

Give your children Sleepy Water. Teach them to drink it abundantly between meals. This pleasant tasting mineral water from Hot Springs is rich in the precious minerals so indispensable to growing youngsters. It furnishes the calciums, phosphates and irons that build up fine, strong bodies and promote resistance to dangerous health foes. Deficiency diseases, so common to childhood, may be warded off by the protective minerals of Sleepy Water.

Grown-ups also, can benefit greatly by drinking Sleepy Water. Over-acid conditions that are the root of so many ailments in the human body, are neutralized by its mildly alkaline character. It stimulates sluggish cells and assists the kidneys to cleanse the system of deep-seated poisons that threaten the health.

Thus, Sleepy Water effectively gets to the source of disease by correcting conditions that disturb the normal health balance. Letters from grateful users attest to remarkable results in the relief of Diabetes, Neuritis, Neurasthenia, Rheumatism, High Blood Pressure, Bright's Disease, Stomach, Kidney and Bladder trouble.

Sleepy Water is in no sense a physic—drink freely of this healthful mineral water. It is delightful to the taste.

Stimulates Cell Life

Experiments conducted upon living vegetable cells showed that plants watered with Sleepy Water greatly exceeded in growth and development plants supplied with tap water.

700 PCT. JOKER IS CHARGED IN CITY CONTRACT

Bid Is Rejected as "Too Low," Says Witness.

Evidence that the city is paying 700 per cent more than the Lincoln park board for caisson work at certain depths was submitted to the council committee on efficiency, economy, and rehabilitation yesterday during its investigation of the contract let by Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe, for the construction of the north viaduct approach to the Wabash avenue bridge.

The figures were produced by Ald. John J. Hoellen [47th] after it was developed that the contract with the Ketler-Elliott company, the successful bidder, calls for $1.17 per cubic foot for caissons to a depth of 75 feet and $10 for each cubic foot below that depth.

Cites Park Figures.

"The Lincoln park board is paying $1.45 per cubic foot for caisson work to a depth of 115 feet," said Ald. Hoellen, "and $5 a cubic foot below that to bed rock for the outer drive bridge." Figuring hastily, committee members discovered that the city is paying seven times as much as the park board for caissons between the depths of 75 and 115 feet.

In yesterday's hearing on the resolution of Ald. Arthur F. Albert [43d] for an investigation of all city departments, E. J. Albrecht, whose low bid on the Wabash bridge approach was rejected by Wolfe, appeared to testify. He said his prices for the caisson work were $1.45 per cubic foot to a depth of 75 feet and $2 for each cubic foot below that. Ald. Hoellen said Albrecht's figures were more nearly right than those of the Ketler-Elliott company.

"If the caissons go below 75 feet the approach will cost the city at least $100,000 more than if the contract had been let to the low bidder," said Ald. Hoellen.

Attacked Bid as Too Low, Claim.

Questioned by Ald. Albert, Mr. Albrecht told of the financial condition and work of his company and testified to conversations with members of Wolfe's department.

"Never before has a public official attacked my bid because my prices were too low," said Mr. Albrecht after he had testified that Wolfe's engineers had said the prices would be "ruinous" to his company.

Albrecht testified he has built six viaducts similar to the Wabash bridge approach for the south park board and had done work for railroads. He said that he was appearing before the committee in self-defense, as he had been accused of making an irresponsible bid "although we are responsible contractors."

Leon D. Gayton, city engineer, was ordered to appear Friday morning with all records relating to the viaduct approach.

BOND POWER TO MAYOR

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Under the blanket form of bond issue, the mayor and his department heads have recently received very large discretionary authority to expend funds, according to lawyers. This new power came in the State Supreme court's recent decision in the expert fee case. The court in that case held that a referendum on a bond issue, under a blanket form, is the equivalent of an appropriation.

Exactly the opposite has been the view of the city council for many years. The aldermen have looked upon the voters' approval of a bond issue as simply an authorization to issue the bonds—and not authority to administrative officials to spend the proceeds of an issue. Therefore, after each favorable referendum on a bond issue, the city council has followed its theory and appropriated the money. The aldermen have had the impression that it is illegal to spend city money which has not been appropriated by the city council.

City Appropriates Money.

To illustrate, when a $5,000,000 bond issue for a street improvement, including the construction on a bridge, has been approved by the voters, the city council has decided whether $1,000,000, $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 should be spent on the bridge and appropriated for it accordingly as well as for other items in the street improvement. The council has not heretofore left the discretion with the mayor and his department heads to determine whether $1,000,000 or three times that amount should be spent on the bridge.

In the real estate expert fee case it was charged that large sums were paid the experts which had not been appropriated. In defense of the payment Mayor Thompson and the then city controller, George F. Harding, set up the legal claim that approval of the bond issues by the people constituted an appropriation. The Supreme court held this view correct for a bond issue in blanket form, by which is meant an ordinance which authorizes the bonds without restrictions on expenditures or appropriations.

Department Head Gets Control.

That interpretation of the law, under the current custom of the mayor and city controller signing warrants by engraving facsimile of their names on the warrants, leaves the department head who is in immediate charge of the expenditures free to originate such vouchers as his discretion dictates, so long as they relate to the improvement for which the bond funds have been provided, according to one lawyer. The department head gains the authority to decide how the money shall be spent on the improvement.

On this point the State Supreme court in its recent decision said: "This court has repeatedly held that the passage of a bond ordinance by the city council and its approval of a vote of the people constitute an appropriation of the amount of such bonds as a special fund for the purposes specified in the same and render any further appropriation of such amounts by the city council unnecessary."

Quotes Missouri Decision.

In support of this theory, the Supreme court quotes a decision of the Missouri Supreme court in which it was asserted that that "court held that no appropriation in the annual appropriation bill was necessary, since by the bond issue ordinance, and the vote of the people held under the same, the proceeds of those bonds were put beyond the control of the common council either to apportion or appropriate."

City Doesn't Use Power.

The authority conferred on a blanket bond ordinance and referendum is so large that the city administration has not attempted to acquire such authority in bond issues submitted this year. After the bonds approved when the mayor was last elected no city bond issues have been approved by the voters during this administration until this year.

The city law department has prepared restricted bond ordinances this year. Each bond ordinance has provided that no part of the proceeds shall be expended "unless and until there has been an appropriation therefor duly made by the city council prior to such expenditure, stating the specific object or purpose for which the same is to be expended."

Whether this restriction originated with the aldermen or the city law department was not ascertainable yesterday. One alderman said, however, that the city lawyers initiated the above phrasing because the people, if informed, would vote against a blanket bond ordinance. He thought a blanket bond ordinance is not only offensive to popular sentiment, but against public policy, and might easily be used for large waste of public funds.

Mayor Not Aware of It.

Apparently Mayor Thompson has not been informed of the restriction in the $20,000,000 of city bonds approved on Nov. 4, because he sent a message to his department heads in which he said:

"You will, therefore, proceed without delay and works nights and Sundays if need be, to prepare plans and let contracts to expend this money as rapidly as possible consistent with a careful and economical distribution of these funds, because our people need work now. I want as much work started before the snow flies as is humanly possible."

As the alderman referred to expressed it: "Every one is as eager as the mayor to get jobs for the unemployed, but this money cannot be spent until appropriated, and, as I understand it, we are prohibited by law from appropriating until Jan. 1 next. The $20,000,000 bond issues were not passed under blanket ordinances, as the mayor assumes."

PRAISE OFFICIAL FOR WARNING CITY ON BOND MONEY

The Citizens' association yesterday commended Victor S. Petterson, deputy city controller, for pointing out to department heads that the amount of money to be obtained from the recently approved bond issues cannot be used before the sale of the bonds. After Petterson had made a statement that the bonds are dated Jan. 1, 1931, Mayor Thompson told him to "keep his mouth shut."

"I am writing on behalf of the Citizens' association," wrote Augustus S. Peabody, president, "to express to you our approval of the action of your office in serving notice upon city department heads and aldermen that the city controller will not be a party to short cuts of questionable legality devised to realize cash from the newly authorized bond issues in advance of the actual sale of the bonds or before valid appropriations have been made from the respective bond funds."

ROBERT AMES, ACTOR, DIVORCED BY FOURTH WIFE

Robert Ames, well known stage and screen actor, was divorced for the fourth time yesterday when Mrs. Muriel Oakes Ames, former New York society girl, was granted a decree in an uncontested hearing before Judge Myron Westover in Los Angeles.

The crash of the romance recalled the elopement of the couple from Chicago three years ago. They motored to Waukegan and were married, while Miss Helene Lambert, New York night club owner, waited in a north side hotel to complete arrangements to be married to Ames. Miss Lambert brought a $200,000 breach of promise suit against Ames here.

Commerce has planned for today the most impressive patriotic demonstration in the history of the northwest side. This will begin at 8:45 o'clock, when air bombs will be exploded from the roof of the Northwestern Trust and Savings bank building, and will continue through a day of parading and speechmaking. The parade will terminate at Paulina street and and Milwaukee avenue shortly before 11 o'clock, and the speakers will then hold forth under the chairmanship of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen.

Other Organizations Meet.

The speakers will be Congressman A. J. Sabath and Stanley H. Klarkowski, chief justice of the Circuit court and member of the Allied post of American Legion.

The City club will observe the day at a forum luncheon, where Gen. Nathan William MacChesney will speak on "Looking Forward from the World War," and Dr. John Herman Randall of New York, director of the World Unity foundation, will speak on "The Terrific Losses of the Last War."

Paul V. McNutt, past national commander of the American Legion, how dean of the law school of the University of Indiana, will address 28,000 telephone makers at a celebration at the Western Electric Hawthorne works.

Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman will speak to the students and faculty of Armour institute at 10:30 o'clock.

A flag raising ceremony will be held at 61st street and Woodlawn in which business men, school children and the Fort Dearborn post of the American Legion will participate.

The Young Woman's auxiliary of the Women's City club, formerly the Patriotic Service club, will meet in the clubrooms of their celebration.

The Board of Trade will be closed today. At the close of markets yesterday, while members stood at attention, a bugler sounded "Taps."

Schools to Be Closed.

Employes of the Rapid Transit lines, the North Shore line and the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin railroad, will join in paying tribute to the dead today. At 11 o'clock all trains will stop.

All elementary schools, junior high schools and senior high schools will be closed. Yesterday nearly all schools sponsored Armistice programs.

Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, former captain in the 33d division, will speak at the annual Armistice day celebration in Odd Fellows' hall, 6318 Yale avenue tonight. The South Park post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be in charge of the celebration.

Attache of U. S. Embassy in Mexico Killed by Fall

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Edward P. Lowry, second secretary of the United States embassy here, was killed early today when he fell from the stairs on the third floor of the American club, where he had gone to attend an American Legion meeting.

HOOVER WILL LEAD NATION IN TRIBUTE TO WAR DEAD TODAY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—President Hoover will be the chief figure in the capital's observance of Armistice day tomorrow. With Mrs. Hoover, and accompanied by Secretary of War Hurley, Secretary of the Navy Adams, Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff, and Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, he will visit Arlington National cemetery and lay a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

He will then make the principal Armistice day address at the Good Will congress of the world alliance for international friendship through the churches.

Trap Youthful Holdup Suspect on Loop Roof

Edward McKieveth, 19 years old, 1207 Belmont avenue, was trapped yesterday on the roof of a loop building after he and Alexander Rudel, 17 years old, 3453 North Hermitage avenue, were alleged to have attempted a holdup in the offices of the Mutual Security company, 140 North Dearborn street. McKieveth fled down a fire escape from the sixth floor offices to the roof of an adjoining building where he was caught by Policeman James Condon. Two revolvers were taken from him.

CLEANING PLANT MANAGER ROBBED.

Miss Rosella Walker, manager of the Peacock Cleaners, 6948 Glenwood avenue, was held up and robbed of $55 yesterday by a young bandit who carried a revolver concealed in an overcoat which he extended toward her as if to leave it for cleaning.

POLES OBSERVE VICTORY IN 1920 OVER BOLSHEVIKS

Europe Begins Services in Honor of War Dead.

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Poland celebrates a dual anniversary tomorrow, pausing for Armistice day honors to her world war dead and rejoicing on the tenth anniversary of her victory in the war against the bolsheviki in 1920.

Poles throughout the world have been asked to observe the day. Every village in Poland has been asked to dedicate its monument to the double victory. Bronze plaques bearing the head of Marshal Pilsudski have been struck off by the mint and on these will be engraved the names of the soldier dead of each community erecting a monument.

At the capital the celebration will take the form of military parades following church services. Marshal Pilsudski will attend an army field mass in the morning.

England Honors War Dead.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The crowds which stood this afternoon to watch the parade of the "lord mayor's show" paused on the way home tonight to pay their own Armistice day tribute at the cenotaph in Whitehall and late this evening there was still a long line winding towards the shrine of the nation's war dead.

Not in recent years has there been such an early demonstration to the memory of the men who fell in the war. Many in the crowd wore the red poppies, 40,000,000 of which have been made by blind and maimed veterans for sale tomorrow. The prince of Wales tonight broadcast a special appeal in aid of this veterans' fund.

King George, the prince of Wales and the duke of York will participate tomorrow in short religious ceremonies at the cenotaph and there will observe the two minutes of silence, beginning at 11 o'clock.

Catholics Ordered to Pray.

LISBON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—In a pastoral letter to his congregation today Cardinal Patrarch of Lisbon directed that every Catholic attend tomorrow's Armistice day memorial services to pray during the two minutes' silence for the advent of enduring peace.

French Lay Wreaths.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—(AP)—France paid her sober tribute to the war dead today and at the bourse a moment's silence interrupted the day's business transactions. French officials, beginning the observation of Armistice day, laid wreaths on the tomb of the unknown soldier and at the base of the Arc de Triomphe.

Germany Ignores Anniversary.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The twelfth anniversary of the signing of the armistice was expected to pass unnoticed in Germany tomorrow, as has been the case each year. Oratory and comment on the outcome of that momentous day generally are reserved for Nov. 9, when the nation changed from a monarchy to a republic.

"It is a beautiful idea to keep armistice day in America as a day of peace," said a German spokesman, "but to us it heralded years of sore troubles and distress."

TWO DIE, SEVEN HURT AS AUTOS CRASH HEAD-ON

Two men were killed and seven other persons injured last night in a head-on collision between two automobiles in North avenue, a wide state highway, two miles north of Wheaton. Liquor was believed by Wheaton police to have been partly responsible for the crash.

The dead were John Michael, 2522 South Whipple street, and Chester Sutula, 3439 South Sawyer avenue. They were members of a hunting party returning to Chicago. The third member, Julius Zurek, 2654 Cullerton street, was injured. He told police that he, Michael, and Sutula were drinking on the home trip.

Four Children Hurt.

The injured, beside Zurek, are Albert Frees, 2307 Farragut avenue; his wife, Clara; their children, Lillian, Virginia, and Marion, and Dorothy Bessler, 12 years old, 2428 Winona avenue. They were taken to the Elmhurst hospital, where Mrs. Frees was pronounced in a serious condition. The others suffered abrasions and cuts.

From Zurek police learned details of the collision. He and his friends had been hunting near Oregon, he said. On the return he drove Michael's automobile to Sycamore. At Sycamore Michael relieved him at the wheel. On the way all three helped themselves to liquor, he said. Nearing Gary avenue, which extends out of Wheaton to the state highway, Michael attempted to pass an east bound car, but verged too far to the north of the road. Frees' car was at the very edge of the west bound lane when Michael drove almost upon him. The hunters' machine was pitched over on its side. Sutula and Michael were both hurled from their car.

Three Deaths in County.

Three deaths yesterday raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 824. The victims:

Charles Videas, 50 years old, of Park Ridge. Killed when his truck was struck by a Chicago and North Western train at the South Elm street crossing in Park Ridge.

Walter Karick, 37 years old, 950 Milwaukee avenue. Fatally injured when he was struck by a truck while crossing Cleveland avenue at North avenue. Jack Mertereno, 1022 Townsend street, the driver, was held.

Patrick Boyer, 45 years old, of Matteson. Died in the St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, of injuries received Saturday in a collision between two autos at 183d street and Cicero avenue. Six other persons, including four children, were also injured.

ROBBER MAKES AUTOIST DRIVE HIM 220 MILES

Grand Crossing police last night were asked to search for a robber who threatened a motorist with a pistol at noon yesterday in Toledo, O., and forced him to drive more than 220 miles to 71st street and South Shore drive in Chicago, where he thanked him for the ride, took $75, and departed.

Gordon Daughten, 1822 Wellesley drive, Toledo, a shipping clerk for the Kosco Mills, Inc., said he was taking the money from the plant to the main offices and had stopped for a traffic light in the downtown district of Toledo when the robber approached and asked for a ride.

[Rayhuff-Richter Photo.]

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Grace Heyer, who made her stage debut under Charles Frohman in "The Little Minister," in which Maude Adams was starred, died in a hospital today after an operation. She was 42 years old. Last year she wrote a play called "Jehovah Joe," which was produced outside New York.

4 BANDITS ROB STORE IN GARY; GET $5,100 LOOT

Four young and unmasked bandits entered the Seaman army goods store in downtown Gary late yesterday, bound three men clerks and the woman cashier, and rifled the safe of about $5,100 in cash and checks. They escaped in a car they had driven to the curb in front of the store.

The robbery took place shortly after 4 p. m., when the quartet of gunmen, brandishing pistols, entered the store and lined the three clerks behind one counter. These they tied with handkerchiefs and neckties and two of the bandits guarded them while the others went to the cashier's cage, where they demanded that Mrs. W. C. Rose, the cashier, open the safe for them.

She refused and, showing signs of familiarity with the store, the pair pulled books and papers aside, disclosing the safe beneath the cage counter. It was unlocked and the cash and checks were hastily transferred and the bandits left. The store had a large amount of cash on hand to cash mill workers' checks, it was said.

IN WRONG HOME; SHOT.

Dudley Mee, 27 years old, 1520 Mohawk street, was shot in the shoulder and slightly wounded early yesterday when he attempted to force a door at the home of Joseph Scheurich, 2113 North Halsted street. Mee told police he mistook Scheurich's home for his own.

ITALY CLEARS UP 'DEATH' MYSTERY OF ANTI-FASCIST

Assures Family Prisoner Is Safe in Cell.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 10.—Assurance was given by the government today that Prof. Giuseppe Rensi, the anti-Fascist, who was arrested with 20 others several days ago, was alive and in good health and as comfortable as the prison conditions at Verona permit.

Thus the mystery, which has tormented Fascists and anti-Fascists alike since the Milan newspaper Corriere della Sera published a paid death notice announcing his death dated four days after his arrest for plotting against the régime, seems to be cleared up.

Private sources from Genoa report that Prof. Rensi's children sent the family lawyer to Verona, where the authorities swore that the professor and his wife, who are both in custody for alleged indiscretions, are safe. They are said to have told the lawyer that the only danger the pair face is their possible condemnation by the Fascists defense tribunal before which they, along with other accused intellectuals and communist plotters, must soon appear.

Call Death Notice a Trick.

The death notice in the Corrier della Sera now appears to have been a trick of the anti-Fascists to spread the news of Prof. Rensi's arrest and at the same time discredit the government.

Even the hardiest Fascists are now appalled at the reports recalling Prof. Rensi's early association with Premier Mussolini and the well remembered hospitality he extended when the Socialist dreamer returned to Como after being expelled from Switzerland. There are whispers that the affair might prove very embarrassing.

As neither Prof. Rensi's capture, nor his death, was ever announced, public denial is only given to those who request information. In doing so the government takes cognizance of the talk of Il Duce's debt of gratitude to Prof. Rensi, when it points out that "on a previous occasion he escaped disciplinary action through the direct intervention of the chief of government."

A COUNCIL OF WAR

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The anti-Fascist chieftains of Paris held a council of war this afternoon for the purpose of forcing an investigation into the alleged mysterious death in prison of the Socialist leader, Prof. Giuseppe Rensi, whom they now openly assert died from torture or ill treatment.

Former officials of the Italian government, editors, and professors were gathered in a little apartment discussing the latest news from agents in Italy when THE TRIBUNE correspondent arrived. A former political leader of Italy, who is now one of the recognized heads of the anti-Fascist movement outside of Italy, gave the following statement:

"We have strong circumstantial evidence, which just arrived from Italy confirming the original suspicion that Prof. Rensi died of ill treatment at the hands of his Fascist captors. The exact manner of death is not yet determined. We have two versions, both from highly reliable sources.

Recites Torture "Method."

"The first says that Rensi died from heart failure following the efforts of his captors to extract supposed revolutionary secrets by the favorite Fascist torture—squeezing the fingers in a door jamb. The other version says that the police, fearing torture would be of no avail on a man of Rensi's caliber, administered injections of a powerful narcotic calculated to paralyze his mental faculties—another common Fascist method of extracting confessions from victims—and the aged scholar died from an accidental overdose. Apparently there was no deliberate attempt to murder him."

12 MISSIONARIES ASK U. S. TO SAVE THEM BY PLANE

Seek Escape from Chinese Bandits.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, Nov. 10.—Six American, four German, and two British missionaries have appealed to Frank P. Lockhart, American consul general at Hankow, to rescue them by airplane from Kwangchow, Honan province, the area held by the "first Red bandit army." A group of American missionaries in Sunning, model city in Kwantung province, has also asked to be saved from bandit hordes.

Lockhart has urged Gen. Ho Ying Ching to make an effort to bring the foreigners out by planes.

With banditry steadily becoming worse, legations are pressing their demands that foreigners evacuate the threatened areas, which involve a territory larger than six American central states.

No Captives Freed Yet.

Hunan and Kiangsi missionaries are slowly reaching safer areas, but none of the captives have been freed. Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, president of the Nanking government, says he will soon proceed to the front to personally direct the war on the Reds. The five power Yangtze river patrol is keeping close watch for foreigners reaching small river landings, while the Nationalist troops are moving into the interior.

Foreigners have been the victims of an attack at Kalgan, about 100 miles northwest of Peiping. The Manchurian garrison is dealing promptly with bandits within the Peiping district. Two bandits, who killed a policeman after he caught them burglarizing a residence, will be publicly beheaded in the temple of Heaven next Sunday. They will be paraded through the principal streets in carts manned by headsmen with giant swords.

A serious situation is developing in the Kwangsi province, which is in rebellion against the Nanking government. The Nationalists have ordered the destruction of the important city of Nanning, directing the bombardment by two air corps, also a siege of guns, while a large army is moving upon Nanning, which has numerous missionaries beyond gunboat rescue.

Not Enough Available Troops.

The outlook in other regions become graver since the widening of the operations of rebels and bandits calls for thousands more troops than are available. Further reports of heavy firing upon American and British passenger ships, as well as Standard Oil tankers, is reported on the Yangtze from Hankow to the gorges. The latest report states that 2,000 well armed communists are moving westward along the north bank in Hupeh.

PLAGIARISM SUIT BY ANNE NICHOLS OVER 'ABIE' LOST

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—With citations from Shakespeare and casual references to Einstein and Darwin the Circuit Court of Appeals today decided that the movie "The Cohens and the Kelleys" does not infringe upon the copyright of "Abie's Irish Rose."

Judge Learned Hand, whose paragraphs sustain a previous finding by Federal Judge Goddard, points out that Universal Pictures, Carl Laemmle and Harry Pollard took no more from Miss Anne Nichols than she took from stage authors who preceded her.

The low comedy Jew and the low comedy Irishman have existed as stage types for years, and loving and fertile young couples are no rarity, either. Thus the judge held. And so ended Miss Nichols' suit for an accounting of the $3,000,000 which the movies yielded.

W. E. Bennett Here to Succeed Jamie in U. S. Post

W. E. Bennett, former chief of the special prohibition agents for the southeastern states, arrived in Chicago yesterday to become chief of the special agents for this territory. Mr. Bennett succeeds Alexander Jamie, now chief investigator for the Association of Commerce secret six committee. Information uncovered by Bennett while he was stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., led to the seizure of several carloads of booze in Chicago by Jamie's men.

2,000 STUDENTS RIOT IN CUBA; 1 SLAIN, 4 INJURED

HAVANA, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The opposition newspaper El Pais reported tonight that one student was killed and four others, one of them a girl, were injured in a clash with police at Santiago de Cuba late today.

The paper said 2,000 students formed a parade and marched to the site of the statue to Gov. Barcelo of Oriente province. They destroyed the monument and then went to a statue of President Machado nearby, attacking it with hammers.

When the police attempted to disperse the students a battle began and soldiers were required to restore order.

BOY ASKS HELP TO SAVE HOME IN JOBLESS CRISIS

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

It is tough enough for a 14 or 15 year old to be compelled to contribute to the support of the family budget, but it is tougher still to sit by and watch one's parents fight a losing battle to keep a roof over their heads and food in the house without the remotest chance of a job.

Two youngsters, unbeknown to their parents, confided in Sally Joy Brown at THE TRIBUNE yesterday. A 15 year old girl asked only for a typewriter so she might help support her family by addressing cards. The boy, 14 years old, wanted very much a job for his mother, a proofreader, so he wouldn't have to be sent away to a home.

Needs Typewriter for Work.

"I am the oldest of my six brothers and two sisters," wrote the girl. "I get a job addressing cards for which a typewriter was required. My father can not buy one, as he is not working. I can earn some extra money by doing this work if I only had a typewriter. I am a high school girl. Please, will you try to help me? I will somehow manage to pay the postage if you can get me the typewriter."

The boy told how after his father's death his mother had supported him for six years working as a proofreader, but has been out of work for the last two months. He contributes $13 a month selling newspapers, getting up at 4 a. m.

"I have read how you have helped so many people," wrote the boy, "and I wonder if you could find something for my mother. She can do nursing or keep house, and she said she would take a copyholder job if she could get it.

"I am anxious for her to keep me and our little two room home, as that is all I have had for so long. If she cannot get work I will have to go to some home, and she has worried so I am afraid she will get sick."

Offer Some Good Jobs.

While hundreds of job seekers milled about the Illinois free employment service, 116 North Dearborn street, yesterday the telephones rang continually in Sally Joy Brown's job service for the unemployed. Sally said last evening that some very good jobs were offered and the information dispatched to the Illinois bureau almost as fast as it came in.

"One man got a fine job at $1 an hour painting a house and a garage," said Sally. "Then we had offers for two truck drivers. We had an order for a married couple to manage an apartment hotel with free rent, light, and gas, and $70 a month. A tea room wanted a sandwich slicer and an optician an errand boy. For the women came an order from the P. C. association for six typists and another firm wanted a stenographer.

"We are getting more and better jobs, but we'll need every job offer we can get. The jobs we find out about don't begin to go around."

If you know of a job, reader, please help Sally out. Telephone the information to her at Superior 0100.

EMPLOYES' GROUP WILL CARE FOR NEEDY FAMILY

Sends a Weekly Check for Good Fellows.

The judgment department of the Chicago Title and Trust company yesterday exemplified the true Good Fellow spirit in a letter accompanying a weekly contribution of $30 that will support a destitute family through the winter.

"This total was secured from a comparatively small department," wrote Ben M. Binkley, manager of the department, "by voluntary contributions ranging from 25 cents to $1 a week, and no one is contributing enough to cut seriously into his income."

To Help the Unfortunate.

During the war there was an appeal to give until it hurts. The Good Fellow plan is for those who are able to give until they are satisfied they are doing their part toward lending a hand to the unfortunate until business and the employment situation are improved. Widespread and cheerful giving is designed to hasten the return of prosperity through its psychological influence on the public mind.

Two other groups of employés yesterday sent lumped donations, each sufficient to provide for a destitute family. From the department of buildings and grounds of the University of Chicago came a monthly check for $75. The Peters Machinery company sent a weekly check of $25.

Reaches Worthy Families.

The day's mail also contained a number of donations ranging from $1 to $10. Whether a contribution is large or small, every penny reaches some home where it is needed for milk, groceries, coal, clothing, and rent. The needs and worthiness of the recipients are established through investigation by trained and experienced social service workers. THE TRIBUNE pays the expenses of administrating the Good Fellow fund.

PERMIT ISSUED FOR WACKER DR. WAR MEMORIAL

Thirty members of the Cook county council of the American Legion appeared yesterday in Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe's office to receive a permit to erect a war memorial in the plaza in Wacker drive between State street and Wabash avenue. The memorial, which will stand 28 feet high and will cost $55,000, was designed by Leonard Crosse and will be executed by Frederick Hibbard, Chicago sculptor.

Among those present were Col. A. A. Sprague; Lawrence J. Fenlon, commander of the Cook county council; C. Wayland Brooks, assistant state's attorney; Frank Kee, past commander of the 40 and 8 society, and George M. Kellogg Jr., chairman of the memorial committee.

WOMAN DIES; HUNT RELATIVES.

Town Hall police yesterday afternoon began a search for relatives of Mrs. May Herrick, 48 years old, a widow, who was found dead in bed in her flat at 927 Sunnyside avenue, where she lived alone.

SLASH LIVING COST IN U. S. AS BUSINESS LAGS

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—A notable decrease in the cost of living has been a compensating feature of the economic depression of the last year, according to the executive committee of the Merchants association, which revealed today the results of an inquiry into retail prices as compared with those charged a year ago.

Declaring that the consumer "is today reaping an enormous benefit from the slashing decreases in commodity prices," the committee asserted that "greater opportunities exist today for wise buying then have existed in several years."

In many lines of goods, the report found, $10 was equivalent in retail purchasing value to $11 or $12 or even more a year ago.

"Business indices show a general drop in wholesale prices of from 12 to 16 per cent," the report declared, adding that the association's inquiry had "demonstrated clearly that the decrease in commodity prices has been largely passed along to the consumer, thus bringing a notable decrease in the cost of living."

The findings of the survey in several fields were as follows:

"Prices obtained from several stores show that the woman who buys today may, in the moderate priced field, obtain a ready-made dress or coat at from 10 to 33 per cent less than a dress or coat of similar quality cost a year ago, or she may spend the same amount that she spent in 1929 and obtain a much better garment. Her stockings, underwear and furs can be had at notably lower figures than those of 1929. Silks have not in many years been as low in price as they are today.

Bargains in Clothing.

"A typical store gave current prices on 37 articles of a woman's wardrobe and the prices that were charged for comparable articles in 1929. They showed a total reduction of over 25 per cent.

"The trend in men's clothing is similar to that in the women's field. The buyer today of a moderate-priced suit or overcoat may get a much better suit or coat for the same money or may buy clothing similar to that purchased last year from 6 to 15 per cent cheaper. On certain men's accessories, such as shirts, silk socks and pajamas, savings ranging from 10 to 25 per cent were found. Shoes, in some instances, are 10 per cent lower in price. In other instances they are reported better in quality at the old price.

Reduction on Furniture.

"The practice in respect to furniture varies in different stores. One large retailer reported that furniture was sold at retail in 1930 at the wholesale coast in 1929. A general reduction of about 20 per cent was noted in this particular store.

"The retail reductions in food stuffs are notable. The bureau of labor statistics of the United States department of labor reports that throughout the United States retail prices in September were 9 per cent less than they were in 1929.

"Retail quotations on various cuts of meat showed reductions of from 7 tot 16 per cent."

SALESMAN ENDS OWN LIFE.

END TESTIMONY ON R. R. BATTLE TO KEEP TRACKS

Testimony in the hearing on the petition of the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad for an order directing it to continue its present service over tracks in Plymouth court and Taylor street was concluded yesterday before the Illinois commerce commission. The petition was filed in answer to the city's demand that the railroad remove its tracks from the streets named.

One of the final witnesses for the city was Edward J. Noonan, engineer for the council railway terminals committee. He testified that as the second step in the river straightening project the city plans to open and widen Taylor street and Plymouth court over the railroad yards to the south of the loop and that the presence of the tracks on city property is inimical to the development of the plan.

Assistant Commissioner Robert H. Farrell, who presided at the hearings, gave the railroad and the city 30 days in which to file written briefs and an additional ten days to file answers. A decision is expected in January.

34,879 IS TOTAL LISTED IN CITY JOBLESS CENSUS

Emergency Aid Asked in 30,000 Cases.

A total of 34,879 persons have been registered in the unemployment census conducted in Chicago through the public schools. This was announced yesterday by Frederick J. Lane, assistant school superintendent, in charge of the census, as the final count of registration cards was completed.

Mr. Lane's total included 1,436 late comers who, unable to appear on Saturday, were to be added to the unemployment list. Of the total registrants, 30,000 claimed immediate need of food, clothing, or shelter and were classified as emergency cases.

Assisting further small additions of registrants, Lewis E. Myers, president of the board of education, announced that the board's two offices at 70 West Randolph street and at 69 South State street as well as the Lane school, Harrison street and Fly-mouth court, will continue registration tomorrow, Thursday and Friday. The unemployed may also register by mailing cards to the headquarters of Dr. Emmerson's unemployment committee, 105 South La Salle street.

Suburban Mayors Invited.

Plans for registrations in the suburbs will be made this afternoon at a meeting to which George F. Getz, chairman of the governor's commission, has invited the mayors of Melrose Park, Forest Park, Brookfield, Palmer City, Blue Island, Cicero, Summit, Harvey, and Berwyn. Wayne Hummer, chairman of the commission's committee on statewide activity, will preside.

A clerical staff of thirty spent yesterday classifying the registration cards into groups as follows: Single, employable men over 40 years; able bodied single men and women; able bodied married men with dependents; married and childless couples; single men or women with dependents; single women requiring emergency aid; non-resident single men and women; non-resident families; families with small children, without food or facing eviction; ex-service men.

Allot 300 Emergency Cases.

By evening the commission's staff had allotted 300 emergency cases to the proper charity agency, whether the United Jewish, or Catholic group, and Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities, promised that these cases would be given attention today.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, chairman of the committee on women's activities, announced that her group, representing 50,000 of the city's club and church women, would launch a drive on Dec. 1 for clothing and blankets for the needy. The committee's slogan will be: "Give away your old clothing and buy new."

Already, Mrs. Fairbank announced, several clothing manufacturers and jobbers, notably the firm of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, have pledged substantial contributions of new garments to the committee.

The drive will continue for a week, assisted by radio, billboard, and newspaper advertising. Collection and distribution headquarters will be established in every ward, with volunteer women in charge.

"In carrying out our slogan we hope not only to help the needy to more comfort, but to stimulate buying and thus create more jobs," said Mrs. Fairbank.

Army Men Called In.

A group of military officers, including Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, Maj. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, Adjt. Gen. Orlie E. Black, Col. L. L. Corbin, Col. R. D. Stuart, Capt. Edward Evers of the Illinois Naval reserve, and Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, conferred last evening with Chairman Getz and Mr. Myers, chairman of the commission's housing committee, on the question of converting armories into lodgings for the homeless in the emergency of a sudden cold snap.

Gen. Crowder, who persuaded Secretary of War Hurley last week to turn over blankets and equipment in army depots for equipping emergency shelters, suggested that the field kitchens now in store at headquarters of the Sixth army corps might be utilized. Gen. Keehn argued that the National Guard needed the armories for drill. Without reaching a decision the conferees agreed to meet later.

Members of the Board of Trade met Saturday afternoon to discuss the unemployment situation. Action to be taken by the board to help the unemployed also was discussed.

WORLD BANK VOTES TO HELP SPAIN SAVE ITS FALLEN PESETA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, Nov. 10.—The bank of international settlements—the superbank to handle reparations and foreign debts, organized by the New York house of J. P. Morgan and European financial magnates during the Young plan conference in Paris last winter—today undertook its first big job.

The superbank will handle the stabilization of the Spanish peseta, which broke to half of its par value—ten cents—a fortnight ago. The crash spurred King Alfonso and Premier Damaso Berenguer into sending a committee of leading bankers, including the governor of the Bank of Spain, to Paris and London to seek support for their dwindling currency.

As a result of their conversations Gates McGarrah, the American president of the world bank, and English financiers established gold credits in London for the peseta, which was sharply strengthened, but which still is unstable.

Mr. McGarrah, who is on his way to America, sent a report and recommendations to the directors of the international bank. They examined them at their regular meeting today and approved the idea of aiding Spain to stabilize its currency.

Pierre Quesnay, the French director general of the superbank, was ordered to proceed to Madrid at once to confer with the authorities of the Bank of Spain and to open immediate arrangements for the stabilization of the Spanish currency system. Directors believe that, despite the lack of confidence in Spain in other countries through apprehension as to the future political regime of the kingdom and the precarious situation of the dynasty, the fact that there are two and a half billions in gold reserves against only four and a half billions in paper currency makes stabilization possible if proper safeguards are taken and adequate measures adopted.

The directors of the international bank postponed action on the handling of long term credits until their December meeting.

NATIONS AGREE TO LIMIT PERIOD OF MILITARY SERVICE

All States Will Have Uniform Times.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Nov. 10.—A plan for uniform periods of compulsory military training in armies, navies, and air forces was adopted by the preparatory disarmament commission of the league of nations today after a long debate in which the countries where conscription prevails fought bitterly to preserve their freedom to increase the duration for service as they saw fit.

Lord Robert Cecil, English delegate, insisted that service be limited to a number of months, to be fixed by the general conference, despite the protest of Rene Massigli, French delegate. He insisted that each state fix its own maximum period of service. The uniform period plan won by a single vote.

Japan Has Weird Argument.

N. Sato, Japanese delegate, during the debate put forward this weird argument: "Japan cannot reduce the period of service much owing to the varying character of our troops. The mountaineers with hairy ears refuse to wear boots and the fishermen will not sleep in iron bedsteads because the steel springs tickle them. Therefore we cannot accept the amendment."

Lord Cecil painted a disagreeable picture on the long service of conscripts. He said:

"We want armies for defense, not for aggression, and military history proves that the highest standard of training makes troops the most serviceable for aggression. If the level is set at some absurd figure like ten years it is valueless."

Maxim Litvinov, the Russian emissary, interrupted at this point to say:

"If direct proposals are made to the soviet government to reduce the term of military service, independent of what is happening here, will respond willingly, because more than half of the soviet army consists of territorial troops, who are like the Swiss militia. The yearly term of service does not exceed three months' training and one month in subsequent years."

"Canada has abstained from voting for trained reserves," said Dr. Riddell, Canadian delegate. "A compromise should be made, with conscript countries to limit the period of training of reserves."

THE BEST KIND OF PHILANTHROPY.

The other day a reader of THE TRIBUNE raised a question which we suspect has occurred to many minds. He said he could afford to spare a certain sum which he was willing to give for unemployment relief. It so happened that he had contemplated repairs and additions to his house which, if carried out, would make it impossible for him to give to any of the charitable funds now being collected. The question in his mind was what he should do with his money. Should it go for building or to a charity fund?

To that question, we think, there could be but one answer: Make the repairs and alterations, while urging the contractor to employ men of family in need of work wherever possible. If that policy were more widely followed now, the distress in the community would be minimized more promptly than it could be in any other way. The heads of charitable organizations, we think, would echo the judgment despite their awareness of the overwhelming need for relief funds.

The policy of making repairs and modernizing buildings and equipment now is sound as a matter of business as well as of philanthropy. Prices are low and labor is efficient. Business houses can take advantage of an unusual opportunity. Office and factory equipment which is nearing the end of its usefulness, though still serviceable, can be replaced now, when prices are low, at little if any loss, reckoned over a period of years. It was with that idea that THE TRIBUNE recently purchased new office furniture and equipment for its news room. The old furniture would have remained serviceable for a number of years, but two or three years hence prices may well be considerably higher than they now are, and by that time there may be no such pressure of unemployment as now exists.

Many business houses have recognized the opportunity to improve their own equipment while helping to relieve distress. Many more could well afford to do so. Owners of business and residential property who desire to be helpful in the emergency can contribute by undertaking repairs, renovations, and remodelings which will not only enhance the value of their properties but also provide work for the men who need it. The best kind of philanthropy, it cannot be too often repeated, is the kind which makes philanthropy unnecessary.

REFRIGERATOR DRAINS.

The president of the Plumbing Contractors' association suggests a conference about refrigerator drains. In apartment buildings equipped with mechanical refrigeration these drains have no use whatsoever, but owners are still put to considerable expense to install them. The plumbers' union says, in effect, that if the owner will not spend money for needless refrigerator drains he can't hire any union plumbers to install bathtubs. The argument, needless to say, is a powerful one.

It has been suggested that the subject might prove of interest to the grand jury investigating racketeering. Mr. Rupert J. Weber, president of the Plumbing Contractors' association, proposes a conference of architects, journeymen plumbers, plumbing contractors, and the city health department. Such a conference can do no harm, but the absence from the conference table of building owners and renters who are forced to pay for the unnecessary work is not a hopeful circumstance. They are better represented on the grand jury.

Mr. Weber says that the present building code implies the obligation to place drains under refrigerators whether needed or not. This point might more properly be decided by the courts than by the contractors who profit from the unnecessary expenditure. He says that some people are afraid of mechanical refrigerators and insist upon using old fashioned ice boxes, and therefore drains should be placed in the buildings when under construction so that the change may be made easily. Statistics showing the number of such changes which have been demanded and made would be instructive. In the absence of them the argument carries little weight.

Whatever the requirements of the code may be and whatever the desires of tenants may be, the fact is that contractors and the union have consented in some cases to waive the requirement in whole or in part. In other cases, notably that of the Michigan Boulevard Garden apartments, erected by Mr. Julius Rosenwald for colored tenants, strikes have been called to force the owner to make the unnecessary installations. The diversity of procedure is, to say the least, odd. Further explanations are in order.

Unemployment in the building trades is greater, perhaps, than in any other line of business in Chicago. Under the circumstances it is desirable to reduce building costs as much as possible in order to encourage new projects. The installation of unnecessary equipment works in the opposite direction. If it increases the employment of plumbers, and we doubt that it does, it also contributes to the postponement of many undertakings. Any gain enjoyed by plumbers is at the expense of carpenters, masons, electrical workers, plasterers, lathers, and sheet metal workers among others. The practice is as unfair to these workmen as it is to building owners and apartment renters.

ON VICTORIES AND THEIR SPOILS.

The leaders of the Democratic party in Cook county are at Hot Springs, recuperating from the effects of a strenuous political campaign. They are on top of the world at the moment. We suspect they are in danger of walking on hot air.

The Democrats cleaned up a week ago in Cook county for a number of reasons, among the most important of which was widespread dissatisfaction with the quality of Republican administration in local offices. The voters turned to the Democrats in the hope of improvement. If that hope is disappointed, the Democratic victory will have in it little of permanence.

The Democratic party is now in undisputed control of the county board and the sanitary district as well as the more important administrative offices in the county. There will be no fog of divided responsibility for misgovernment to confuse the voters. Likewise, the opportunity for proving aptitude for honest administration has not been equaled in recent history in Chicago. The current elation at Hot Springs might profitably be tempered with the reflection that, if to the victor belongs the spoils, the victory does not belong to the spoilsman.

PALMS UP.

The congressmen from the southwest, led, as usual, by California's delegation, went after a tariff on dates and, as usual, got what they went after. The consequence is that the southwest is now preparing to supply the country with dates. California has a new and lucrative industry.

There is political competence in the southwest. When it comes to enlisting government support for the benefit of that region the congressmen know what is wanted and how to get it. Our corn belt representatives are amateurs. If we had the kind of congressmen grown on the coast we would have had the Illinois waterway a generation ago and it would have been built at federal expense.

Congressmen from the central states, please copy.

AID AND COMFORT TO THE ENEMY.

As the fight on gangland proceeds we are learning more about its leaders than we have ever known before. We are learning who they are, how they look, where they live or hang out, what their affiliations and associations are. Gangland, the underworld, whatever we call it, is ceasing to be a shadowy region where half legendary characters move mysteriously. We are beginning to see it clearly and directly for what it is. Its prosperous inhabitants are being sued for nonpayment of taxes. Others are being brought into court for inquiry as to their means of livelihood or for interrogation in connection with some crime. This represents a substantial advance toward effectual control of the system and its eventual breakup.

Meanwhile we would suggest that we have already reached a stage at which relations with a gangster, however lawful in themselves, are not going to be regarded as leniently as in the past by public opinion. As long as gangsters were able to pass themselves off as individuals of perhaps dubious but not proven bad character, doing a certain amount of business with them, in the normal course, was not subjected to criticism. But there is a point at which the normal relations of landlord and tenant may appear to be virtually harboring a criminal. The acceptance of financial relations may become something uncomfortably resembling moral assistance.

It is unquestionably true that habitual criminals have found life easy in Chicago, as elsewhere, because they have been able to rely upon this make-believe. The time to end it, we think, has arrived. Reputable citizens and business concerns and banks should increase their precautions against having any relations with notorious undesirables and their aids, however lawful those relations in themselves may be. The net should tighten everywhere.

ROOSEVELT ROAD.

For about a mile of its length Roosevelt road divides Oak Park from Berwyn. An agreement was reached among the villages along the road to widen it, but Berwyn meanwhile has changed its mind. According to officials of the Regional Planning association Berwyn now wishes only to resurface but not to widen its half of the street to minimize the expense.

This decision, we may hope, is subject to revision. Much money, time, and effort have been spent in making of Roosevelt road a useful motor highway. A bottleneck through Berwyn will mean the loss of much of that investment.

The widening of Roosevelt road through the suburban zone is particularly important in the absence of a truly modern motor highway, elevated to avoid all cross traffic. Such a road was projected along the North Western right of way, but it is not yet within sight of realization. The need for an elevated highway westward from the city is becoming more apparent daily, but progress may be disappointingly slow and years may elapse before the road is built. Meanwhile Roosevelt road must carry a heavy share of the traffic and it cannot do so adequately if Berwyn fails to cooperate.

Editorial of the Day

JAPAN LOVES BASEBALL.

[Rockford Register-Republic.]

Will the day come when the teams competing for the world's championship represent two nations, instead of one, as at present?

Such a situation is conjured as a result of the rapid progress baseball is making in Japan.

Coach Nelson Norgren of the University of Chicago team which recently made a tour of Japan reports an astonishing increase in public interest in the game since his former visit to that country five years ago. Every youngster, it seemed to him, plays baseball now. The college games have drawn crowds of 70,000 people. They are the country's leading sporting events.

The Japanese teams have improved so rapidly under good coaching and a great amount of practice that the Americans could do no better than break even in sixteen games. Even the prep schools have thoroughly organized baseball leagues.

The Japanese are an ambitious and thorough people in their undertakings. They have taken to baseball with an enthusiasm that has made it their national sport. And this means undoubtedly that they look ahead to the day when they will match wits and skill with America's champions.

CANCER AND ANARCHY.

CANCER has been called cell anarchy. Those who accept this theory say cancer cells do not differ in appearance or form, or even in chemistry, from normal cells of the same type. They are cancer cells because they do not conform to the community or social or biologic laws which should govern them, and by that token they are also characterized as anarchistic. They hog the food supply, they grow and multiply out of relation to the needs, they destroy other cells, and, finally, in some obscure way they pull down the temple on the entire social structure and on themselves as well.

All scientists do not agree with the theory that anarchy lies at the heart of what's wrong in cancer. Sometimes the opposition cites keloid as proof that cell anarchy is not synonymous with cancer. Keloid is not cancer and only rarely does it develop malignancy, and yet there is a considerable degree of anarchy in keloid.

In the natural method of open wound healing there is, first, development of granulation tissue and then growth of scar tissue. This scar tissue multiplies until the open space is filled to the skin level, whereupon epithelium covers it over and scar tissue increase comes to a stop. The wound has healed by scar formation. The scar is visible, but, having accomplished its purpose, it tends to shrink and in rare cases to disappear. If, instead of this course, scar tissue continues to pile up, the result is a keloid.

The writer has just seen a Negro man with a keloid on his neck and face. It looks like a mountain range. It is nearly an inch high, about an inch broad, and is broken up into lobulated masses like individual mountains in a chain.

Keloids are frequently encountered among Negroes. The black skin is peculiarly susceptible to it. In this condition the scar tissue is similar to that responsible for normal healing. It grows in regular arrangement and sequence, but when the time comes to stop it keeps on growing. It is as lawless as a racketeer. And yet we do not think of keloid as cancer. That cancer sometimes develops in a keloid weakens the argument of the opposition somewhat.

NOT SO GOOD.

F. M. D. writes: I had a bad case of insomnia following an auto crash. I finally decided to cure myself. My habits had no regularity. I would spend half the day in bed. I changed this to going to bed regularly at 11 p. m. and getting up without fail at 7 a. m. I would sometimes toss in bed. When this would start I would get out of bed, turn the covers back quietly, air the bed, and then eat a few crackers. Then I would stand quietly until my body was cold, after which I would snuggle down in bed and go to sleep. If this did not work I would get up and read an hour and then go back to bed.

REPLY.

Your plan is a tolerably good one. It worked with you but it can be improved about twenty per cent. Establishing regularity of habits is excellent. But in the balance of your plan there is too much action and too little relaxation.

OLD FOUR IN FIVE AGAIN.

A. B. D. writes: Please advise treatment for bad breath. I have a touch of pyorrhea, but teeth and gums are in fair condition, as I have had them treated. I asked my physician about the bad taste. He said we all have that. I use a perfumed mouth wash, but don't feel sure of myself after a few hours. I am inclined to be constipated unless I take medicine.

REPLY.

It is possible but not probable that your halitosis is due to pyorrhea. Since you take care of your teeth it is probable that your halitosis is due to the digestive condition. Constipation may be a factor. Change your diet. Eat considerable sour milk and foods made from it. Take plenty of lactose or milk sugar.

SECURE JUDGMENT.

Addison, Oct. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you please inform me of the procedure necessary and advisable to garnishee wages on an open account for room and board? The party is of age and the account is of several months' standing. H. W. V.

The first step is to secure a judgment against the debtor, for which purpose you should employ a lawyer.

CONTRACTOR'S SHEDS.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—Next door south of me there is an uncompleted building. Outside of this building the contractor has left toolsheds and other materials. The children of the neighborhood use this for a playground and throw the bricks, etc., around, making it perilous walking, besides being a great nuisance with noise of them hammering on these sheds at all hours. As this is a good residential district, can't the owner of these premises be made to remove all this debris and eliminate this nuisance? H. A.

The owner of the premises on North Ashland avenue has been notified to remove sheds, close up all openings, and place building in a good and safe condition.

CHRISTIAN P. PASCHEN,
Commissioner of Buildings.

FOR STATE LEGISLATION.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Would it be legal for congress and the President to enact a law giving a small salary commonly called a dole to those who are out of employment through no fault of their own? D. A. W.

Congress has only delegated powers. The constitution expressly provides that all other powers are reserved to the states and the people thereof. It is not clear that your subject matter is covered.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MATTER FOR STATE'S ATTORNEY.

Chicago, Oct. 28. [Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Does a case of assault with intent to kill become outlawed, and if so, in what period of time? 2. How will a person go about getting a case of this kind before the jury? J. E. R.

1. Yes, the period is three years.
2. Report the facts to the state's attorney.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

THE WINDS OF ARMISTICE.

Blowing in a bugle rune to summon up today
The young lads, the lost lads that ride a wind like this
To mock in silence-shod parade the term of Armistice!

There's a sad wind, a mad wind slaughter-crazed to tell
Of what it's seen along the Meuse and on to St. Mihiel,
Red sights and dead nights, and scarce the living hear
Of youth that lived another war and died another year,

Ghost lads, the lost lads in long, unseen array

THE SOLICITOR.

"HIRE YOUR SECRETARY," says Dr. Edward Lyman Cornell of Northwestern university, "with the idea of making her your wife." Now if somebody will rise up and say, "And if that is impossible, owing to circumstances, then make her your second wife," there is going to be trouble. Tck, tck, there is certainly going to be a lot of trouble all over the place.

GOOD NEWS of Good Times! 'Rah, 'rah, 'rah, happiness boys, lookit! A man in Kansas City reported to the police he was robbed of $40,000. And a lot of people had commenced to believe that there wasn't that much money in the country.

YOU CAN GET a really swell lot of entertainment from any of the maddened backgammon players and what they style a new game by idly calling it "checker parchesi," which, of course, is what it is. It is really much more fun than playing the darn game.

TOWER TOWN.

What can we see in Tower Town?
Glittering cars that come rolling down,
Filled with finery, powder and pearls,
Men of money and gilded girls,
Hurrying, careless, what do they know
Of that other city, hidden below?

Under the pavements of Tower Town
What can we see if our eyes look down?
Do you tremble at tears? Do you fear to think?
Does cold make you shudder and smoke make you blink?
Do you choke in the grayness watching these others
Here in the homeless cold, your brothers?

Oh, there are warm hearts in Tower Town!
Stop your hurry. Stretch kind hands down!
Give what you can and never shirk,
Help them to warmth and shelter and work,
Till over our city a Voice shall speak:
"Me ye have helped in the hungry and weak."

ANCHUSA.

OUR MR. HENNING has nominated J. Ham Lewis for Vice President in 1932. But, why not J. Hamilton for President? Oh, what a picture, J. Ham's beautiful pink whiskers against the white of the White House. Ah, there indeed is a picture no artist can paint.

THE EMINENT Mr. Terry Druggan was announced by all the afternoon papers yesterday as being almost on the verge of surrendering himself into the custody of old John Law. But, why all the cheering? They get Mr. Druggan often enough, but the question is how to persuade him to remain in custody. Oh, Mr. Druggan, do please be reasonable; that's a dear; and when you are provided with a comfortable cell and a nice jail and plenty of locks and bars, do stop walking out all the time. Now, please.

AND WE CAN THINK UP A LOT MORE.

Yessir, they certainly ought to make autoists get a license. A dear little child is always a dear little child, but when it sits in the driving seat of a car twisting the wheel this way and that, oh, darling, come here and get a nice spanking. And the richly dressed lady who learned to drive in just one lesson and can do everything but turn right and left in traffic, stop and back. Spank, spank, some more. And the moron who loves to pretend there is no one on the road but himself and flies past at 70 or 80 miles the hour. Spank, spank, spank hardest of all.

ARMISTICE DAY.

Face to the East! It seems a grim jest,
For this is to honor the lads who "went West."
Face to the East! Stop the traffic and noise;
The moment is sacred, it belongs to the boys.
Face to the East! Banker, farmer, and clerk,
Every rank, all conditions, stop both play and work!
Face to the East! This moment's for them,
Our gay laughing boys who died, aye, like men.
Face to the East! and murmur a prayer
For the lads who forever have gone "Over There."
Face to the East! While Mem'ry enwraps
Her dear arms around us. Now, Bugler, sound "taps."

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 11, 1914.

LONDON.—It is officially announced that Carl Hans Lody, alias Charles A. Inglis, who was found guilty by a court martial of espionage on Nov. 2, has been shot as a spy. Lody met his death in the Tower of London. It was the first execution in the Tower of London since 1700. The scene was the towec barracks not far from the spot where Anne Boleyn and other persons famous in English history were put to death. Lody formerly was a lieutenant in the German army and posed as an American.

PETROGRAD.—Naval headquarters reported the sinking of four Turkish transports. The report says: "We rescued and took prisoners 248 men. Several of them were German officers. The prisoners declared transports were making for Unier, whence they were to transport troops to Trebizond."

BERLIN.—It is officially reported that after two days of heavy fighting on the Caucasian frontier the Turkish troops have completely defeated the Russian army and captured the Russian positions.

LONDON.—The admiralty announced two naval successes of the utmost importance to Great Britain and its allies. The first was the destruction of the German cruiser Emden, which was burned after a severe engagement with the Australian cruiser Sydney in the Cocos group of islands southwest of Java in the Indian ocean. The destruction of the Emden ends the career of a sea raider which has been without parallel since the famous Alabama of the Confederate states was roaming the ocean during the civil war in America. The other victory was the bottling up of the German cruiser Koenigsberg near Mafia island on the coast of German East Africa.

NOVEMBER 11, 1900.

HALIFAX.—The steamer Monticello, a coast trade vessel, was wrecked on the rocks at the entrance to the Bay of Fundy, four miles from Yarmouth, and of the 50 people aboard 46 were drowned.

NEW YORK.—Mark Twain, honor guest at an elaborate dinner given by the Lotus club, caused a deal of worry before he appeared. When the American humorist failed to keep his appointment President Frank R. Lawrence of the club called him up by phone. Mr. Clemens explained that the dinner had slipped his memory and suggested the name of the club as perhaps explaining the mental slip.

NEW YORK.—Robert Graham Dun, senior member of the firm of R. G. Dun & Co., died at his home, 261 Madison avenue, of cirrhosis of the liver. He was 74 years old.

CHICAGO.—P. Louter Wessels, the United States special envoy of the South African Republic, in an address before the Chicago Transvaal league at Schiller hall, declared that England is not waging war against the Boers, but wholesale slaughter. He charged that Lord Roberts, the British commander, is suppressing the facts concerning the British situation and the outrages of his troops in the Transvaal.

NOVEMBER 11, 1880.

NEW YORK.—Samuel S. Morey and Robert Lindsey, accused of perjury in swearing to personal knowledge of the existence of H. L. Morey of Lynn, Mass., the man to whom the forged Chinese letter was claimed to have been addressed by Gen. Garfield, confessed they had perjured themselves. Both said they were brought to this city for the expressed purpose of swearing to a falsehood and gave the names of Democratic "statesmen" who induced them to perjure themselves. Morey admitted that he had been paid $150 by the Democratic national committee.

NEW YORK.—It is reported on good authority that Jay Gould and his clique recently borrowed $30,000,000 from the city banks and capitalists on six months' to a year's time, and then loaned it on call, thus virtually placing themselves in a position to create a panic at any moment they chose to call in their loans.

VIENNA.—Mgr. Vanuitti has been appointed papal nuncio.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

FIFTEEN AGAINST PURDUE.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—As in the last four years Purdue has been compelled to play against a fifteen man U. of Chicago football team, the eleven regular players plus the referee, umpire, field judge, and head linesman. Having witnessed the last five Purdue-Chicago games, I know what I'm talking about. Any reasonable man will agree that when Purdue is penalized as much at Chicago as they are all the rest of the season, and when this happens year after year, it can hardly be called a coincidence.

For instance, during the third quarter this afternoon when Risk was downed on Chicago's two yard line and Knudson jumped on him after the whistle had blown, was Chicago penalized? Certainly not. Purdue got a fifteen yard penalty—for what reason, no one knows—possibly for having the temerity to threaten Chicago's goal.

ALLEN SCHROD.

DEAD BIRDS IN THE SKOKIE.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—I have noted the article by Glen Buck stating that birds are dying by the hundreds in the Skokie marsh, due, as he says, to poisonous oil mixture spread on the water to kill mosquito larvæ.

This is exactly what was predicted by the writer when our health commissioner a few months ago recommended spraying ponds, etc., with poison. It is a senseless procedure to exterminate larvæ by a poisonous spray. Our birds are killed, and all enemies of the mosquito such as frogs, dragon flies, etc., are also destroyed. The poisoned oil flows into our streams and saturates the shore lines to the injury of our shore birds. On the surface of the stream it plays havoc with our water game birds. It kills all vegetation and the fish that are needed to take care of the mosquito larvæ.

What then shall be done? Dredge a few fairly deep lakes in the marsh lands and drain the marshes into these. Fish will then take care of all mosquito breeding; in other words, a system of draining instead of a life killing policy of poisonous spray. This method is supplanting spraying in some of our eastern states. R. E. WAGNER.

A LONG WAY TO SCHOOL.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Being the mother of one of the 150 seventh and eighth grade children to be transferred from the Goudy school at Foster avenue and Winthrop avenue to the Amundsen Junior High school at Damen and Foster avenues, I am very much surprised that the city does not furnish some means of conveyance. A great number of the children, including my own, will be compelled to board three street cars to and from school. Walking will be too far, especially in bad weather. Appeals have been made to the board of education and to several bus companies without making any satisfactory arrangements.

MRS. B. LUNKER.

MICE AND MEN.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—I notice "Adult" complaining because at the movies he is compelled to sit through silly mouse cartoons, community singing, and what not while he is waiting for the feature picture. I was confronted with the same problem but have solved it. I telephone in advance and ascertain the time of the beginning of the feature. I arrive accordingly and leave at the end of the picture. J. C. F.

INCONSISTENT VOTING.

Maywood, Ill., Nov. 8.—The voting public is strangely inconsistent when it comes to matters of taxation. Here at the last election a majority of those who condescended to vote on the matter at all voted enthusiastically against the proposal to amend the taxation article of the state constitution, with the idea in mind, most probably, that by so doing they would keep their taxes down. Yet in the same breath they voted with equal enthusiasm for bond projects totaling many millions. These bond projects are all probably very worthy and desirable, yet they have to be paid for by additional taxes. Did the people who voted for them realize that? Did they also realize what they were voting against when they voted down the tax amendment? On what will these additional taxes be levied? Well, the only thing available under the present constitution is real estate, so on real estate it must go. What individuals will pay for it? It will be the owners of the real estate, who in turn pass it on in increased rentals to their tenants, if they are big enough owners to have tenants. That means that the average man, whose income is $5,000 or less per year, will stand most of the taxation cost, while the big income people, such as the manufacturers, merchants and the like, whose incomes are derived largely from nonrealty sources, will pay very little of the cost, although their wealth represents about one-half the wealth of the state.

O. QUICK.

BORAH AND NORRIS VOTE DRY.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—In your editorial today you blamed prohibition, radicalism, and pacifism within the Republican ranks for the party's defeat. You have always attempted to combine these issues in the minds of the people. You have used the compound words "dry-radical," or "dry-pacifist." The intelligent thinkers of today, men with progressive, or what you would call socialistic, tendencies have always ridiculed prohibition. Radicalism has nothing to do with dry bigotry, and you know it. Borah, Norris, and La Follette carried their states. These men have more intelligence than your Scrutator, who hawks every day on the financial page: "Don't let the government curb the big corporations and public utilities or they'll lose their ambition and stop making money, and then you'll see how the people will suffer."

The G. O. P. may have been rotten with dry rot, bigotry, and Wall street, but certainly not with intelligent progressiveness, and the voters showed they knew it. A. K.

SCORING METHODS.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The Illinois boxing commission should inform the public how the judges and referees are instructed in determining the points scored by each fighter. They should state how many points are given a boxer who swings hard, but misses by two feet; how many points are earned when his arms are tied in a clinch; how many points for shoving his opponent against the ropes while in a clinch; how many points are allowed for a blow that lands on the arms or elbows; how many points are deducted from a boxer's score for hitting his opponent ten times while receiving only one blow in return and that blow landing on either his arms or elbows.

INCONSISTENT VOTING.

Maywood, Ill., Nov. 5.—The voting ublic is strangely inconsistent when it mes to matters of taxation. Here at last election a majority of those o condescended to vote on the mat- at all voted enthusiastically against proposal to amend the taxation ar- le of the state constitution, with the in mind, most probably, that by doing they would keep their taxes wn. Yet in the same breath they ted with equal enthusiasm for bond ojects totaling many millions. These ed projects are all probably very rthy and desirable, yet they have to paid for by additional taxes. Did people who voted for them realize t? Did they also realize what they re voting against when they voted wn the tax amendment? On what these additional taxes be levied? ll, the only thing available under present constitution is real estate, on real estate it must go. What tividuals will pay for it? It will be owners of the real estate, who in pass it on in increased rentals to r tenants, if they are big enough nore to have tenants. That means t the average man, whose income is 00 or less per year, will stand most the taxation cost, while the big in- e people, such as the manufacturers rchants and the like, whose income derived largely from nonrealty rces, will pay very little of the cost, hough their wealth represents about -half the wealth of the state.

FACING EAST

WHEN the World War ended with the Armistice, November 11, 1918, there was fixed a date certain to be henceforth memorable in human history. As the years pass the commemoration of that date reminds us of sentiments which are best symbolized by reverent silence —the world's most solemn moment.

By universal consent that moment is sacred to the memory of those who, in the great crisis, gave their all that civilization might be preserved. Sincere faith in eternal justice will feelingly believe that in the Great Somewhere there will be full compensation for their priceless service to the well-being of mankind.

But in that moment of silence an honor higher than memory or faith is the solemn determination, universally felt, that their sacrifice shall not have been in vain: that henceforth, by the organized will of humanity, right shall be the master of might; that those who prosper beneath the flag shall do their part to uphold it; that the forces of law and order shall be adequately prepared to resist disintegrating forces within and without; and that our relationship with other nations shall be such as to insure honor, independence, peace and good will, and the preservation of the sovereign rights of a free and peace-abiding people.

New Devices on Display at Business Show.

Probably it's a good thing for office efficiency that the electric typewriter made its bow before stenographers in general found out, as they were doing yesterday at the rate of several score an hour, how much effort goes into tapping keys each working day. Scientific tests made at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, it was being pointed out at the National Business show at the Stevens hotel, proved that the work required to write an average business letter is the equivalent of lifting 1,400 pounds the distance of a key stroke, or five-eighths of an inch.

Office workers and commercial students by the hundreds crowded the exhibition hall in the hotel basement, where modern mechanisms are putting to shame the labor saving devices that were wonders only a decade ago. Of them all the motorized typewriter claimed the most consistent attention, with plenty of rivalry from the mammoth electric adressograph, a "telecord," which when attached to a telephone automatically makes a dictaphone record of the conversation, and the superautomatic calculating machine, which adds, divides, and multiplies up to one million billions.

Machines for Business.

"More machines of importance to American business have been developed in the last two years," said Frank E. Tupper, managing director of the show, "than in the previous ten years. And there are things being developed in the laboratories of some of the manufacturers that will make a lot of the equipment at this show look antiquated in a few years."

By attaching an electric motor to the typewriter, 90 per cent of the effort involved in typing is saved, it is claimed. The keys register at the lightest touch and give a more even impression; the carriage return is automatic, as are the spacing and all other operations. The greater speed possible through this medium increases production from 30 to 50 per cent, with less fatigue to the typist.

A variation of the motorized typewriter, used for form letters, needs only the insertion of the name of the addressee at the top, before the machine types the form letter automatically, by means of a stencil that resembles a roll used in a mechanical piano.

Pedals Do the Work.

Dictaphone operators have only to "put their foot down" to keep their hands free for typing and to start, stop, or backspace the dictaphone record. The pedals are provided for the work formerly done by hand. Tone volume of the voice on each record is increased or diminished at will by turning a screw, similar to tuning in on a radio.

If any one needs more than one language to express his ideas, there is now available for his use a typewriter that writes in 40 languages. One changes the form of the type simply by slipping on and off a language plate and turning a screw.

The "skyscraper" desk of fireproof construction appeals especially to the stenographers and secretaries whose silk hose are forever being ripped by projecting splinters or screws on wooden desks. None but rounded surfaces are discernible about it. Its principal virtue, however, lies in the adaptability of its drawers for incoming and outgoing mail trays, alphabetical correspondence and card indices, and even for a removable waste paper basket.

Ottawa Golf Club Burns; Loss Estimated at $125,000

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The Royal Ottawa Golf club, near here, was burned to the ground today with a loss estimated by officials at $125,000. Gov. Gen. Willingdon, Sir George Perley, acting prime minister, and Lady Perley were at luncheon when the fire broke out in an attic. They were forced to make a hasty exit.

HOLDS FILIPINO FARMS ARE KEY TO INDEPENDENCE

New Crops Needed Before Break.

A new economic orientation to bring about eventual independence for the Philippines is proposed by Vicente Villamin, prominent Filipino attorney and economist of New York, who visited in Chicago for a short time yesterday. Mr. Villamin is strongly opposed to immediate independence, which, he said, would mean not only disaster to the islands but dishonor to the United States.

His plan is to stop expansion of important Philippine industries, such as sugar and coacoanut oil, which have the protection of the American tariff, and to substitute a new economic foundation based upon the development of nonprotected and noncompetitive industries, such as camphor, quinine, and rubber.

Urges Time for Adjustment.

In this way the Philippine economic structure would not be dependent upon a duty free tariff, he pointed out, and would be self sustaining.

"Common sense dictates there should be sufficient time for readjustment," said Attorney Villamin. "A definite condition now exists, and the way out of it is a gradual change to a new condition that will make for eventual independence with economic stability. In other words, a condition should be brought about where America can grant independence to the Philippines without being inconsiderate regarding the welfare of the Filipinos."

To grant immediate independence, according to the economist, would be to remove the duty-free tariff protection which is the lifeblood of the Philippines.

Sees Ruin in Early Action.

This would mean, he said, the destruction of business and the collapse of the economic structure. The sequel, he pointed out, would be social retrogression and political disintegration, the sacrifice of human liberty for political liberty. It would mean disaster to the Philippines and dishonor to America, he added.

Mr. Villamin said that his proposal for a gradual economic orientation would meet the complaint of American farmers against Philippine commercial competition, diversify Philippine agricultural production, give the islands time to locate markets other than America, give the Filipinos adequate opportunity for readjustment and preparation, and enable them to separate eventually from the United States as painlessly as possible.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(Adv.)

Professional Women Hear Congresswoman Owen.

Not as a congresswoman who follows the footsteps of her father, the late William Jenning Bryan, did Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen address the Alliance of Business and Professional Women of Chicago last night at the Chicago Woman's club.

Mrs. Owen, on the eve of Armistice day, spoke as a former war nurse who had seen service in the near east and who had learned by that experience that "the nations must sometime find a way for international peace."

Mrs. Owen told of her travels in the near east when her late husband, Maj. Reginald Owen, was with the Dardanelles expedition. She told of the career of Col. T. E. Lawrence, the "uncrowned king of Arabia," whom she met during his campaign against the Turks, which led to the capture of Jerusalem for the allies.

Tells About "Uncrowned King."

"Col. Lawrence, then about 24 years old, looked like a college freshman as he rode at the head of his Arabs," she said. "Many people could scarcely believe that he was the 'uncrowned king,' so youthful did he appear. But he received the highest homage from the Arabian chieftains, even to wearing the diamond over one eye which distinguished him as an honorary descendant of Mohammed.

"I can see him now, with his golden brown robe and white cloth over his head, the silken sash and the dagger at his belt. He had just come back after having captured Damascus. It seems strange that while he was making his march on Jerusalem the world was not watching, although it was such an important part of the war—winning Palestine back. But every one's eyes were then on France as the battleground."

One of the hopeful signs in the world today, Mrs. Owen declared, is that the will of women has a stronger influence on public opinion.

Urges End of Wars.

"Women are beginning to say, 'Why can't the diplomats sit around a table before the battle instead of afterward?'" Mrs. Owen said. "We cannot have a civilized community and let people fight out their quarrels. It should be possible for the nations some time to find a way for international peace.

"That hope lies in our army of clear eyed youth. It is natural that youth will not have the same perspective as those who have gone before. We can say to our youth that the problem of war must be solved."

RAILWAY TO TRY THREE FARE PLAN TO BOOST TRAVEL

The continental system of rail travel—three classes of accommodations and three fares—will be tried for six months by the Santa Fe and Western Pacific railroads, beginning Jan. 1, the lines announced yesterday. The announcement was made by Traffic Manager W. J. Black of the Santa Fe.

The move is made to stimulate travel between Chicago and the territory served by the roads—Missouri, Arizona, and California. The rates are divided as follows:

1. Tickets at existing fares, good in standard sleeping cars on all trains.
2. One way tourist fares, about 20 per cent less than existing fares and good in tourist sleeping cars, but not standard sleepers.
3. One way coach fares, about 20 per cent less than touring sleeping car fares and good only in coaches and chair cars.

It was explained by a representative of the lines that "tourist" sleepers differ from the standard pullman only in point of age and in recent improvements. They have, essentially, the same accommodations as the newer sleepers, it was said.

GERMANY CUTS FOOD PRICES TO CALM WORKERS

Seek Cheaper Staples to Meet Wage Cuts.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Shots were exchanged by the Reds and the police in front of the communistic headquarters in Bueloewplatz this afternoon, where crowds were demonstrating violently against the suspension of Die Rote Fahne and the Angriff, communist and Fascist organs.

A score of persons were arrested and policemen were injured by a volley of stones from a side street in Bueloewplatz. It is believed that quite a number of communists also were injured but carried from the scene by their friends.

Cuts to Stave Discontent.

In view of the steadily mounting discontent the cabinet of Chancellor Heinrich Bruening is rushing negotiations for the reduction in the price of staple foods such as bread, meat and milk. The cabinet was able to announce its first victory today with a statement that on Nov. 13 the price of bread in Berlin will be reduced by eight per cent. Two and one-half pounds of the cheapest bread is to cost 11 cents.

With similar cuts in the price of milk and all meat, except beef, the government hopes to reduce the cost of necessary food to a minimum, enough to justify the general reduction of wages which in turn will enable industry to throw its goods on the market at cheaper prices and increase exports.

Fight Middleman.

Cabinet members conferring with the chiefs of the baking industry convinced them of the necessity of cutting out the go betweens who systematically increase the cost of all foods by inserting themselves in great numbers between the farmer and the wholesaler working for the urban retailer.

The government's chief goal, Minister of Agriculture Martin Schiele explained in an interview, is "to reestablish the proper relationship between the price the farmer gets for his product and that he must pay for the industrial product he needs. The prices of industry are inflated partly because the industrial worker is paying an inflated price for food which the farmer sold cheap."

The reduction in the price of bread alone means a saving of $2,500,000 to Berlin citizens. The government is confident that the reduction movement will spread over the whole country, but the old timers, who remember the efforts of the former kaiser in wartime to control the food supplies and regulate prices, do not share in this optimism. They also point to the present exorbitant taxation and high freight rates, factors which are bound to keep the price of staple foods far above the normal level.

WARNS GERMANY WILL REPUDIATE YOUNG DEBT PLAN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, predicted today that investors in German reparations bonds "will never see their money again." He also forecast repudiation of the Young reparations plan by Germany within the next eighteen months.

The former ambassador, in Washington to attend the convention of the American Manganese Producers' association, enunciated his views regarding the European financial situation at the White House, where he had called to pay his respects to President Hoover.

Skeptical About Europe.

Mr. Gerard, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, gained newspaper publicity on Aug. 21, when he made public a list of 59 men who, he said, controlled the United States.

Throughout his discussion of the reparations question with newspaper men, Mr. Gerard was skeptical regarding the amount of money which the United States ever would collect from its world war allies. He laughed when asked about the value of German reparations bonds sent to the United States for sale. Most of these bonds, he said, still repose in the vaults of the banks who agreed to handle them.

"Those people who buy German reparations bonds never will see their money again," he said. "You don't suppose that the young people of Germany now growing up will come in every year with a bag of gold over their shoulders, like the captains of an Assyrian bark."

Will Effect World.

Mr. Gerard predicted further that the repudiation of the Young plan would have its effects all over the world and particularly on the debtors of the United States. He said that as soon as Germany stops paying, the countries owing the United States huge war debts and who are now counting on reparations payments would begin to seek relief in earnest.

LAW BEATS BAD MAN OF THE OLD WEST TO DRAW

Belle Fourche, S. D., Nov. 10.—(AP)—True to the best traditions of the bad men of the old west, Wayne Kelley, ex-convict and cattle rustler, died with his boots on.

Facing the rifles of a sheriff's posse, Kelley, who had spread the word through the sparsely inhabited northwest range country that he never would be taken alive, reached for his gun and a few seconds later lay dead, the victim of a deputy sheriff's accurate aim.

Real Life Movie Thriller.

The story of the "fade out" of a real life movie thriller was brought to Belle Fourche today by the officers who finally had trapped Kelley Saturday morning at a Butte county ranch, climaxing a search of several months through the range lands of South Dakota and Montana. A companion named Horton was arrested.

Officials who are trying to cope with the problem created by the transition of cattle rustling methods from the horseback "roundups" of cowboy days to the use of trucks believe Kelley's death may break up a gang of outlaws.

The old time cattle rustlers, authorities pointed out, rode the plains at night, driving herds of cattle before them. It took days to reach a market where they dared sell the stolen animals.

The modern rustlers, under cover of darkness drive their trucks into a herd of cattle, round up as many as the truck will hold, and rush them to market.

Hiding in Ranch Barn.

Kelley had been sought since last spring when he escaped from the jail at Faith, where he was held on a rustling charge. Sheriff B. F. Long told officers Kelley was hiding at a ranch near Reva, where there are no railroads and few inhabitants. A posse hid in a barn on the ranch Friday night and in the morning ordered Kelley and Horton to surrender.

Horton complied, but Kelley reached for his gun. Deputy Sheriff William Short fired with his rifle and Kelley fell dead.

N. U. AND BADGERS TO CLASH IN PASSING DUEL

HUNTERS' ARMY INVADES FARMS FOR PHEASANTS

Few Are Molested by Game Wardens.

BY BOB BECKER.

Putting rings of shot around the ringneck pheasants, a motorized army of hunters charged through Chicagoland yesterday when the Illinois game code permitted the hunting of pheasants, rabbits and quail in this state.

Thousands of brown clad gunners armed with shotguns of all kinds of gauges rushed to their favorite hunting grounds before dawn to march through the fields and get the first shot at birds. Throughout the day the hunters could be seen along the highways leading out of Chicago. They invaded private property without permission. Game wardens gave them little bother. Some hunters began the shooting on Saturday, two days ahead of the prescribed time.

Fifty Arrested in Preserve.

But some of the first day's army of hunters encountered difficulties. Fifty of the nimrods who ventured into the forest preserves, where no hunting is allowed, were arrested and their guns confiscated, although no fines were imposed.

Between 25 and 50 arrests were made by state conservation department wardens operating in this neck of the woods. The majority of these offenders disregarded the provision in the game code which protects hen pheasants. Others were arrested for trespassing on private grounds or for hunting without a license.

Sheriff John E. Traeger said the county highway police would not be expected to assist farmers and conservation wardens in enforcing the game laws during the present season. He said that county policemen could not be taken from their highway and traffic duties to aid the wardens. So the owners of farms and woods had little protection.

Few Violations in Lake.

Deputy Game Warden Henry Kearn of Lake county reported fewer violations in his territory this year than last. Within the last two days, he said, sixteen offenders have been arrested. Eleven of these paid their fines, while the other five, unable to pay, are being held. Their offenses included shooting hen pheasants, trespassing and hunting without licenses. The majority of them were arrested on the estates of Otto Lehman at Lake Villa and Thomas E. Wilson near Waukegan.

One hunter who disregarded the warning concerning Hungarian partridges was arrested by a county constable at Des Plaines. There is no open season on these imported birds, a number of which have been released throughout the central states recently.

Twenty-four arrests were reported by village police in Markham, southwest of the city. Six of these were arrested for hunting without the consent of land owners. All were held in bond. Their cases will come up today.

According to the Illinois game code, any person apprehended with a partridge in his possession shall be fined not less than $25 and not more than $100. The same holds for killing a hen pheasant. The court can consider each contraband bird as a separate offense. Two cock pheasants can be taken each day and not more than six may be in a hunter's possession.

Shotgun Army Large.

Although the opening day came on a week day, the number of shotgun enthusiasts eager to collect their bag of two cock pheasants was only slightly smaller than the number which swarmed into the country last year on a Sunday.

Driving through Wheeling and west toward Barrington at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, we counted dozens of hunters close to the concrete roads laboriously plowing through the tall weeds to rout the fast running ringnecks. Most of these parties were using the tramp and crash method to rout their birds. They pushed through the field, and presented a noisy armed front which usually flushed the pheasants.

A gray Indian summer was creeping over the rolling country west of Barrington when we joined one of these moving lines of gunners at 3 o'clock in the afternoon on the farm of Floyd L. Bateman, about five miles west of Barrington. We had two dogs run the ends for the group. On the left Paul C. Harper and G. N. Buffington walked behind Kitty, a Labrador retriever. Forming the center and right wing of this line were Charles Aspinwall of Barrington, Floyd L. Bateman, Roy C. Griswold of Chicago, and Jack, our springer spaniel. In less than three minutes this battery of guns and sticklights delivered a volley when a cock pheasant flushed and was dropped by a quick shot.

Guns Boom Over Marshes.

From then on the marsh resounded to the boom of 12 gauge guns and the whir of pheasant wings as hen pheasants roared away to safety and gaudy cock birds dropped to the crack of the guns. Birds were found in the weed patches, around willow thickets and in cornfields.

The season on pheasants ends Saturday, so hunters have five more days to mix with these game birds.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Five teams of riders in the bike race at the Chicago Stadium certainly will be in bad with the business agent of their union when he learns of the shameless way they overworked themselves last night to entertain 12,000 customers.

You never saw such lack of restraint as that which was displayed by the riders in four hours of continuous jamming—riding which put Debaets and Belloni in a tie with Georgetti and Brocardo for the lead at midnight. McNamara and Beckman, who had trailed in thirteenth place at the start of the evening's entertainment, went into second place in mileage, but the tie was shared a few minutes later by Letournier and Guimbretiere, former leaders, when the latter lapped the field.

French Team Provides Thrills.

In a jam shortly after 11 o'clock Richill and Buschenhagen and Spencer and Hill improved their positions so that they were in a mileage tie for fourth place.

While they fluctuated considerably during the evening, the French Red Devil team of Letourner and Guimbretiere continued to thrill the spectators.

Debaets and Belloni, winners of the last New York race, and Georgetti and Brocardo also took desperate chances. Debaets, the Belgium star, was especially desperate.

There were 12 major spills during the evening, and Debaets was in three of them. In one he was saved by a trainer from what might have been fatal injury.

In the hours between 7 o'clock and 11 no fewer than 129 laps were stolen, to bring the total for the two nights to 190.

More Fuel for Fued.

The overtaking of Letourner by Brocardo caused great excitement to those who have been observing the fued between the two. But maybe you haven't heard about the fued.

The bicycle folks never have relied much upon the old grudge smokeup, so well known in boxing, wrestling, hockey, and some other sports, but Prof. Harry Mendel, director of public relations of the cycling profession, has been sending out millions of words to eastern bike centers concerning the fued that exists between Letourner and Brocardo.

It is a positive fact that Letourner and Brocardo formerly were riding partners. We have seen them ride together. From this point we must take the word of Prof. Mendel, the one professor of our acquaintance who never votes "No." But to go on with the story. Letourner and Brocardo always were billed as the French Red Devil team, a legitimate billing because Brocardo, though born in Italy, is a naturalized Frenchman.

Moved by Carnera's Success.

Well, it seems there was a big fellow named Primo Carnera, who came to this country and made many thousands of dollars because Italian gentlemen and others would pay money to see him push men wearing boxing gloves into the tank.

Now Carnera, like Brocardo, was a resident of France before coming to this country, and, as we've said before, Brocardo rode as a Frenchman until he heard Carnera being cheered by Italians. So Brocardo, taking a leaf from Primo's manual, resumed his love for sunny Italy.

Balk Coach's 2d Wedding to 3d Wife

Kahoka, Mo., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Charles R. Brookins, dismissed as assistant track coach at the University of Iowa after he was charged with bigamy in Iowa City, was refused a license to rewed Miss Dorothy Coby at least twice today.

CHARLEY BROOKINS.

First at Rock Island, Ill., and five hours later at the courthouse here, Cupid's clerks told him to seek a permit elsewhere.

Brookins first married Miss Coby at Aledo, Ill., Oct. 31, less than two months after he had married Mrs. Ethel Held. Both women are former stenographers at the Hawkeye athletic department.

These two events caused E. H. Lauer, Iowa athletic director, to discharge Brookins, who as an Iowa student set the world's record for the 200 yard low hurdles.

Mrs. Held was granted a divorce Saturday at Nevada, Ia., and Brookins announced he would rewed Miss Coby. At Rock Island, however, he was told he could not obtain a marriage license in Illinois without written permission from the judge who granted the divorce. Missouri laws, he was informed in Rock Island, probably were such that he could remarry there, but the clerk here refused his request for a license.

Brookins left after the refusal and did not reveal his next destination. The Iowa coach was married once before he ran into the present difficulty. His first wife was granted a divorce three years ago.

GREAT SHIRES WEDS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Arthur ["The Great"] Shires, chesty first baseman of the Washington American league baseball club, was married to Miss Elizabeth Greenabaum, former University of Wisconsin co-ed, at the county courthouse today.

"Now I've got a wife I'll need more money. Guess I'll have to be a holdout next spring," the talkative Art said after Judge Hugh Crawford had performed the ceremony. Shires gave his age as 23 and his bride's as 18.

"This is just batting practice," Shires told reporters. "There will have to be a church wedding later, although I'd rather face Lefty Grove than do this over again."

The couple did not reveal where they will spend their honeymoon. Shires is under contract to appear in the movies this winter. He had announced plans for being married at dawn this morning before movie cameras at a film studio, but the arrangements were altered.

Percival let it be known the arrangement had been contingent upon a gift of $1,000 to the bride assertedly for being married before the studio sets.

"He (the film executive)," Percival stated, "told Shires there wouldn't be any cash forthcoming—only a lot of film publicity."

So reporters and camera men who had hung on the heels of film officials sat on the courthouse steps several hours. Then Shires and the wedding party called for the license.

SAVOLDI SEEKS ANNULMENT.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Joe Savoldi, Notre Dame football star, today admitted he was a married man, but insisted he had not lived with his wife, the former Audrey Koehler of South Bend.

"It was a mistake I realized as soon as the marriage ceremony was performed," Savoldi said, "and I will get the marriage annulled as soon as possible."

The marriage ceremony was performed by a justice of peace April 3, 1929.

"Savoldi is just a big, good hearted kid and made a mistake," Coach Knute Rockne said. "He told me he had not seen Miss Koehler since they were married."

'TUNNEY FORSOOK HIS PALS,' MARA ATTORNEY SAYS

Concludes Testimony in $500,000 Suit.

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Gene Tunney, the boxer who climbed from a Greenwich village boyhood to a brief stay in the social register, today heard a summing up of Tim Mara's suit against him for nearly $500,000.

"Gene Tunney walked to glory over the prostrate bodies of his friends," said Martin W. Littleton, Mara's lawyer.

The attorney pictured the former heavyweight champion as using his new prominence to shake off the associates of his prechampionship days. The first thing he did, Littleton said, was to repudiate his agreement with Mara.

Discusses Gibson Contract.

Then, three months after he had defeated Jack Dempsey, he turned his attention, the lawyer asserted, to Billy Gibson. Gibson, his manager during his climb toward the heavyweight throne, had his percentage of Tunney's earnings clipped from 33 1-3 per cent to 15.

Gibson's original contract with Tunney expired April 1, 1926. From that time until Jan. 1, 1927, he had no contract. When Tunney did enter into a new agreement with him for 1927 and 1928 Gibson's original percentage was reduced more than half.

Mr. Littleton spoke ironically of Tunney's claim that Mara was to get his money only if the championship fight was held in New York. He charged that it was an afterthought of the defense, a pure invention to offset the claim.

"When this suit was filed by Mara in December, 1926, Tunney had retained Dudley Field Malone as his lawyer," said Littleton. "Mr. Malone is a great court advocate, but I think it was blandishment of his Paris reputation and the sparkling glamour of Europe that attracted Tunney. I have only admiration for the impetuosity of Mr. Malone's untrammeled spirit, but the fact remains that the first answer to Mara's action was an absurd general denial.

Tunney Called a Sucker.

"They even denied there had been a fight and that Dempsey had been defeated. It was not until three years later that in an amended answer the defense thought of this cock and bull story of the match having to be held in New York."

Mr. Littleton was like that during most of his summing up. It was a lyrical presentation of Mara's idea of the case and laid most of the attention on the famous June 6 letter, in which Tunney assured the promoter that he would get his cut.

Earlier in the day Tunney heard himself described as a "sucker" by Emory R. Buckner, his own lawyer, in his summation of the ex-champion's defense.

"Tunney had been impressed with the importance of getting Mara's help and the danger of incurring his opposition in the campaign to induce the boxing authorities to allow a Dempsey-Tunney fight in New York state," said Mr. Buckner.

"Of course Tunney overestimated Mara's political influence. He was just a sucker, one of many who are convinced that a person enjoys influence with prominent politicians merely because they tolerate such a person's presence."

Mara Takes Stand.

Before the summations started Mara, an ex-bookmaker, struck a farewell blow in his fight for the $500,000 purse by going down the line with Tunney's testimony and denying its truth in wholesale lots.

Mara not only contradicted the testimony of Carruthers and Mrs. Rose Salzberg, his stenographer, but denied that he had accompanied Gibson to Carruther's office. Mara denied that he had had an understanding with Gibson, as Tunney testified his manager had reported to him, that "there was to be nothing doing" on Mara's contract with Tunney if a Dempsey-Tunney fight were staged elsewhere than in New York.

The case will go to the jury tomorrow morning after Justice Peter A. Hastings' charge.

Tilden Lives in Glass House, but Hurls Rocks at Coaches

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—There was some humor in the report of the Pennsylvania alumni committee, condemning the football coaches, for imposing on their sporting reputations, largely earned by the athletes who serve under them, to pick u pincidental money.

BILL TILDEN.

One of the signatories to this indignant document was William T. Tilden, the great tennis player. It happens that I have seen Mr. Tilden's name and face writ large upon the advertisements on behalf of a brand of merchandise, have seen articles in the press given under his name, and have read of his occasional forays into the drama.

My memory, like Gene Tunney's, is fallible and I trust that Mr. Tilden will forgive me if I err, but I think the article of merchandise with which his name and countenance were so boldly associated at a time when he was prominent as a tennis player was a brand of cigarets. Yet, I can hardly believe my recollection as to this detail, because only last summer his old friend and doubles partner, Mr. Francis T. Hunter, assured me that William was not a smoker.

Something's Wrong.

Somewhere, something must be wrong. Either the article of commerce to which Mr. Tilden subscribed his name and photograph was something else or Mr. Hunter was mistaken. At any rate I am sure that I have seen Mr. Tilden's indorsements in the ads and, although he was billed there as an actor of note, there are sure to be those who will take exception to this, whereas nobody would every deny that he was a celebrated tennis player.

Testimonials, syndicated articles, and public appearances are the three principal activities to which the football coaches resort for their pickings or incidental money. Perhaps Mr. Tilden gave his endorsement free, which would absolve him of commercialism in this respect, although I see no reason why he should have given this by-product away. His reputation is his to do with as he pleases. His newspaper and magazine material has been widely sold, too, and I will admit that it has been unique among the product of the athletic literati in the respect that it was pretty good stuff.

Yet, from my knowledge of the newspaper syndicate business, I should say that his reputation as an actor and the quality of the articles, combined, could not have sold his stuff as prosperously as it was sold if he had not been able to back up these helpful sales factors with his resounding fame as an athlete, technically an amateur. Otis Skinner, writing on tennis, would not have done half so well.

Tennis Devotees Foot the Bill.

Tilden's career in the drama has not been one of the outstanding successes of the age, and I would not infer that he has profiteered on his tennis reputation at the theatrical boxoffice, because the profits do not seem to have been excessive. However, there was a time here in New York just before the opening of a work in which he appeared as the star and, also, I believe, as the author, when the officials of the United States Lawn Tennis association issued a polite informal call upon the devotees of tennis to rally round and give William, the actor, a great big hand on opening night.

Now, testimonials, syndicated articles and personal appearances all are legal lines of commerce or industry, and no man is to be held up to ridicule for such activities. But, to the public, Mr. Tilden is first and always a tennis player, and it is no more reprehensible for a football coach to do the same things which the Penn alumni condemned in their report than for a Davis cup star to do them. Divest Mr. Tilden of his tennis reputation and he becomes only a little better than a commonplace journalist and an actor of no great distinction.

The code of propriety in amateur sport is being revised by custom in

NATIONAL TITLE.

NOTRE DAME and Southern California, by the size of the scores recorded against Pennsylvania and California, respectively, are focusing national attention on their encounter at Los Angeles Dec. 6.

If Notre Dame defeats Drake, Northwestern and Army, and Southern California takes Hawaii and Washington, winner of this coast fray will, in public estimation, be accounted the greatest team in the country. To this estimate there may be a few dissenting opinions.

In the case of Southern California, at least, there is the deterrent of Washington State, still undefeated, and with Washington and Villanova yet to play. Washington State recorded an early season victory over Southern California, 7 to 6, the difference being the point after touchdown, in which Howard Jones' elevens seem peculiarly unfortunate.

There are also other unbeaten elevens of strength. Alabama, in particular, has victories over Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Kentucky, and Florida, none of them weaklings, with its final game against Georgia, which has taken Yale and New York U., but has a tie with Florida to mar its record.

Strictly speaking, there can be no national champion, because it is impossible to bring all the best elevens against one another. If Notre Dame goes through unbeaten, however, it will have a claim worthy of consideration, and at this writing better than any of the others.

Quinn, Schang Released Unconditionally.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Connie Mack, who sits very near the top of the baseball world with eight American league pennants and five world's championships adorning his record, has started in to reorganize and strengthen his team to the 1931 season.

JACK QUINN.

Mack today announced that he had given old Jack Quinn and the veteran catcher, Wally Schang, their unconditional releases and had obtained three young players from the Pacific Coast league to fill the gaps.

Planned Changes After Series.

After Mack won his fifth world's title last month at the expense of the St. Louis Cardinals, he announced he would keep his team intact except for certain of the older players, so the releases came as no surprise. There have been reports that others would go or be benched for younger men, but Mack says he has nothing further to announce at this time.

The three young players who will join the team are Robert L. Johnson, right handed hitting outfielder; Hank McDonald, right handed pitcher, and Joe Palmisano, catcher, all of the Portland, Ore., club.

Release Borelli Outright.

Mack also announced that Nick Borelli, former Muhlenberg college star, had been released outright to the Dallas, Tex., club. Borelli, a third baseman, although belonging to the A's, has not been with the team the last two years.

Whether Schang and Quinn will join other major league clubs of their own choosing was not known here. Schang is said to be at his home in Missouri, while Quinn, whose home is in Chicago, is away on a hunting trip.

The veteran Quinn, who pitched marvelous ball for his age at times for Connie Mack, has been in the game for thirty years, first attracting attention when playing with Connellsville, Pa., in 1901.

He's Spitball Pitcher.

Quinn is one of the few spitballers left in the major leagues. Jack played with many clubs before he came to the A's in 1925. He was a source of strength to Connie Mack in building up his teams to world's championship caliber. Last year Jack, who only smiles when asked his age, did not do so well, and Mack decided to make room for a younger man.

Wally Schang broke into baseball fame on the Athletics, having been the catcher for that famous trio of hurlers, Plank, Bender, and Coombs. He was released in a trade years ago and came back to the A's last year. He was used mostly for coaching young players.

GREEN ACCEPTS MICHIGAN OFFER TO HELP NEEDY

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 1[0].—(AP)—Gov. Fred W. Green today accepted the offer of the University of Michigan to give the receipts of the football game between Michigan and Chicago at Ann Arbor on Nov. 22 to charity. The governor, following a conversation with Fielding H. Yost, athletic director of the university, said the state of Michigan will undertake to sell 40,000 tickets to the game at $3 apiece. He said he expected the university to sell an equal number.

The governor estimated Michigan's share of the proceeds would be $122,000 and he said this sum would be apportioned to the various counties of the state in direct proportion to the number of tickets purchased in each county.

WILDCATS NEED VICTORY TO GAIN SHARE OF TITLE

48,000 to See Game in Dyche Stadium.

The performance of the Northwestern and Wisconsin football elevens in their games and training camp activity this season has led fans to expect one of the foremost forward passing duels of the season when the two teams clash in Dyche stadium Saturday before a crowd of 48,000 spectators—all that the Evanston stands can accommodate.

The Wildcats, who have only to turn back the Badgers to assure themselves of at least a share of the Western conference championship, have disposed of four Big Ten opponents largely through the medium of a well directed pass attack. The aerial game, featuring Pug Rentner and Frank Baker, marked Northwestern's victories over Ohio State, Minnesota, and Illinois. Last Saturday, against Indiana, passes figured in three of the Wildcats' four touchdowns.

Rentner Out of Lineup.

Rentner will not be available for the Wisconsin contest, according to team physicians. He likewise was unable to face Indiana, but Northwestern kept passing, with Baker, Oliphant, Capt. Hank Bruder and Lee Hanley in the feature roles.

Wisconsin used forward passes with success while beating Pennsylvania, and marched 85 yards to a touchdown against Purdue with assorted throws, lateral and forward, only to lose a 7-6 decision on a missed kick. Yesterday the Badgers learned a number of new aerial plays, especially designed for use against the Wildcats.

If the forward passing games of the two elevens are equal—something no Northwestern supporter will admit—then the play of the rival lines and the running ability of the two backfields will decide the issue. The Badgers learned to respect Capt. Bruder's ball carrying when they lost to the Wildcats, 7-0, at Madison last season. Bruder's punting and running was a big factor in the game before he suffered a broken leg in the third quarter.

Thistlethwaite Seeks Revenge.

The man who led Northwestern out of the football doldrums to a tie for the Big Ten championship with Michigan in 1926, Saturday will seek to wreck the title hopes of the Purple. He is Glenn Thistlethwaite, former Oak Park High school coach, who directed Northwestern from 1922 to 1926, inclusive. Then he went to Wisconsin in the autumn of 1927. It was during Thistlethwaite's régime that Northwestern teams acquired the title of Wildcats.

Thistlethwaite's best year at Wisconsin was in 1928, when his team finished second in the Big Ten by losing its last game of the season to Minnesota, 6-0. Last year the Badgers tumbled to last place, and alumni complaints started to enter the mails at Madison. But if Wisconsin can upset Northwestern and go on to beat Minnesota on Nov. 22 the graduates and undergraduates will consider the season a success.

Badgers Beaten Only Once.

The Badgers' defeat last year was the first in the 15 games series between the two teams that started in 1895. Three games were tied, and the other 11 were won by Wisconsin. The last time the Madison team played in Evanston was in 1921, when Gus Sundt, Rollie Williams, and Gus Tebell romped over the Purple, 27 to 0.

BADGERS TRY NEW PLAYS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Wisconsin will rely on passes to defeat Northwestern in their battle Saturday at Dyche stadium, Evanston, it was indicated today when Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite gave the squad a long drill on new pass plays.

George Casey, Capt. Milt Gantenbein, and Harold Smith, who were kept out of the South Dakota state game last Saturday because of injuries, took part in the workout. Gantenbein and Casey, varsity ends, were given stiff competition by Ralph Loveshin, a sophomore, whose work in catching throws from Lusby, Rebholz, and Schnaller was a feature of the practice.

While developing his own overhead game in an effort to balk Northwestern's march to at least a share of the Western conference title, Thistlethwaite is not forgetting the Wildcats' pass attack, and he ordered a long defensive drill to conclude the workout.

Scrimmages are scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday.

BY FRENCH LANE.

After 158 days of racing Chicago can claim but one turf championship this year. Risque, which races for Mrs. John Hertz, clings to the leadership in the 2 year old filly division, although it is by a very precarious margin.

But she is on top and her most noteworthy rival, Baba Kenny, owned by Edward R. Bradley, has gone amiss and likely will not start again this year. Risque gave weight to Baba Kenny and licked the Bradley filly in the Spinaway renewal at Saratoga.

Later, in the Selima stakes in Maryland, Risque again outfooted Baba Kenny, and while both were beaten, Risque easily demonstrated her superiority. Tambour was the winner of the Selima, but Risque, under a better ride, undoubtedly would have won.

Steffen Lost His Head.

Earl Steffen, who rode Risque, seemed to lose his head. He made too much use of the filly. Risque had already demonstrated that she was a good stretch runner and could come from behind. Yet Steffen had her two lengths in front as they headed into the stretch and it took too much out of her to maintain the pace.

A cool, clear headed jockey would have waited with Risque so she would have something left with which to finish. It was one of the few mistakes Steffen has made this season.

Before she won the Spinaway Risque had captured the Lassie stakes at Arlington, turning back a very smart band in that race. It included the fleet Panasette from the Whitney string.

Interesting Battle Next Year.

It will be an interesting battle between Risque and Baba Kenny for 3 year old filly honors next year. Bradley is firm in his belief that Baba Kenny is not only the best 2 year old filly of the year, but among the best juveniles of either sex of the season. If she could have gone along and filled her late fall engagements he expected that she would have demonstrated that she could beat most any 2 year old, perhaps Equipoise and Twenty Grand.

When Col. Bradley becomes convinced that one of his horses is a champion he frequently likes to wager horse against horse that he can beat any contender.

He's liable to make that sort of a proposition to the admirers of Risque next season, when the two fillies line up at the barrier in some of the rich Oaks events.

Purchased as a Yearling.

It is very likely the Risque followers will snap up Mr. Bradley's wagers, for Risque reached winning form in April as a 2 year old and she is very likely to come to hand early next season.

Mrs. Hertz purchased Risque from A. R. Hancock, the noted Kentucky breeder, when the daughter of Stimulus-Risky was a yearling. Risque will arrive at the Hertz farm near Cary within a short time to go into winter quarters.

Mickey Patrick Outpoints Stanley in Six Rounds

Negro Porter's $1 Race Ticket Brings $25,000

Portland, Ore., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Fortune smiled today on Tom Howell, Negro. He was informed his one dollar ticket on the Melbourne Cup race, Flemington, Australia, brought him $25,000. He is a porter in a steamship office and former trainer of the Portland baseball club. "Sure I'm going to keep my job," he said.

Tilden Seems Out of Place as Reformer

the direction of liberality. Even Bobby Jones, who, for years, resolutely refused to compose syndicated essays on golf for profit on the ground that his reputation must necessarily figure in the sales to a far greater extent than the value of his thoughts and the excellence of his writing, presently changed his mind and established a big practice in journalism. He is now one of the most gifted journalists in the world, judging his ability by his earnings, and conceding that he is not exploiting his sporting reputation. He is also in receipt of more money for his essays on golf than most of the candid professionals receive for instruction and prize competition.

Yet he is an amateur golfer still and an official of the U. S. Golf association. Mr. Tilden, also, is an amateur tennis player.

In the course of time, the last trace of the old fastidiousness regarding the exploitation of sporting reputations will vanish. A few years hence, if the game does not blow up from overexploitation in the meantime, undergraduate, amateur football players in the colleges will be suffered, if not openly permitted, to sell testimonials and essays and to deliver inspirational talks for hire, just as their coaches do now, on the ground that earned money is good, not bad, for a student.

It's Cash That Counts.

In the present rating of society, wealth is a pre-requisite to social position and earnings are the gauge of success. There are socially exclusive millionaires, but not socially exclusive poor. As long as the thing is being done at all, it is an unjust discrimination to permit the great amateur tennis and golf stars and the football coaches to convert their fame into earnings, while denying the same right to varsity players, who may be in much more urgent need of a few dollars.

CARDINALS POINT FOR GAME WITH PACKERS SUNDAY

The Chicago Cardinals, who built up a defense for Benny Friedman last week, but who forgot to lay for Hap Moran and Ghost Haggerty, are pointing for the whole eleven Green Bay Packers this week.

When the Packers come to Comiskey park Sunday, seeking their ninth straight league victory, they will meet a club ready for them in every department. Having successfully passed the first Chicago obstacle in their path, the Bears, they must get by the Cards, otherwise they will be in a tie with New York.

LEITER TRAINER BUYS SERVICES OF STAR JOCKEY

Joseph Leiter of Chicago, whose horses have been racing in the east most of the season, has purchased the contract on Jockey Eugene James, rated as the most promising young riding prospect of the year in America.

N. K. Neal, who trains the Leiter horses, is reported to have turned over a record sum for the James contract, which was held by Roscoe Goose of Louisville. No figures were mentioned, but the price is said to have exceeded $25,000, one of the biggest jockey deals in several years.

The horses which race in the Leiter silks have been shipped to New Orleans for a winter's campaign.

ARMY AND NAVY GAME NO NEARER AFTER POWWOW

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Whether the country's two service institutions will resume competition on the football field remained a problem tonight for which no formula had been evolved that would bring an affirmation answer.

After a conference at the war department this morning Secretary of War Hurley and Secretary of Navy Adams joined in a statement saying no basis had been found for an agreement to end the dispute over eligibility rules for players, which has stood in the way of football games between West Point and Annapolis.

Last week, on the basis of a compromise proposal by the Navy, which had been accepted by the Army, although not entirely favored by it, it had been thought a settlement was in sight. A last minute withdrawal of the latest offer caused the collapse of the negotiations.

Secretary Hurley said the breakdown could not be considered final and he hoped further negotiations, which the Army was ready to carry on, would result in an agreement.

The present negotiations have been concerned with the resumption of general athletic relations and not the suggestion from outsiders that the two service schools play a post-season game this year to assist unemployment funds. This latter question has not yet been considered, Hurley said.

Rejects Compromises.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Although West Point officials were not available for comment upon developments in Washington relative to resumption of Army-Navy gridiron relations, it was understood here the military academy at no time has indicated acceptance of any of several compromise proposals advanced by the naval academy.

The Army, in a published summary of its side of the case, listed several compromise suggestions made by the Navy, all of which were rejected.

These proposals included: A resumption of athletic relations based on a one year waiver of all restrictions; adoption of the three year varsity rule by West Point, effective for the incoming cadets only; an agreement for relations on a basis of two years under Navy rules, then two years under Army regulations, subsequently alternating; a four year varsity eligibility rule, that is, allowance of one year's varsity experience before entering West Point.

CONOCO

Is your car hard to start these cold mornings? Let that be a reminder that these are danger months for your motor!

It takes more turning-over to start, and more running to warm-up your motor during the cold months. So now, more than ever, you need the extra protection of this oil with two big cold-weather advantages!

Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil is de-waxed to prevent congealing at low temperatures. That's the first reason. Second, its penetrative lubricity insures instant lubrication at the first touch of the starter. By decreasing friction, Germ-Processed oil adds to the ease of starting.

You may be able to buy some other oils which are de-waxed, but there is only one oil with penetrative lubricity, only one that penetrates metal-surfaces and never drains away from working parts.

It's Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil. Ask for it whenever you the see the Conoco Red Triangle.

MacDOUGAL AND REIHSEN REJOIN GOPHER ELEVEN

Minnesota Starts Work for Michigan Game.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Kenneth MacDougal, Minnesota half back, who has been laid up for several days because of a severe cold, rejoined the varsity this afternoon as it began an intensive four day drill for the Michigan contest. While he has lost some weight, MacDougal was none the worse for his siege.

Bob Reihsen, regular guard, was back with his mates today after a two weeks' rest. His ankle was in good shape, but Coach Crisler doesn't plan to use him much this week.

Pat Boland, husky tackle, was the only casualty in the South Dakota game Saturday. He suffered a leg injury and missed practice today. Krezowski and Dillner, regular ends, may not start against Michigan. The week's layoff failed to heal their injuries.

Instead of the usual light Monday practice, Crisler sent most of the regulars through a stiff dummy scrimmage, using new plays before they lined up against the freshmen for defensive work against Michigan plays.

MICHIGAN SEES HARD GAME.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Michigan started work this afternoon for what is expected to be the hardest game of the 1930 schedule, the contest Saturday with Minnesota, by running through a long signal drill on Ferry field. Meanwhile the reserve players and Coach Ray Courtright's B team met in scrimmage, and the reserves, mainly because of runs of 62 and 23 yards by De Baker, ran up 14 points in 20 minutes.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan, who has been scouting Minnesota, reported that Minnesota has been pointing for Michigan all season.

ED RISK IN HOSPITAL.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Badly battered from five straight conference games that have netted four victories and a one point defeat, Purdue's football squad was given a vacation this afternoon, with instructions to report tomorrow to start preparations for the Butler and Indiana battles that will close the season.

Ed Risk, half back, who was injured in the Chicago game, was sent to the hospital today with a bruised knee, but is expected to recover in time for the Indiana game, Nov. 22.

Purdue football followers who witnessed the Chicago game Saturday are singing the praises of Roy Horstmann, sophomore full back, who doubled the mark set by Five Yards McCarthy of Maroon fame, by averaging over 10 yards a crack on McCarthy's old home grounds.

INDIANA HAS DAY OFF.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Following an all day rain which soaked the practice fields, the Indiana university football squad was excused from a workout today. The team was battered in its battle with Northwestern Saturday, but every man on the injured list will have plenty of time to recuperate by the time of the closing contest on the schedule with Purdue at Lafayette, Nov. 22.

Maroons See Chance to Win from Illini

This is the week of weeks for the Maroons. Coach A. A. Stagg predicts the Chicago-Illinois game on Stagg field Saturday will be a tossup. So after a series of defeats interspersed with two scoreless ties, the Maroons are optimistic.

"I expect this game to be a hot battle like those of old times," the Old Man stated last night after practice. "There probably will not be a great deal of scoring, but the game can go either way."

Neither the Illini nor the Maroons have won a Big Ten game. Zuppke and Stagg both started the season with green teams and have now developed them to their most effective points.

The Princeton game, that ended in a scoreless tie, and the Illinois battle are the natural high spots in the Chicago schedule. The annual Chicago Alumni club football dinner will be used this week as an inspirational tonic for the Midway eleven.

The affair will be held at the Hotel La Salle Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, with Coach Stagg and Col. H. B. Hackett, veteran conference officials, as the chief speakers. Coach Nelson Norgren will tell of the Maroon baseball team's journey to Japan and Coach Jimmy Pyott will assay the present freshman squad for the anxious alumni. Plans for the new field house will be revealed for the first time. Roy Madigan will act as toastmaster.

HUDDLESTUN WINS LETTER.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—This was a day of rest for University of Illinois football regulars who appeared against Army, and the only activity on the practice field was by the reserves, who will encounter De Paul here Saturday.

Berry, half back, and Wilson, end, who was injured in the Army game will be able to play against Chicago at Stagg field Saturday.

That it pays to keep on plugging despite discouragements was shown Saturday by the playing of Tiny Huddlestun at center. Huddlestun, a candidate for three years, got his chance and played center throughout the game, giving him the required time for his varsity letter. Zuppke probably will keep the big fellow at the center job this week.

Indiana Team Has a Place for Left Handed Players

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Perhaps you are wondering what advantages a left handed player has, if any, and why Page should need such material. Other Big Ten coaches have described Indiana's system of offense as "left handed." By that it is meant Indiana directs its attack to the reverse of normal expectations.

Must Turn Defense Around.

"I gave up long ago trying to diagnose Indiana's plays," Dick Hanley said Saturday before his Northwestern eleven met Indiana in the homecoming game at Bloomington. "You must turn your defense around to meet Indiana."

A right handed player naturally runs better to his right. He can forward pass while running to the right, for he throws in motion. Running to the left, a right handed passer must twist backward to throw. Of course, a great half back will be able to run equally well in either direction, but he never can pass as well to the left. Occasionally he cannot gain in the opposite direction. When opponents prepare their defense these facts are taught. But again deception may overthrow a well prepared defense.

How Zuppke Fooled Penn.

When Parisien Upset N. U.

Hence a left hand passer reverses these expectations. The difference in the efficiency of the defense may mean completion of the pass. When Rockne sent Parisien (left handed) into the Northwestern game in 1926, he completed a pass which won, 6 to 0. Later in the year the same pass play for a second time brought victory, defeating Southern California, 13 to 12. In between the Northwestern and Southern California games Parisien had not played because of illness. It is probable the Trojans were unprepared for the left handed plays. In both instances the attack was backward; that is, it was the reverse of what the defensive men normally expected and to which they had become accustomed.

Notre Dame's back field this year, or in any other year when all the players are right handed, is an illustration. Schwartz, left half, runs to the right and passes from the right. Only occasionally on spinner or delayed plays does he hit into the line or to the left. Brill carries the ball to the left. Constant drill in this position probably has made him a better runner to the left than to the right. Savoldi, when not plunging, is a better runner to the right than left. Indeed, his left arm [the natural arm for a right handed ball carrier] wards off tacklers most efficiently. In the vernacular, Savoldi has a good stiff arm. A runner to the left carries the ball in his left arm and uses his right to straight arm the tacklers.

Tim Lowry, captain of Northwestern university's 1925 football team, issued a call yesterday for former stars of the Purple to report tomorrow at Dyche stadium for practice for their game with Notre Dame at Soldier's field Thanksgiving day.

The former Northwestern and Notre Dame players will open Chicago's first annual Thanksgiving day football program, for the benefit of the Chicago unit, Shriners' hospitals for crippled children, at 10 a. m. Thanksgiving day. Immediately following their game, Oregon State college and West Virginia university teams, representing the east and the west, will clash.

Lowry has lined up a great army of former Northwestern men to represent the Purple. Many of them live in Chicago and its suburbs and will have ample time to practice. Lowry has lined up 35 men and expects to have several more.

Among them are Henry Cohen, end, now an Evanston policeman, as is Bill Calderwood, 1928 half back; Harry Kent, tackle, now a practicing dentist in Chicago; Fred De Stefano, 1923 full back, now a Chicago physician; Tom Wolfe, 1923 half back, Chicago manager for the National Air Transport; Vic Gustafson, 1927 half back and captain, now coach at Wheaton college; George Gibson, 1920 quarter back, with the Mosenee Paper Mills company; Tom Singleton, 1927 guard, with the North American Utilities company, and Steve Fox, 1926 guard, now with the Williamsport Wire Rope company.

"We're going to practice three or four times this week, four times next week, and on Monday and Tuesday before the game," Lowry said. "Most of the fellows are in fairly good condition, they know the plays, and with some stiff practice we'll put up a real game."

Coach Knute Rockne at Notre Dame has issued a call for his players to report at South Bend for practice Monday, Nov. 24, only three days before the game.

"Our players know our style, and all they'll need will be a little team work," Rockne said yesterday. "Most of them are coaching and all are in condition."

Arkansas Eleven to Play Maroons Here in 1931

Fayetteville, Ark., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The University of Arkansas has accepted an invitation from Coach Alonzo Stagg of the University of Chicago to play the Maroons at Chicago Nov. 7, 1931, Razorback officials announced here today. This will be Arkansas' first appearance against a Big Ten team since 1925, when it was defeated by Iowa, 26 to 0, at Iowa City.

Fenger to Play for South Section in City Semi-Finals

Fenger will represent the south section in the semi-finals of the City High School Football league. This was decided yesterday when a representative of the far south side school won the toss of a coin in a meeting of board of control officials.

Three teams—Fenger, Parker, and Calumet—finished their south section schedule in a tie for first place, but the toss of the coin gave Fenger its title. Fenger had won all its games until last Saturday, when it was unset by Parker.

Les Molloy Returns to Loyola Squad

Capt. Les Molloy returned to the Loyola university football squad yesterday after a ten day absence due to injuries. With Molloy ready to play in the intersectional game against Boston college here Friday night, the offense has been strengthened considerably, as he is considered one of the most dangerous triple threat players in Loyola's football history.

The victory over St. Louis university bolstered the Loyolans' spirits. Coach Eddie Norton devoted an hour yesterday to a lecture, after which he sent the players through a short limbering up drill. Except for a few minor bruises, the entire team came through the St. Louis game in excellent condition.

Boston college, while not boasting an untarnished record this season, is regarded as one of the east's strongest teams. Boston held Fordham and Marquette, both undefeated, to 3 to 0 and 6 to 0 scores respectively. Marquette's points were made on field goals.

BOSTON SQUAD FIT

Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Having suffered losses at the hands of four major opponents thus far, the Boston college football squad settled down to prepare for its initial night contest with Loyola university in Chicago on Friday night.

No serious injuries were suffered last week-end and all of the first string men will be in shape to face Loyola. Joe Kelly and Mike Vodoklys, two regular backs, were bruised a bit and although not in practice today will be available on Saturday. About 35 players will be taken to Chicago. The squad will leave here Wednesday afternoon and reach its destination in time for a night workout on Thursday.

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE STARTS SEASON TONIGHT

New York, Nov. 10.—A new National Hockey league season, the fifth since the circuit reached its present size, will open tomorrow, bringing perhaps more changes than any year since the 1926-'27 season.

The first new club since that year, the Philadelphia Quakers, will make its bow in one of the three opening night games. The Quakers, who replaced the Pittsburgh Pirates and took over most of the playing talent from that club, open at home against the New York Rangers. At Boston the Bruins, runners-up for the world championship last spring, meet the revamped New York Americans and the Montreal Maroons play at Ottawa.

The new Philadelphia team merely brings a change of Benny Leonard's hitherto unprofitable franchise to a new location, where Leonard hopes of producing a championship contender.

Of the four teams which do not get into action the first night, Toronto and Detroit play Thursday, entertaining the Americans and the Rangers, respectively. The Montreal Canadiens open against Ottawa Saturday and the Chicago Blackhawks meet the Rangers Sunday night.

NEW YORK TEAM MOVES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The American Hockey league will be a seven team circuit instead of an eight club affair, it was announced here tonight, with the New York membership being moved to Minneapolis.

Difficulties in getting a financial backer for a local sextet and inability of the New York entry to find a suitable rink brought about a change in the makeup of the American league, William F. Grant of Kansas City, president and secretary, said. He left tonight for Chicago to rearrange the league's playing schedule.

RECEIVERS ARE APPOINTED FOR COSDEN OIL CO.

Ex-Clerk Makes Millions and Loses Them.

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Another chapter was written today into the colorful career of Joshua A. Cosden by appointment of receivers for the Cosden Oil company in the federal court at Wilmington, Del. Cosden, once a poor clerk in Baltimore, has made millions and lost them. Once he entertained the prince of Wales at his million dollar estate on Long island.

His oil company said its assets were ample, but declared it was unable to pay its current debts when faced with a demand from the Merrick Drilling company for payment of $17,735 for drilling a well.

Federal Judge John P. Nields appointed Hugh M. Morris of Wilmington and George N. Moore of Fort Worth, Tex., as receivers for the company, which listed its total assets at $12,812,000 and liabilities, exclusive of corporate stock, at $4,330,000.

Returns to Oil Business.

Cosden organized the company, capitalized at $5,000,000, in 1928. It marked his return to the oil business and the hectic competition of Wall street after a series of reversals had diminished a reputed fortune of $50,000,000.

He made his reputation and his money in the oil fields of Oklahoma. There, too, he met and married his second wife, the former Mrs. Charles Franklin Roeser of Tulsa. They set out to storm the citadels of eastern society and chartered a private car to take them and their millions to New York.

Entertains Prince of Wales.

To cap it all, they had the prince of Wales as a house guest at Port Washington in 1924, together with Lord and Lady Mountbatten. A dramatic incident of the visit was a jewel robbery reported a few days after the visit in which Mrs. Cosden said she lost $150,000 in jewels and Lady Mountbatten was reported to have lost $42,000 worth of gems.

Then came disaster. In 1928 Vincent Astor bought the Cosden show place on Long island and the sale of the Palm Beach villa followed quickly. Cosden lost control of a company he had organized and for a time dropped out of sight.

Then in the fall of 1927 the oil industry heard that Cosden was "coming back." He did and soon again was playing a prominent part.

TEMPORARY RECEIVERSHIP.

Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The Monarch Royalty corporation, Tulsa, chartered in Delaware, was placed in a temporary receivership here Saturday when Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer appointed George M. Ranson, Tulsa, and James A. Harris, Waggoner, to take control of the offices here pending a hearing on an application of Erle K. Eby of Kansas City, a minority stockholders, for a permanent receivership.

Counsel for the company agreed to the action, saying a decision had been reached to place its properties under court protection because of danger of dissipation of assets through litigation instituted by minority stockholders. Eby alleged the company's affairs had been mismanaged.

The Monarch company deals in oil royalties and has stockholders in nearly every state in the Union. It is capitalized at $7,000,000 and claims assets of $9,000,000.

CHICAGO TRUST FIRMS MERGE; REVEAL TERMS

Initial Assets Were 115 Millions.

Chicago security and commodity markets, including the Board of Trade and the Stock Exchange, will be closed today in observance of the twelfth anniversary of the signing of the armistice. Banks will also be closed. The New York stock exchange and other eastern markets will remain open.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Merger of the Continental Chicago corporation and the Chicago corporation, two big investment trust concerns formed in 1928 with initial assets of around $115,000,000, was announced last night. A basis for consolidation was arrived at by the directors of both companies after joint committees had appraised the assets of each concern. Their agreement to merge is subject to approval of the stockholders.

The merger plan provides for an exchange of shares of the Continental Chicago corporation for those of the Chicago corporation on the following basis: One share of Continental Chicago preferred stock for each share of Chicago corporation preferred and 6/100 of a share of Continental Chicago common stock for each share of Chicago Corporation common. Continental Chicago preferred stock sold yesterday on the Chicago Stock Exchange at 41¼, and the common at 8. Chicago corporation preferred stock sold at 40⅝ and the common stock sold at 5¾.

Retire 500,000 Preferred Shares.

"As a part of the merger there will be retired approximately 500,000 shares of the preferred stock of the two merging corporations," the announcement said. "These shares have been acquired in the open market at favorable prices. As a result, not only will dividend requirements for the preferred stock be lessened but the equity of the stockholders will be increased."

The total capital of the merged companies will consist of 1,000,000 shares of $3 convertible preference stock and 2,887,500 common shares. The Continental Chicago corporation was organized with 750,000 preferred and 1,750,000 common shares outstanding, while the Chicago corporation also was formed with 750,000 preferred and 1,750,000 common shares outstanding.

The Continental Chicago corporation was formed as an investment subsidiary of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company and officials and big stockholders of the bank also held a large interest in the Chicago organization. Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the bank, will also become chairman of the merged corporations and Charles F. Glore, new president of the Chicago corporation, will become president. The directors will include the present directors of both companies.

U. S. Steel Report Cheers.

Two cheerful bits of news shot through the gloom of yesterday's stock market. The United States Steel corporation issued its monthly report on unfilled orders showing a gain of 57,425 tons in October. This indicated that demand outran steel production last month and was the more cheerful because the increase followed sharp declines in unfilled tonnage in August and September.

Unfilled orders of the premier steel company totaled 3,431,763 tons on Oct. 31. While this falls considerably below the 4,086,562 tons of a year ago, it still is larger than the backlog on Oct. 31, 1927. Unfilled tonnage in September declined 441,851 tons and brought the total to the lowest level since May, 1928. The Carnegie Steel company, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel, yesterday fixed a minimum price of $1.60 a hundred pounds on bars, plates and shapes. While this price does not mark any advance, it shows a definite stand against further price cutting.

The Chicago Great Western railroad yesterday announced a dividend of $1 a share on its preferred stock. This will be the first payment disbursed since July 1, 1919.

Wheat, Oats and Rye Drop Under Heavy Liquidation

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

American farmers seem to be getting gradually engulfed by the wave of pessimistic sentiment. Drastic liquidation was under way yesterday in the wheat, oats and rye markets and the selling movement did not culminate until near the close. December wheat dropped 4c to 69⅝c, the lowest figure at which that delivery has sold since 1902, when it was down to 69¼c. It came within ¼c of the 69½c at which the September future sold in 1906.

December oats at 29½c were off 2⅝c from Saturday and the lowest since 1905, while December rye sold at 38¼c at the inside, the lowest since 1898.

Wave after wave of stop loss selling orders came into the wheat pit. While there was fair resistance for a time, the support was inadequate to absorb the forced liquidation. Houses with New York connections that bought heavily some weeks ago were aggressive sellers, presumably getting out of wheat in an effort to protect purchases of securities in Wall street. Toward the last Winnipeg operators were credited with selling freely. The Canadian market was closed yesterday but will be open today, and operators who had bids sold good for today's trading were said to be protecting themselves.

Members of the Canadian wheat pool will, effective today, receive only 50c per bu for No. 1 northern spring wheat delivered at Fort William, a reduction of 5c from the basis that has prevailed for some weeks, although earlier in the season 60c was paid. The unexpected lowering had considerable effect on both American and foreign markets, although it is expected to place the pool in a better position as far as handling the grain is concerned.

Good Buying on Break.

An outstanding feature of the trading in wheat was the free buying toward the last by houses that frequently act for the Stabilization corporation or the Farmers National Grain corporation. George S. Milnor, president of the Stabilization corporation, was out with a statement shortly before the close saying that the coöperative had bought futures when it had made sales of cash wheat in the past and would take a delivery on December contracts. This had some effect on the nearby month, which gained fractionally on the May.

Pronounced weakness in Liverpool and Buenos Aires wheat markets with better weather conditions in Argentina helped to intensify bearish sentiment, and while the grain trade as a whole deplored the prevailing low level of prices the bulls were powerless to stem the tide. The crash in Wall street and unfavorable financial reports from the continent were also factors in sending the grain markets plunging downward. Winnipeg was a free seller at Minneapolis during the day, and the December in the latter market dropped to 66c at the low point, off 5c from Saturday's finish.

Closing prices in Chicago showed net losses of 3⅝@4¼c for the day, with old December finishing at 69⅝@69⅝@70c; March, 73¼@73½c; May, 75½@75⅝c, and July 76⅛@76⅝c. Buenos Aires lost 2⅝@3½c for the day, with the February finishing at 66⅝c, while Liverpool was 1⅝@2d lower.

The wheat trade was disappointed by an increase of 755,000 bu in the domestic visible supply, which made the total 198,443,000 bu, against 191,821,000 bu last year. Despite the big decline in futures during the day export sales of only 750,000 to 1,000,000 bu Manitobas were reported, and bids on hard winter at the Gulf were said to have been 2c more out of line as compared with sellers' views.

Corn Weakens with Wheat.

The fact that the government report on the corn crop was due after the close tended to restrict operations in that market, but the weakness in wheat and the continued favorable weather resulted in sufficient selling making its appearance to carry prices off 1@1½c for the day, old December closed at 71⅝@71⅞c; March, 74½@74⅝c; May, 76⅝@76⅞c, and July, 78¼c.

Buying against bids and by shorts furnished the bulk of the support in corn, and all deliveries of the latter went to a premium over wheat, compared with a discount of nearly 4c for corn at one time last week on the December delivery. An increase of 892,000 bu was shown in the visible supply for the week, with the total 5,271,000 bu, compared with 2,582,000 bu last year.

Numerous stop loss orders were uncovered in the oats market after the lafter had shown considerable resistance to selling pressure early, and prices dropped in a rather violent manner. Under 30c for December there was commission house buying and short covering and a rally of around 1c from the inside followed. Final trades were at net losses of 1¼@1½c, with December 30½c; March, 32⅝c, and May, 33⅞@34c.

Pool Lowers Rye Basis.

The Canadian wheat pool will hereafter make an advance payment of 30c per bu for No. 2 CW rye delivered at Fort William, or 5c less than previously. Rye prices have been steadily on the down grade in the leading markets and the continued lack of export demand had counted heavily against the maintenance of bulges. Closing trades here were 3¾@3½c lower, with December, 38⅜c, and May, 45c. Minneapolis closed 5@5¼c lower, with the December down to 35c.

ANOTHER SPASM OF LIQUIDATION SENDS CURB STOCKS LOWER

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Another spasm of liquidation, concentrated in the utility and oil shares, sent curb shares still lower in today's market and piled up total sales of 1,276,800 shares.

The selling appeared to be wearing itself out late in the day, however, and substantial recovery was recorded by some of the more active stocks, a few actually closing with net gains. Liquidation of the oils was probably aggravated by the receivership for Cosden, and the report of the board of Royal Dutch to shareholders saying that only the largest units in the industry could show a margin of profit under present conditions.

It was notable, however, that pressure against Cities Service, a weak feature on Saturday, was lifted. This widely held issue, which has important public utility as well as oil properties, closed at 17¼, up ¼, after again touching Saturday's low of 16. The turnover was only 171,000 shares, against 285,300 on Saturday.

CUNNINGHAM TO HEAD MADISON SQUARE BOARD

J. T. CUNNINGHAM. (Loubell Photo.)

Mr. Cunningham, who is president of the Central Dairy Products corporation, was born on a farm in Scotland July 23, 1864. In 1886 he came to the United States and his first job here was on a farm near Waukegan. Subsequently he became a salesman for the old William Thompson Ice Cream company and later he organized his own ice cream company.

Mr. Kuehnle, a navy aviation pilot during the war, had his first bank experience as an assistant cashier in Denison, Ia. For a time he was connected with the Chemical National Bank of New York and later he was an assistant vice president of the National Bank of the Republic of Chicago.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

America has spent approximately $4,415,000,000 in new construction during the first ten months of 1930, according to a nation-wide survey completed yesterday by the Indiana Limestone company. "Some encouragement is derived from renewed building activity in recent weeks," said President A. E. Dickinson. "In many quarters it is felt the construction industry soon will provide a real stimulus for general business. A pronounced increase in actual building activities should be looked for some time between December and March. Residential building has been showing definite improvement. Awards for this type of building for the month of October totaled almost $2,000,000 daily. This is higher than the previous month and also than October of last year."

The Beneficial Industrial Loan corporation reports that the volume of loans for the first nine months of 1930 set a new high record of $45,994,055 compared with $40,095,852 for the corresponding period last year, an increase of 14.7 per cent. Loans for the third quarter ended Sept. 30 amounted to $15,396,745, compared with $13,580,141 for the third quarter of 1929, representing a gain of 11.34 per cent.

THE DEPRESSION has not wiped out the progress made by American corporations during the years 1926-1929, but, if we were to listen to all the pessimism going the rounds, we might be led to believe that fourteen months of declining business had utterly destroyed the solid background of American corporations.

Selling all through the market seems to be in the final stages. This is no time to turn bearish, no time to sacrifice seasoned stocks, but on the other hand, an opportunity has been created to purchase common stocks under what appear to be exceptionally favorable circumstances, with income returns and equity values offering unusual attractions.

On that basis we are quite willing to recommend the purchase of selected common stocks for the longer term and in anticipation of the betterment in general business which 1931 seems destined to bring.

Estimate 1.2% Gain in Winter's Gas Consumption

BY SCRUTATOR.

Gasoline sales for the six months period which began on Oct. 1 are expected to be 1.2 per cent higher than they were in the same length of time beginning on Oct. 1, 1929.

This is the considered opinion of the committee on the economic situation of the American Petroleum institute. It was announced late yesterday at the eleventh annual convention, which is being held at the Stevens hotel and will continue through Tuesday.

No surprise was manifested at this small increase among the 3,000 delegates representing all branches of the petroleum industry attending the convention. The falling off from the 7 per cent increase which has come to be regarded as normal in the gasoline business was forecast also by the economics committee of the federal oil conservation board, and the institute's committee specifically mentioned that their report was in all respects in essential agreement with that of the government experts.

Deem Approval Certain.

The board of directors of the institute, who met during the afternoon, did not pass on the report, but it was understood that the statistics on which it was based were considered unassailable and would probably meet with their approval.

A serious profit situation in the industry has developed with the cutting down of the normal increase in gasoline demand, which has been accompanied by increase in productive facilities at least sufficient to meet the anticipated normal increase. How to recast the industry—the task is little less than that—to meet these new conditions forms the basis for most of the general discussions which are to be held at the convention.

The drive being made by the leaders of the oil men is directed at encouraging limitation programs that can be accomplished legally. Unitization, conservation, and proration of oil in its natural state is urged.

This afternoon Col. William J. Donovan, former assistant attorney general of the United States, will address the convention on "The Anti-Trust Laws," which have furnished considerable obstacles to the oil men who wished to get together on agreed limitation of production.

Veteran oil men hold that the cheapest and best way to store petroleum products is in the ground and that the piling up of stocks in the visible supply should be discontinued. This has been a policy for at least two years and the task now is to get a general acceptance of the working details and their practical application.

Royal Dutch Offer.

The Royal Dutch Shell company, principal rival of American companies in the world markets, yesterday offered a voluntary reduction in its imports of oil from Venezuela, to be based on a comparison with reduction that is made in production from American fields. The statement asserted that the South American imports were not depressing on the prices of petroleum products in the United States by themselves, and reiterated former assertions that the supply all over the country should be reduced to meet only the effective demand.

In addition to the meetings on policies, there were a large number of committees holding sessions yesterday on engineering and other technical matters.

Attending the sessions are practically all the heads of the great oil companies, including Walter C. Teagle of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Henry L. Doherty of the Cities Service company, and Harry F. Sinclair. E. B. Reeser, president of the institute, will preside at the general sessions today.

American Cyanamid.

Will you please give me information concerning American Cyanamid, its earnings and possibilities for the future? Do you consider this stock a good investment at present prices?—E. F. N

American Cyanamid company produces more than 150 chemicals for agricultural, mining and industrial uses. It owns and operates a plant at Niagara Falls, Canada, which is engaged in fixation of atmospheric nitrogen for the production of crude calcium cyanamid, and a second plant at Warners, N. J. Like other companies American Cyanamid has suffered from the business depression which covered most of its last fiscal year. The nitrogen industry has been affected. Although fertilizer business has been maintained in volume, prices have been off. The company's pharmaceutical business, however, demonstrated its ability to grow in a period of general depression.

Including the results of newly acquired companies for the full twelve months, American Cyanamid reported net profit for the year ended June 30, 1930, equal to $1.87 per share on 2,470,119 combined A and B shares outstanding. Excluding results of subsidiaries acquired during the year earnings were equal to $1.49 per share. In the preceding year net profit was equal to $1.56 per share on only 1,325,462 shares.

Business depression caught the company in the midst of an extensive program of expansion. During the last fiscal year the property account increased from $18,941,571 to $42,534,672, and surplus went from $4,484,831 to $20,446,026. Total assets and liabilities were $87,306,986 on June 30, 1930, against $57,409,862 a year before. Current assets were $22,973,781, and current liabilities were $4,878,031 on June 30. This left a net working capital of $18,095,750, against $10,037,390 on June 30, 1929.

In September, 1930, directors voted to omit dividends on both A and B stocks. The management stated that the company's financial position was considered satisfactory even if the present depression should continue throughout the current fiscal year. The stock is a speculation.

Botany Consolidated Mills.

Will you inform me regarding Botany Consolidated Mills 6½s? Are these bonds speculative and what rating have they?—Mrs. R. C.

Botany Consolidated Mills, Inc., as a result of depressed conditions in the industry, has reported a deficit each year since 1926. Last year the deficit was $2,104,315, against $844,468 for 1928, and $615,919 for 1927. In the first half of the current year net loss was $1,350,430, against $568,087 in the corresponding period of 1929.

The secured sinking fund 6½s, due April 1, 1934, are more a speculation than an investment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 10.—Well, they finally "got" Peoples Gas today. Seven points and more they beat it down, and when the nefarious business was over and the day at an end the New York stock market stood for the first time in many a year without a single, solitary blueblood share to its name—meaning by the term an issue selling at 200 points or better.

THE TRIBUNE'S averages for the day show that twenty-five leading industrial stocks closed at an average price of $213.58 per share. The averages, however, are compiled on the basis of the old price levels of the respective issues and do not allow for stock dividends, etc., thus preserving their continuity.

This time last week there were four stocks in the exclusive but fast declining clique. But the bears fell upon Allied Chemical and thumped it out of its strong seat, and a little later turned their attention to Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe with the same result. Along about Friday they got Peoples Gas down to 200, but the stiff necked Chicago utility aristocrat pulled itself together for what was to prove a new lease on life. Saturday Norfolk and Western had to cave in and today came the turn in Peoples Gas, leaving every treasured niche on the list vacant.

Sad Day for Bulls.

It was a sad day for the bull contingent. Other stocks of the list were in a bad way. United States Steel, which has been "ailing" for some time with its more modest berthmates, got down to a new low of 138, but later rallied to 140, leaving it with a net loss of a half point. American Can, first lieutenant to the big leader, had its troubles, also making a new low, but likewise rallying toward the end.

Some of the utilities were pounded unmercifully and a whole raft of the scores of new lows of the day were recorded in this particular corner of activity. American Water Works established a minimum of 46½ and Foreign Power dropped to 34⅝ and Standard Gas and Electric to 46⅝. Consolidated Gas, usually rated among the leaders of the group, was selling at one time during the session at 82½, which is some three points lower than it has sold before in at least a year, and the finish found it only fractionally better.

Rails Are Target.

Selling pressure was again concentrated heavily on the high grade railroad shares and they were knocked tumbling for losses of 5 to 10 points before making a stand. Losses on a comparable scale were suffered also

If you had $1,000,000

It you had $1,000,000 to invest, you would begin to think about the basic investment principles. You would first of all assure yourself of adequate diversification. You would place part of the fund in bonds for regularity of income and security of principal. You would buy some stocks in order to benefit from the continuing growth of the country. You would divide the money among many issues in order to minimize the effect of unfavorable developments in any one situation. You would have short term, medium term and long term bonds in order to avoid the necessity for reinvestment of large amounts at any one time. In short, you would build a well-balanced investment account.

As a practical matter, few people have the opportunity of providing for the investment of a large lump sum at any one time. Most investing must be done as surplus funds become available from earnings, profits and returns from previous investments. Under these conditions it is easier to buy the security that appeals at the moment rather than to carry out a definite plan. As a result, most investors find that their investment accounts at any one time do not satisfy their own conception of how a principal amount equal to the value of their holdings should be invested.

There is a way in which this situation can be avoided. That way is through the formulation of an investment program that fits your needs and your conditions. A strong and experienced investment house can help you formulate it and cooperate with you in carrying it out. We would welcome the opportunity of serving you.

INSULL SHARES WEAKEN; OTHER STOCKS DECLINE

Chicago Stock Market Trend Is Lower.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Acute weakness in the Insull public utility issues marked trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday. The weakness was by no means confined to the Insull shares but was more noticeable in those issues because of the comparatively stubborn resistance they have shown in the face of recent liquidation. The exchange will be closed today, Armistice day.

Two stocks, Insull Utility and Middle West, carried the brunt of the proceedings. In these issues alone the transactions rolled up amounted to more than 100,000 shares and each sold down to a record low price. Middle West broke more than 2 points to a low of 16½, then edged back a fraction before the close. Insull sank to 36¾ and recovered to 37½, to close with a net loss of more than 3 points.

The higher priced stocks also lost ground but the turnover in these issues was comparatively small. Public Service no par and Edison dropped 10 and 5 points, respectively.

Cities Service Improves.

The lower trend was common to nearly all the utility stocks on the board. Cities Service proved a notable exception, moving ahead to finish with a slight gain. The market action of the stock was watched with particular interest yesterday because of the severe pressure under which the issue moved in the late trading last week. The issue opened a fraction higher here and held its advantage most of the session.

In other sections of the list the trend was definitely lower but the losses as a rule were not as severe as in the utility stocks. Bendix Aviation anticipated the reduction of its dividend by selling off to a new low at 14¾.

Directors, meeting in the east, voted a quarterly dividend of 25 cents, which is just half of the payment made in the previous quarter. Placing of the issue on a $1 annual basis followed the earnings report for the first nine months, which was made Saturday. Per share earnings for the period were $9 cents compared with $3.29 in the corresponding period of last year.

Proves Vulnerable.

Castle Corporation stock proved a vulnerable spot in the specialty group by dropping 2½ points on moderate sales. Gleaner Combine steadied noticeably after its severe break last week and finished the day with a fractional gain.

Shares of the Houdaille-Hershey corporation which late last week announced the acquisition of the Muskegon Motor Specialties company were firm around previous closing prices. The "B" stock, which will be offered to Muskegon common stockholders on a share for share basis, closed at 5. Terms for the exchange of the Muskegon "A" stock have not been announced. The market value of the properties being taken over is in excess of $3,000,000, while the value of the two properties approximates $13,000,000.

GOOD BREAK IN COTTON; LOSS $1.00 TO $1.50 BALE

Cotton was under pressure from liquidators and hedgers yesterday with a weaker and lower market with losses of 13 to 14 points in Liverpool, and, combined with the weakness in stocks and grains, prices were on the downgrade almost all day, with only a slight rally at the close. At the last futures in Chicago were off 27 to 35 points, with other markets 25 to 34 points off. Spots in New York broke 35 points, or more than $1.50 a bale, the price being down to 10.80c, with New Orleans off 30 points, to 10.55c, while Galveston was 10.60c and Houston 10.50c.

Work to Start Next Week for Sol Goldberg.

BY AL CHASE.

Bids are now being taken and work will start next week on a two story store building at 3129-41 Lincoln avenue by Sol Goldberg, president of the Hump Hair Pin company, who some time ago leased the 146 feet of frontage at this location for ninety-nine years at a term rental of $4,534,000.

Mr. Goldberg already has leased stores in his new building to the Bedford Shirt company and the Atlas Radio stores.

Plans for the new structure, by Leichenko & Esser, call for a front elevation of Bedford stone. There'll be five stores on the first floor, with a basement to be used for merchandising. Asher Goldfine was broker for Mr. Goldberg. Mark Levy & Brother were brokers in the Atlas Radio lease. According to Mr. Goldfine, the new building will represent an investment of $400,000.

Ravenswood Deals.

Lela M. McDuffee purchased the northeast corner of Montrose and Winchester avenues, 152x92, improved with a building containing twenty-one flats and seven stores, with a three car garage, from John A. Menaugh for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $101,500. In exchange the twelve flats at the northeast corner of Sunnyside and North Paulina, lot 42x106, and the one story garage property at 3816 West Grand avenue, were given in part payment.

Elmer E. Stults of the E. E. Stults Realty company, who negotiated the foregoing deal, reports having sold the thirty-five apartment building at the northeast corner of Winchester and Sunnyside, 77x142, for William W. and Mary Dickinson to Helen W. Dailey. The northeast corner of Wilson and Hermitage, 92x165, with old improvements, was given in part payment. Mr. Stults states that his firm will continue to manage all of these properties.

The seventy car garage at 7211-21 Cottage Grove avenue, lot 110x125, was sold by George R. Dillon to Harry W. Meyer for an undisclosed consideration.

The Howe Manufacturing company has leased the one story building, 50x106, at 4612 Maypole avenue, from the Badeker Manufacturing company for a term of years through E. N. Duerlein & Co. The lessees are manufacturers of fire control apparatus.

Want Ad Restores Lost Pin; Owner Praises Finder

"Saturday night I lost a very valuable pin. After much distress and worry, my family prevailed upon me to have a notice inserted in Monday morning's Tribune, which I did without a particle of faith that I would find the pin. This pin is very precious to me as it was given to my mother by her grandmother, and my mother gave it to me.

"A young lady, Miss Alice M. Stollery, who had just taken a position at Saks Fifth Avenue Shop, found the pin at the corner of North Michigan Avenue and Walton Place on Saturday night. Sunday night she got an early edition of Monday morning's Tribune and saw my notice. She at once came to this building, but I was not here, so she came back before going to work, and returned the pin. I offered her a check, which she refused, saying that it gave her great pleasure to return the pin and that she was only sorry she could not have seen me last evening so I would have been saved a night's worry. I am writing Saks today telling them of this young woman's lovely attitude, and I want The Tribune to know what splendid results advertising brought me."

Figures Show Tribune Leads All in Chicago

If you want to know how much the citizens of any community value its newspapers, examine the want ad section of each paper. The newspaper carrying the most want ad advertising is generally the leader in the community. The reason for this preference is obvious. To be a good want ad medium a newspaper must have a large circulation. It must have a sound editorial policy and the confidence of its readers. It must carry a large percentage of other types of advertising. In short, a newspaper which leads in classified advertising has developed the greatest reader interest and has the best record for producing results for want ad advertisers in a community.

Tribune Leads in Chicago

In Chicago the accepted want ad medium is the Chicago Tribune. The circulation is larger than any other newspaper, now in excess of 820,000 families daily and 1,085,000 families on Sunday. The Tribune editorial policy, whether or not it is agreeable to all, is eagerly read, and the circulation figures show a large percentage of Chicagoans prefer it. Its dominance in most of the major divisions of display advertising is a further indication of its value. That the Tribune has reader interest is best shown by the tremendous response to Tribune-sponsored projects, of which the recent Music Festival is an example. That Tribune want ads produce results is shown by continued leadership in classified advertising.

Figures Prove Leadership

A few figures taken from the Want Ad Book of Facts will serve to show how thoroughly the Tribune covers want advertising in Chicago. In 1929 the Tribune Want Ad Section printed 1,017,745 individual advertisements, totaling 7,311,123 lines of advertising. Individual classification figures, in percentages, show how much of the total classified advertising of all Chicago newspapers ran in the Tribune. A few of these major classifications are as follows:

Automobile advertising	42.23%
Rental advertising [T'l]	58.84%
Apartments to rent	57.86%
Furnished apartments to rent	72.46%
Furnished houses	93.55%
Help wanted	64.80%
Instruction	77.10%
Employment agencies, male	80.30%
Clothing and furs	61.31%
Board and lodging	62.22%
Rooms	51.25%
Business opportunities	42.28%

The Tribune dominance in these 13 most important classifications will serve to indicate that Tribune want ads get results in a measure that warrants the confidence of readers and advertisers. Furthermore, that the Tribune Want Ad Section is perhaps the greatest single market place in Chicago for buyers and sellers of all types. Finally, that the success of the Want Ad Section reflects the popularity of the Tribune as a newspaper.

SNOW
By Ednah Aiken

SYNOPSIS.

King promised Sheila to go with her to Alaska after the races at Tia Juana, where his colt rode his favorite horse, Wind. Sheila plans to kidnap King and take him to a remote spot, there to help him fight off his baneful habit. Jim Molloy is living in Nome and he promises to help her. At breakfast in Jim's cabin King's coffee is drugged and Sheila and Jim carry him off unconscious to a cabin not far from Nome, although seemingly in the heart of the frozen wilderness. Jim leaves them his servants, an Eskimo couple, and returns at once to Nome. When King regains consciousness and learns he is marooned for the next eight months his fury breaks in verbal abuse on Sheila, accusing her of wanting to get him out of the way. He tries to bribe Hi-Jack, the Eskimo servant, to go to Nome for him.

INSTALLMENT XX.

AN ESCAPE.

For an hour or more King labored over the dumb machine. Several times he declared it worthless. "Threw your money away, old thing." He was about to abandon his efforts when a thread of sound was heard. It widened into a brilliant fabric; a distant band was playing "The Stars and Stripes."

Sheila's eyes felt the prick of tears. When in Nome she had thought she had realized what this boon to shutins would mean to them, but its voice, breaking through persistent silence, came as a miracle. During the long while winter, while she and King would sit alone at the top of the continent, they would share its crowded activities; daily, this voice would recreate the dancing rooms where happier starred couples swayed; it would materialize for them the bright clamor of the big games; it would tell them the news of the day; it would keep them from feeling lost and forgotten. King, she saw, was also moved. Perhaps his thoughts had not quite paralleled hers, but "The Stars and Stripes" would have irresistible appeal to one far from home and country.

King's face, as she studied it, now off guard and stripped of cunning, told her he was reliving his memories. He was listening to the blare of brass bands at crowded race tracks; he was marching in cap and gown with his fellows on their campus. Was he traveling with her, she questioned, over stretches of prairies, of sun burned deserts, was he seeing high mountain ranges and teeming cities? Their country! Their flag! Wherever it waved, even on the roof of the world where they sat alone, was home. . . .

Far away among her clothes was a little silk banner picked up in one of the Nome shops. It belonged on the wall over the cabinet with the eagle below. When she strove to fasten it with thumbtacks to the resisting log wall King came to her aid; and the simple little act of coöperation moved curiously the sense of relationship which had been severed at Tia Juana. When her eyes, tiresomely moist, sought his, he patted her shoulder. "Why all Sheila."

It was soon recalled to the radio by an explosive revolt of static, which restored the brilliant tune. And not again could the brass band be located; the miracle was over for that time. Irritably King tuned off, turning to the phonograph, and from thence to the magazines, alternating pipe with half smoked cigarets. Sheila coerced him into a game of checkers. They were but half way through when he said he preferred chess. Scarcely were the ivory pieces adjusted when he suggested mah jongg.

They had tried cribbage; they were debating poker when a tap at the door announced the Eskimos. King did not attempt to hide his astonishment when Happy Jack entered, following his spouse. The little brown man would not meet the challenge in the white man's gaze, though several times he had to pass him as he bore into the room the day's supply of wood and coal, and carried out the slops and garbage.

Not until the noon meal had been disposed of and the Eskimos had trudged back to their hut did Sheila find under the soap dish on her washstand three $100 bills and a letter in her husband's handwriting to a name unknown to her, in Nome. She took them out to him where he sat smoking, frowning into the fire. With an effort at casualness she said, "These must belong to you, King."

At the dinner table the next day King wearied suddenly of the barbecued bear and the fresh vegetables, which he had attacked with much heartiness. Throwing down his napkin he demanded, "Do you actually think you can carry out this insane plan of yours?"

Only once had he alluded to the practice which had caused their exile, and as long as it was kept shrouded in silence, asked Sheila of herself, would it not stalk as a restless ghost between them. She raised heavy eyes to his.

"The first ship will push through the ice fields late in May, or early in June. Jim will then send or come for us. Not before. I made him promise. Else unless some lost traveler happens to stumble in upon us—a chance in a thousand—we will see no one but the Eskimos, and each other, till then."

His eyes had instantly brightened when she spoke of the thousandth chance. "What makes you think it so unlikely? Men are always mushing between Dawson and Nome; mail is carried that way. If we came by snowshoe we can't be far from the line of travel."

"We're hidden away in a pocket of the hills, far from the line of travel. This mine was abandoned long ago. No one ever comes here now. And no one outside not even the smoke from the chimney can be seen, nor the sun which sattles about the shack. King!—" Desperately she broke through their mutual reserve. "Try to accept this fact, that time is our best friend."

Ignoring the appeal, he arose and went to his couch, where he lay staring at the ceiling the rest of the afternoon. He did not read; he refused all overtures to games. Furiously he smoked, lighting one cigaret by the last, until his wife bethought herself of the candy, which had not yet been attacked. He made nervous havoc of the first tin brought him, and was attacking the second when Sheila remembered with thankfulness the stored supplies of chewing gum.

He hated to see her chew; he hated the stuff as a reminder of the sordid origin of his withheld fortune, but she felt sure he would now welcome any such diversion. After leaving a package on the table by his side she removed herself from his circle of vision—which meant staying behind her curtains, on her own couch. She tried to read; later, in desperation, to sew, but her mind insisted on following the struggle in the other corner of the hut. And at last the coming of the Eskimos said it was the end of the second day. . . .

When she carried him his breakfast tray the next morning she saw he was plotting an escape. He was completely dressed. Before Casino's knock had sounded Sheila had heard him moving around his curtained recess, opening drawers and boxes, and unlocking bags. She had heard him fumbling with the crude kitchen cabinets. . . .

By the time she was clad for the day the Eskimos had departed. King heard by the outer door, strapping on his mukluks. His expression told her this was to be no mere exercise jaunt; some desperate plan was afoot. Perhaps it was as well to let him see how hopeless it was; afterwards they might settle down to the purpose of the kidnaping. Their tussle of wills had not yet started. Until he consented to destroy the drugs secreted in those locked bags of his, or, more unhappily, until he had disposed of them by his own hurt, the ordeal had not begun.

She would not question him, therefore, nor express a wish to accompany him on his walk. He might say what she knew was in his mind: That her eternal presence had got on his nerves, and that he was sick to be rid of her. When he crossed to her side, stooping unexpectedly to brush her cheeks with his pale lips, tears stung her eyes, but she made them smile up at him. "Good hunting, King!" she said. And the smile was kept steady until he closed the cabin door.

After he had gone doubt dismayed her. If he could persuade Happy Jack to let him experiment with the snowshoes, if he had had any practice, he might attempt to return to Nome. A hopeless effort to one who did not know landmarks, but perhaps his observation had not been so laggard during those rides of theirs as she had thought. . . . Or he might fall in with a traveler who would direct or escort him to the coast. And all her labors—and Jim's—would then have been in vain.

It became imperative for her to know whether he had obtained the revolver. She was assembling her storm clothes when the servants came to the door—hours before they were due.

Good Morning!

Clara Bow's new movie, adapted from the late Avery Hopwood's stage comedy, "Little Miss Bluebeard," is amusing. HOW amusing, depends on your point of view. It's the sort of number that could have been nicely contained in two or three reels. Or have run on forever. One of these dash-around-here-we-all-are-but-nobody sees-anybody-else concoctions. A comedy of errors, with everybody erring and paying for the mistakes in true farce comedy fashion. Clara Bow is the warm red heart of this rakish rose and Charles Ruggles, Skeets Gallagher and Ralph Forbes its most vivid petals.

The heroine is an actress, desirous of getting away from publicity and the men, men, men, who are always following her. The hero, Larry Charters, is a woman hounded composer, who also would be alone. These twain find themselves married by proxy—through no fault of their own, or, indeed, that of any one else. Follows the necessary commotion necessary to make holiday for the masses.

The acting throughout is deft enough, with honors going to the men in the cast. Charles Ruggles is responsible for most of the loud laughs. With training, Miss Bow would make a proper comedienne. She suggests Mabel Normand in a couple of scenes and I found her occasional Sarah Bernhardtic vocal intonations droll. Disliked her evening dresses and thought her hair looked frowsy. Merely a matter of taste as the lady said when she kissed the cow.

Dialogue and direction are sufficient unto the story thereof. You'll like "Her Wedding Night." Whether much or mildly I cannot say.

KIND: Operetta
QUALITY: Good.
MUSIC: By Rudolph Friml. Interesting, but not very catchy. All the voices are commendable.
ACTING: Pleasing in the main.
DIRECTION: Able, but long winded
PHOTOGRAPHY: Fine.
SCENERY and SETS: Picturesque.
SOUND: Fair.
DIALOGUE: Unremarkable.
STORY: Far from plausible. Over in Norway you meet the heroine, Jenny, and the hero, Chris, having a pleasant love affair. Along comes an aviator to interfere with it. He gets the heroine's brother in his power, and is seen by the hero holding Jenny in his arms—after a marathon dance which this noble young woman has entered to win funds to save her brother from disgrace. "GoodBYE!" shouts the hero, and goes away from there. The heroine, losing interest in life, decides to sacrifice herself in a bridal lottery for miners in the far north. Hero's brother draws her. Hero and the aviator—out to discover the North Pole—arrive on the scene, causing complications that end as you shall see. [Yes, it is a very small world.]

THOUGHTS BY THE WAY: Miss MacDonald sings better than she acts. J. E. Brown and Zasu Pitts contribute needed comedy that is sometimes comical. Picture's too long.

See you soon.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Funeral services for Dr. Guy E. Krolick will be held Thursday, Nov. 13, not tomorrow, as was incorrectly stated in THE TRIBUNE yesterday.

PUTNAM ALSO DENIES HE'S WED TO AMELIA, BUT THEY HAVE LICENSE

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—George Palmer Putnam, explorer and publisher, made unanimous today the denial of the two most interested parties that he and Miss Amelia Earhart, the first woman to fly the Atlantic, are married.

He did not, however, clear up the mystification following the news that a license for his marriage to Miss Earhart had been issued in Noank, Conn., Saturday, although insisting that no date has been set for the wedding and that no marriage plans have been made.

"What Miss Earhart said in Washington is Bible, beyond which I do not care to go," was the way he phrased his corroboration of Miss Earhart's forthright denial that any wedding had taken place.

This much is established: The license was issued in Noank, and Probate Judge Arthur P. Anderson said he had waived the five day notice which the Connecticut law says must elapse between issuance of the license and the wedding.

Women Will Seek Today Recruits for the Red Cross

In office buildings, theaters, and places of business more than 2,500 women will begin the solicitation today of 225,000 memberships for the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross. The annual roll call will continue until Thanksgiving day.

James T. Nicholson, manager of the Chicago chapter, in telling of the work of the Red Cross during the last year, said that the Red Cross has been called upon to act as a governmental agency and to supply food, shelter, clothing, and medical supplies in 115 disasters at a cost of $7,879,998. Of that amount $357,486 was contributed from the fund created by memberships.

Most of the large business organizations are conducting roll calls among their workers, special committees taking charge.

Prof. Einstein Will Lecture Three Months in California

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Prof. Albert Einstein has agreed to lecture at the University of Pasadena. He will sail for America early in December and will remain in California for three months. His wife will accompany him. Heretofore he has turned down all invitations to lecture in America because, as his wife stated, "we feared the crush of the thousands anxious to meet the scientist and we fear the emotion and strain for him. He has fully recovered from his heart trouble, but still must be guarded somewhat."

Amateurs Asked to Watch for Meteor Shower

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The scattered outriders of the world's greatest meteor display are due between Nov. 11 and 17. Few in numbers, they are the advance guards of the vast main swarm of leonid meteors which appear in great numbers three times a century and which are due either to hit or just miss the earth in 1933. No one knows which.

If they hit astronomers expect a repetition of the fiery rains which they have produced occasionally on past visits during the last thousand years.

Most of the advance guard this year is expected on the early morning hours of Saturday, Nov. 15. All over North America and Europe astronomers and their friends will be out counting these 1930 leonids, hoping thereby to find indications of the position of the oncoming main stream.

If more leonids show up than on Nov. 15 last year, when about ten were counted for three hours at the Blue Hill observatory near Boston, it will be taken as a sign that the "big show" possibly is headed this way. If there is no increase in numbers it may mean they are off the track the earth intersects.

A request for amateurs to turn out between midnight and daylight Saturday and Sunday mornings to assist in counting was issued today by Dr. Charles P. Olivier, director of the astronomical observatory of the University of Pennsylvania.

The meteors should be looked for in the eastern part of the sky. A quarter moon will interfere with seeing the fainter ones.

"Stars descended like snowfall to the earth."

In all their history there is no record of a leonid reaching earth. This is attributed to their high velocity, calculated at 44 miles a second, which causes them to burn up in the air.

Rosenwald Fund Aids Nursing Service for the Chicago Area

The hourly nursing service planned to bring care to people of modest means has received financial aid from the Julius Rosenwald Foundation which will enable the joint committee on hourly nursing in Chicago to extend operation of the program set up four years ago by the Central Council for Nursing Education and the First District Illinois State Association of Graduate Nurses. The announcement was made yesterday by Mrs. Arthur H. Spigel, chairman of the joint committee.

The Rosenwald Foundation will share in the initial expense of promoting the service with the intention that it will in time become self-supporting, it was explained. The service as already established is especially desirable for convalescent patients in homes, patients suffering from chronic illness, those recently discharged from hospitals, mothers with new born babies, and fracture and cast cases. It was pointed out also that it is a good service for persons living in hotels and small apartments.

It may be obtained by calling the nurses' official headquarters and registry, 116 South Michigan avenue, State 8542.

Marry Good Secretary, Advice to Young Lawyers

Health should be the first consideration in choosing a wife and beauty the last of ten factors, Dr. Edward Lyman Cornell of the medical faculty told Northwestern university's law students yesterday.

The simplest solution for the young lawyer seeking a wife, he said, if for him first to obtain a good secretary and then marry her.

As a test of health, he said, the prospective bride should be timed on a 100 yard dash and considered deficient if unable to make it in 13 seconds. Next in order of their importance he listed, freedom from jealousy, thrift, education, tact, business training, desire for children and home making.

Philadelphian Leaves Fund of $2,000,000 for Charity

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The will of John J. Tyler, probated today, provides a fund of more than $2,000,00 to establish a charitable foundation in his name. Tyler, who died Oct. 29 at the age of 79, was prominent in Philadelphia business circles.

The purpose if the foundation was designated as being "to render the widest and most substantial charitable benefit to the greatest number of my fellow men." It is not limited to any particular type of beneficiary except that preference is to be given those in Philadelphia and vicinity. Tyler's widow and other relatives were also beneficiaries in the will.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

OBSERVATION of Mr. Leiber's "King Lear," given at the Civic theater last night in the rapid rotation of his classic repertory, confirms my impressions of last season. The hoary monarch of ancient Britain who had such a heartbreaking time with his ungrateful daughters and sons-in-law is one of Unser Fritz's best roles.

He is an impressive picture of noble but eccentric old age. The numerous academicians who have painted Lear might have employed Mr. Leiber, with his full growth of Druidic beard, for their model. In the scenes of rage and rant and raving he uses his full battery of stormy, eager eloquence; and in the closing episodes, when the spent and dying patriarch finds the comfort of Cordelia's loyalty, he is wistfully appealing. This may not be a great Lear, but our generation can be content with it; for there are no others.

The performance contains an excellent earl of Kent as acted by Lawrence H. Cecil, who is Mr. Leiber's handiest man. Mary Hone is a gentle and winning Cordelia. Ingeborg Torrup is the Regan, in a crisp and cutting although somewhat Scandinavian manner; and Virginia Bronson is a grim, glum Goneril.

I hope that the high school students who were present made note of the fact that this tragedy added to the English language such well-known sayings as: "Sharper than a serpent's tooth," "More sinned against than sinning," "That way madness lies," and "Every inch a king." Incidentally, the text harmonizes with the season by mentioning football.

The Dramatic League of Chicago will shift its activities and its plays from the Princess to the Harris theater on Nov. 24 and will continue its season there. Thus the fourth and final week of Philip Merivale in "Death Takes a Holiday" will be given at the Harris.

This change will give the league's subscribers a much more attractive playhouse and will involve no inconvenience for seatholders, since the floor plans of both the Princess and the Harris are much alike. New tickets for the season will be mailed to all subscribers. The league also announces that its third play will be "Michael and Mary," by A. A. Milne, with Madge Kennedy in the leading rôle, opening on Dec. 1.

When the league deserts the Princess the Messrs. Shubert will restore that theater to its former policy. The firm has a number of plays which seem to be suited to it.

"Subway Express," the thriller which keeps all of its action inside an underground railway coach roaring down from the Bronx to Times square, New York, will replace "It's a Wise Child" at the Erlanger theater next Sunday night. The chief clew hunter of the story will be acted by Leo Curley, and other in the cast are Jack Byrne, Herbert Duffy, Virginia Curley, Mary Pettes, William Thompson, Edward Everett Hale III., John Rowan, and Maud Nolan.

"Hotel Universe," by Philip Barry, will be staged by the Goodman theater repertory company tonight as the second offering of its season. This play was produced by the Theater Guild in New York last season. The Goodman's cast includes Butler Mandeville, who was recently added to the company; Katherine Krug, Earl McDonald, Harry Mervis, Ellen Root, Florence Williams, William Brenton, Ruth Frank [another newcomer], and Carl Kroenke.

Juvenile Revue to Open De Paul Drama School

A "juvenile revue," in which children under 15 years of age will participate, will be part of the ceremonies to celebrate the formal opening of the downtown quarters of the schools of music and drama of De Paul university at 64 East Lake street, Saturday night. The new branch occupies an entire floor of the building. David Itkin, dramatic coach for the Goodman Memorial theater, serves the school in the same capacity. Arthur C. Becker is dean of the music school.

Hoover's Aids Urge School Policy Reforms

Shorter Vacations, No Home Work Suggested.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—(AP)—A revised school program was recommended today in the report prepared by Dr. Thomas D. Wood, Columbia university health education expert, for the coming White House child conference.

Dr. Wood's committee said:

"Home study should be entirely eliminated in the first six grades and it has little to recommend it in high school."

At the same time the report attacked the long summer vacation of undirected idleness. "School is too formal, vacation too empty," the committee decided, urging the board of education to take charge of children on a year around basis.

A school term 10 to 12 weeks in length, with a week of vacation intervening, was suggested on the theory that even adult efficiency declines after 12 weeks of work without vacation.

"The adoption of the new 13 month calendar would help in the adjustment of such a program," the report said.

The school hell would have a different meaning, midmornings and midafternoons, under its recommendation that the 15 minute recess should be a period of "genuine rest, not play, with as complete relaxation as possible and real quiet."

However, 30 minutes of physical education per day would be the minimum in any curriculum.

Pronouncing the school the "universal, officially accredited, and strategic institution" for directing child health care, the report held the school responsible for every phase of health direction from choosing the right janitor to teaching how to pick a well balanced meal from a cafeteria counter.

School authorities were urged to make summer health roundups to discover physical defects and obtain their correction. They were urged to improve the quality of janitor service, since "sight is preserved by keeping window glass and blackboard clean."

Nurses, dentists, oculists, physicians were listed among school needs, and the report urged one psychologist for every 1,000 to 1,500 pupils in the elementary school and one for every 500 to 600 pupils in secondary schools to take charge of psychological testing and vocational guidance.

The committee pronounced "undesirable" county, state, and national championship tournaments in competitive games and said endurance tests, such as long distance running, should be omitted from the physical education program.

But nutrition should be taught every school child, the well nourished as well as the undernourished, the report said. Moreover, the school should "feel obligated" to provide a lunch, the committee held, whenever the distance is too great for children to go home at noon or "when they would not receive a suitable meal if they went home."

School Children to Meet for U. S. Education Week

Pupils in Chicago schools will meet in their assembly halls this week to observe American Education week, a period set aside annually at this time to mark the advance of education in this country, it was announced yesterday by William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools. Locally, the advance of Chicago school systems will be pointed out and the national trend will be treated by well known speakers and educators over radio networks.

"Since 1925," Mr. Bogan said yesterday, "the school enrollment in grades 7 to 9, inclusive [the junior high school span of the secondary school], increased from 88,000 to 114,000—a gain of 29 per cent. In grades 10 to 12, inclusive, the increase was from 32,000 to 50,000 or 56 per cent." The National Broadcasting company announced yesterday that Superintendent Bogan would not speak over their network today as it was given out yesterday. Other scheduled speakers are Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur and Dr. Joy Elmer Brown, editor of the National Education Association Journal.

Even if the present business depression is an ill wind, it is blowing its share of good to the general public in the shape of unprecedented opportunities to travel at materially reduced rates, John Stocks, an official of the First National bank, head of the American Association of Bank Travel Bureaus, meeting yesterday at the Drake hotel, stressed that point as the principal reason why travel bureau managers have refrained from "joining the wailers at the wall."

"Point out to the people," he said, "especially former customers, that travel is cheap at present. Show by comparison with former years how rates have been reduced. Indicate especially how much less a client would have to pay now for the same trip he took previously. Feature the low priced trips. There never were so many attractive shorter cruises at moderate prices as there are this year.

"As for time objections remind your public that it is easier to get away from the office when business is quiet than in boom times. Many a man would get far more benefit from a few weeks of restful travel than from spending his time amid the gloom of an inactive office. It might provide him with the new perspective needed to bring about better business. It is difficult to understand how any one with the urge to travel can fail to be sold on a West Indies cruise, for instance, that need take no more than 12 days from New York, nor cost more than $150."

Through the efforts of A. G. Meating, rural school superintendent of Outagami county in Wisconsin 1,000 teachers of that state will enjoy a 24 day trip to Europe next summer at a cost of $249 apiece. The sum includes rail and Pullman fare to and from Appleton, Wis.; steamship reservations, rail and bus fares in Europe, all meals and tips and hotel costs.

Because of the low salaries received by many of the teachers who will make the trip, 800 of whom are already registered, the unusually low price was conceded by the Travel Guild with the cooperation of the Canadian Pacific and Soo lines.

It Takes a Manly Head to Carry Off the Frosted Hair

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If men would only return the compliment by admiring women with a silver glint at the temples wouldn't there be sweet surcease from the busy little industry of plucking out the silver threads one by one?

But they don't. And we read, not without a little of the feeling that there ain't no justice in this old world, of the big way the boy with the silver gray at his temples goes over with the gals. It gives him such a worldly look, experienced—romantic. The poor frosted hair of the other sex is just age and nothing but. Romance? It looks like the beginning of the end of it to the silver blighted female of the species.

Even provision is made for the young man who isn't impressing the one of his heart with his experience and wisdom. To let him go about romantically frosted, the trade, or a certain element of it, allows him a bleach in front of the ears and then a chemical compound is added that insures just the proper glint of silver—and romance. Aw! And what do you think is the selling talk? "It makes the eyes brighter and the face to appear more youthful," say the cosmetic propagandists.

Ain't they got all the luck—them thar byes?

While they silver for romance we black or henna for similar reasons, or bleach like a corncob.

We learned all the above at a recent beauty congress where we also learned that among the other trends observed by astute young stylists is a stampede toward the 100 per cent ultra-feminine. Though bobbed hair may be still more popular than long, which is reported to be the case, the hair is waved. It is soft and it is simon pure feminine. Eye shadowing is picking up on the theory that it is the farther point removed from a masculine touch. Tinted blue or green you can't do less than throw a Cleopatra come-on, a trick of the eye that the male has never aspired to.

The sign that hangs all over the beauty world at the moment is girl, girl, girl wanted. None other need apply. It's not enough to be one—but you've got to look it from coiff to heel, from eye to nail tip, from bust to hip line.

School Principal Laments the Shortage of Pupils

Thomas C. Johnson, principal of the Medill Evening school, 1326 West 14th place, yesterday announced the beginning of a campaign to attract more students. The school charges nothing for instruction and the use of its equipment. Commercial and cultural courses are offered.

"We used to have many more students than we have now," Mr. Johnson said yesterday. "Our three story brick building which occupies a full block seems empty with only 500 attending night classes while we have room for 1,500.

Ages of students range from the minimum of 16 years to 60. The fully equipped gymnasium is in constant use. Classes meet from 7:00 until 9:00 every evening except Saturday and Sunday.

"Go to the Talkies," Says Geraldine Farrar to Singers

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Geraldine Farrar, passing through New York between concert engagements, said today: "To gifted young American singers my advice is—Do not waste your freshness and youth, which is the time for singing except for that ageless person we see occasionally as a mere gadget in a Ford establishment such as the Metropolitan Opera house. Go to Hollywood and make the most of your youth with quick returns in the talkies."

Mrs. W. M. Blair Is in America for Short Stay

BY THALIA

Mrs. William Mitchell Blair, who set forth last spring from Lake Forest with the intention of spending at least a year, and perhaps longer, in Europe, is back in this country.

She isn't to be in the United States for long, however, and she probably won't come to Chicago, but she has joined Mr. Blair in New York City and plans to remain for about two months. She sailed on the Homeric on Oct. 18 in company with her sister-in-law, the Marquise d'Ivanrey, and the latter's daughter, Miss Inez de Bertais, who will arrive in Chicago in a few days for a visit with Mrs. Walter Borden.

The Blairs' two young sons, Billy and Bobby, who accompanied their mother to Europe, are being taken to Vienna by their grandparents, the Alfred H. Grangers, and placed in school there. The Grangers were in Paris with Mrs. Blair and the boys until her departure, and they will stay in Vienna until she arrives.

The Antiquarian society is holding its annual meeting in the Potter Palmer gallery of the Art institute at 3:30 o'clock this morning. Russell Tyington, director of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts, is to speak on "Buried Cities of the Mayans" immediately after the meeting.

Mrs. Edward Louis Spears (Mary Borden), who is to arrive in Chicago this week for a stay with the John Bordens, is to speak at the Arts club Monday evening. This news reaches Arts club members today or tomorrow, as arrangements for Mrs. Borden's appearance have only just been made. Her subject is to be "Literary London." Though there will be rival social attractions Sunday evening, the first of the Blackhawk hockey games at the Stadium and the infant welfare concert lecture by Admiral Byrd at the Opera house, the Arts club galleries and studios will be crowded for the program.

Enhancing the gayety of the season are interesting visitors arriving at frequent intervals, now to be entertained and conducted about the city. The Arthur Bissels are to have an interesting and important Belgian economist as their guest for the next several days. Baron Snoy b'Oppuers, who has been in Washington, D. C., for the last five or six weeks to study various aspects of the tariff problems, arrives this morning to be with them. The Bissels are taking him to the opening performance of "Hotel Universe" at the Goodman theater this evening, and tomorrow night are to give a dinner for him. Harold H. Swift is to take him to see the University of Chicago, and his program will doubtless include other possibilities.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Kirk of 229 Lake Shore drive and their daughter, Miss Helen Kirk, leave Chicago today for Dalton, Mass., to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, who have returned east after a stay here. They will go to Groton, Mass., for the football game between Groton and St. Mark's, to take place on Thursday, and in which Radcliffe Kirk is to play. Miss Kirk is to go to the Yale-Princeton game on Saturday and will join her parents in New York after the Yale-Harvard game.

Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson of 230 Lake Shore drive took the Century yesterday for New York City. Mr. Simpson and his son, James Jr., are to sail on Wednesday morning for a 6 weeks' European trip, and Mrs. Simpson is going to see them off on their journey. James Jr. has been doing a lot of steeplechasing in the east in recent weeks, and he will probably do some more in England and on the continent. The two will be back just before Christmas, according to their present plans.

Society at the Opera

The boxes and main floor of the opera house were well filled for the opening of the third week of opera last night. The guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull were Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Pike, Mrs. Francis J. Johnson, and William B. McCluer. The women in the party were all gowned in black, the hostess in black chiffon with shoulder bands of brilliants, Mrs. Pike in black lace, and Mrs. Johnson in velvet with small ruffled cap sleeves.

Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift was hostess to Mrs. William L. Hodgkins, Mrs. John L. Senior, and Mrs. Warren Fairbanks. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick were Mr. and Mrs. James Ward Thorne and Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Smith.

With Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick were Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Dewey Jr., Mrs. Walter Borden, Augustus S. Peabody, and Edwin D. Krenn. The Albert Blake Dicks and Mrs. D. Mark Cummings were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Cummings.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell's guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Rose, Mrs. Bowman C. Lingle, and Donald M. McClure, and the Thomas W. Hindes had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rickcords, Miss Sarah Hinds, and Revilo Fuller. With Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Keith and Mrs. Glade Peck of Cleveland and Harold K. Swift.

MAKE DEBUT TOGETHER

MISS CORINNE BREWER

Miss Virginia Waller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Waller Jr. of 45 Banks street, and her cousin, Miss Corinne Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harris Brewer, of 1311 Ritchie place, were presented to society at a tea and reception yesterday afternoon at the Waller residence. Miss Waller wore a pale blue velvet gown and Miss Brewer was in black velvet.

Among the debutantes assisting at the affair were Miss Winifred Wheeler, Miss Elsa Armour, Miss Beatrice Kirk, Miss Constance Hasler, Miss Josephine Dennehy, Miss Marguerite Watson, Miss Geraldine Swift, Miss Elinor Whiting, and Miss Sarah Wood.

Society Leaders See Chauffeur, Cook Wed

The wedding of a chauffeur and a former cook in the Barrington home of Mrs. Melvin Ericson, daughter of Ambassador and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, and in the presence of a number of north shore society leaders who were invited guests, was revealed yesterday.

Lauzanne Gergov, whom Ericson, then an officer in the United States army, brought back from Bulgaria, where he was employed in the palace of King Boris at the close of the world war, and Victoria Krauser, until recently a domestic in a Hubbard Woods home, are the newly weds.

They were married on Nov. 2 and three days later returned to Gergov's quarters on the Ericson estate, where they are making their home. Mrs. Ericson is said to have originated the plan for a "real wedding" for the couple.

Some priceless old objects, their beauty and charm preserved hundreds of years, were placed on display yesterday. The Chicago Antique exposition opened its second annual showing at the Palmer house.

One might pause all afternoon to study the Brussels tapestry, ten feet in height and 15 feet wide, made after a cartoon by Bernard Van Orley [1493-1560], valued between $55,000 and $60,000. It represents the dream of Paris, son of Priam, king of Troy.

Among other treasures are: a Tibetan manuscript believed to have been written 2,000 years before Gautama Buddha; some rare blood jade; a double bladed Turkish dagger with a hilt inlaid with jewels; a 25 grain pearl, valued at about $70,000.

One of the most interesting pieces of furniture is a table with inlaid Italian marble which Napoleon Bonaparte gave his brother Jerome. The table is an heirloom in the home of H. Griffith of Wheaton, whose grandmother was Janet Patterson, a cousin of Betsy, who married Jerome. An ebony smoking set inlaid with gold and pearl and lined with gold was once the property of a king.

Food Talk.

Interesting, isn't it, how dressed up a meal is when we serve Brussels sprouts? At this season we think of this vegetable when we are going to have company. We feel as though it will be just a little individual to serve them. And they are rather individual vegetables.

Brussels sprouts are one member of the cabbage family—a member with rather gregarious habits. A cabbage that refuses to grow up just one big head, but insists on multiplying to large numbers. Sprouts grow on a long stalk. The stalk develops a number of the miniature cabbages which are usually not more than an inch in diameter.

It is interesting to know that their name has been conferred upon them because they have been cultivated in Belgium ever since the beginning of the thirteenth century. Now, however, sprouts are grown in all temperate climates. They find a ready market during their short season from September to January.

The best sprouts when picked are almost as hard as the stalk itself. However, upon proper cooking they become as tender as the finest cauliflower. The flavor, also, is very delicate. The proper cooking of the sprouts is a process requiring care. The attractive green color must be preserved as well as the shape, and the development of an overcooked cabbage odor prevented. The sprouts should be thoroughly washed in cold water and the outer leaves removed. They must be carefully picked over as some are liable to be wormy.

Remove the sprouts from the water and drain well. Cook them in the same manner as any other green vegetable in a large amount of rapidly boiling water in an uncovered pot. Brussels sprouts must be cooked until just tender. This will take about 8 to 10 minutes. Overcooking tends to make them mushy and less tasty.

The best policy is to have the sprouts washed and ready to cook. Then, just before they are needed, drop into the boiling salted water and cook rapidly. Freshly cooked sprouts have the best flavor and color. They should never be warmed over. Any that are left over may be used for a salad. An excellent salad is made by placing 5 or 7 chilled cooked sprouts on a bed of lettuce. Serve with vinaigrette dressing. Garnish with pimento strips.

FRIED APPLES.

2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat.

Use any good flavored apples. Jonathans are excellent. Leave the peeling on. Cut into uniform sized pieces. Let butter become hot. Put in apples, sugar, and lastly water. Let cook without stirring until apples are soft and sugar and butter become a golden brown in the bottom of the pan. Serve with bacon for breakfast or with the meat course at dinner.

Yield: Four servings. One serving: Total, 215 calories: protein, 1 calory: fat, 53 calories; carbohydrates, 161 calories.

STOP BOBBY'S COUGH

Before It Weakens Him to the Danger Point!

Never take a child's cough lightly. You can't tell where it will end. Many a serious sickness has started with "just a cough." For a cough is not only distressing, but weakening as well. At the first sign of a cough or chest soreness in old or young, always give good, dependable old "Piso's for Coughs."

Piso's does the five things necessary to stop a cough and repair the damage done. It checks the cough spasm, loosens the mucus, opens the air passages, soothes the inflamed tissues, and at the same time has a tonic value that tends to build up what the cough tears down. Only Piso's supplies these five vital effects and it contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. Safe to give, even to babies. All druggists sell Piso's in 35c and 60c sizes. Be sure you ask for "Piso's for Coughs."

There Are Excellent Reasons

why 85% of our leading hospitals use Kotex absorbent

It is five times as absorbent as surgical cotton; it stays soft longer, deodorizes and is designed to fit.

YOU will probably have discovered for yourself that leading hospitals provide Kotex for their patients, that great surgeons use the material of which it is made for their most important work. Why?

Well, Kotex is amazingly absorbent, for one thing. It absorbs five times more than surgical cotton, by actual test. Kotex, you know, is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding. This is laid layer upon air-cooled layer, so that it may be adjusted to your own needs. And each layer is a quick, complete absorbent in itself.

Soft, secure, safe

Because of the way it is made, Kotex is delicately soft not only at first but all during use. It absorbs not in one concentrated spot but scientifically, gradually, so that there is never the discomfort of chafing and binding. Kotex is guaranteed to last longer, to stay soft longer than any other sanitary pad.

Kotex is secure. You feel poised, thoroughly at ease with this assured protection. It is shaped to fit. Corners are rounded and tapered so the pad remains inconspicuous, no matter how clinging your frock.

And, of course, the hygienic safety, the scrupulous cleanliness that Kotex offers cannot possibly be duplicated by crude, homemade methods. But, fortunately, women are discarding those old-fashioned makeshifts entirely nowadays. Kotex is so inexpensive that other ways are unnecessary.

Hospitals use great quantities

Last year 85% of our great hospitals bought Kotex absorbent... 2,500,000 pounds of it, enough for 80,000,000 Kotex pads. And they bought, besides, 13,000,000 Kotex pads. This well demonstrates the extent of medical approval. What a tribute to the hygienic superiority of this remarkable sanitary pad!

For your health's sake alone, Kotex is imperative. And for the sake of fine grooming, good taste—specify Kotex when you buy sanitary pads.

KOTEX IS SOFT...

2 The Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

brings new ideals of sanitary comfort! Woven to fit, by an entirely new patented process. Firm yet light; will not curl; perfect-fitting.

Tokio Bishop Uses Press to Spread Religion

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Rt. Rev. P. Y. Matsui, Episcopal bishop of Tokio, Japan, and the only native bishop of the Anglican communion in Japan, was a visitor to this city yesterday. He declared the newspapers of his country are the most effective means of spreading Christianity there.

Bishop Hatsui is returning to Tokio from a tour of England and America. He attended the Lambeth conference of Anglican bishops recently held in London.

The Japanese prelate declared newspaper publicity offered the only means his church has of keeping in touch with more than 1,000,000 persons interested in Christianity widely scattered over the island empire. Immediate contact through parish churches is impossible for many thousands of them. Bishop Matsui stated that these native Christians, often isolated, depend almost wholly on the newspapers for Christian instruction.

"Newspaper evangelism" was the phrase he used in telling of his publicity methods for spreading Christianity. He explained the importance of the newspapers in his work by pointing out that of 347 cities and towns in Japan, only 46 have even occasional Christian workers. By means of newspaper evangelism the message of his church reaches 260 of these places regularly. Bishop Matsui said he habitually bought newspaper space by the column.

In answer to an inquiry about the effectiveness of his publicity program, Bishop Matsui said last year more than 25,000 books about Christianity were purchased by Japanese as a direct result of the newspaper evangelism. He then added that American Christian churches would profit by a greater use of the daily press. He declared that paid advertising space could become a means of preaching religion.

Bishop Matsui said he was dazzled by the traffic speed in Chicago. He declared it to be the fastest to be found in the world. One evidence that Tokio, a city of more than 5,000,000 people, was becoming westernized is found in the fact that Tokio has a crime situation not unlike Chicago's. He said the city has a present unemployment crisis.

Buddhism in Japan, said Bishop Matsui, is rapidly becoming Christianized. He cited instances of Buddhist leaders sending teachers to Christian conferences, with the result that Christian practices are gradually being introduced in the Buddhist system. Bishop Matsui arrived yesterday over the Pennsylvania railroad and was taken to points of interest in the city as the guest of Bishop George Craig Stewart.

Pay of Yankee Professors Shocks Prussian Educator

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The difference between the $12,000 salary of an American college professor and the earnings of his erstwhile pupils in the business world presents a sorrowful contrast to Dr. C. H. Becker, former Prussian minister of education.

Sheathe Gown Returns with a Cutaway Jacket

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS — (Special Correspondence.)—Among the many varied silhouettes that compete for smartness in the evening mode, the sheathe gown appears as new and striking. Of course, this revealing line, beloved by sirens, can only be worn by a woman with a perfect figure. Extreme thinness is, in this case, as fatal as fat, but if you're all slender curves you will just bowl 'em over in a lamé sheathe that fits like your skin nearly to the ankles, where a few textile billows allow you to achieve that floating glide—for no real vamp would ever think of merely walking.

Maggy Rouff, Paul Poiret, and Lenieff S. A. are among the Paris couturiers who create beautiful sheathed, sirens for winter evenings.

Redfern offers a wearable version of this dangerous mode. He balances the low flare of the gown by a cutaway jacket with flaring peplum on the hips.

The Redfern formal evening ensemble, sketched here, is a perfect example of this type of costume. It's of pale pink and gold lamé patterned with huge roses. The gown, which has an asymmetrical décolleté, is wrapped tightly around the figure in a spiral. The lowest spiral becomes a circular flounce and is finished with a wide band of mink round the hem. The cutaway jacket fits tight to just below the hips, where a flaring circular peplum is added. The high shawl collar and the cuffs are also of mink.

Up to Date Mother Grows and Changes with Her Children

A book on the care of babies by Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom can be had at The Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 65 cents.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Did you catch yourself yesterday giving your ten year old son or daughter almost as many directions, as much supervision, as you did when they were four?

Yesterday's article suggested that you might listen to yourself and see whether you were changing your ways to fit the changes in your child.

In some ways I think this is one of the hardest things mothers have to do. Babyhood means such utter dependence on the baby's part and little girlhood and boyhood mean such constant watchfulness and such understanding of the many new things that have to be learned at this age that when the children get past this point it is hard for many parents to realize that they are past it.

It sometimes takes the criticism of an outsider, or a mental jolt from some suggestion in print to make a mother realize how she is keeping her boy or girl in infantile ways—that she has been using the same method she used with him when he was a little chap and when it was necessary. That is, he has changed but she hasn't changed to meet the change in him.

Lucky for her and for him if she suddenly realizes her mistake—realizes that she doesn't let him work things out himself and make his own mistakes, form his own opinions, make his own decisions that she doesn't let him use his own initiative, that she expects the same compliance, the same docility from him at ten as at three. Lucky if she realizes her mistake in time.

Independence, initiative, inventiveness, judgment—don't suddenly blossom in a boy or girl when he or she is grown up. They should have their chance to develop all along the way. Particularly when they reach adolescence are they irked by being treated as if they were children. But if there has been a gradual loosening up of the reins, a gradual decrease in restrictions by the time they reach their teens they won't want to kick over the traces, because the traces are light and don't chafe.

Try looking at yourself as if you were some one else. See whether, as your child grows and changes, you are changing your ways, too.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Has No Winter Coat.

"This is the first time in my life I've ever needed anything. I've always been able to take care of myself and could even help some one else. Last spring I gave my winter coat away expecting to be able to buy a new one this year, but I've been sick and out of work in the meantime, and now when I need a coat badly I can't buy it. Do you think your readers would have one in size 38 or 40 to give me? M. F."

This generous soul didn't foresee the trouble ahead of her or she wouldn't have to come to us now for assistance. Won't you help her by giving the coat you won't be wearing this winter?

Offers Toys.

"I have an amount of toys suitable for a little boy 4 or 5 years of age. If you could give me the name of a child who would enjoy them I would be glad to deliver them. MRS. H. S."

Lonely Widower Wants to Marry; Asks for Advice

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I lost my wife a year ago and am extremely lonesome. I have a fine home and a good income. Do you think I ought to get married again? My children are all married. I do not want to break up my home and live with them.

"I am 50, healthy and strong, but I do not know any woman I would like to marry. Can you advise me if there is any legitimate agency I could get in touch with to meet the right kind of woman? My children do not want me to marry, which is why I would rather make the acquaintance of a woman outside of our community. T. J."

To begin with, the children's objections might be overruled with the knowledge that they are now established in homes of their own and their futures reasonably well assured. A man of 50 certainly is in no position to be treated as an incompetent old man, unable to make decisions for himself, even to deciding on a new life partner. It is not wise to tear up the old home roots and attempt to fit into the home life of a younger generation. Nor, to repeat the Biblical suggestion, is it well for man to live alone.

Better, however, to live alone than to go searching in strange high and byways for the type of woman that would make a home loving man of 50 happy. If one wants to round out the last half century of his career in peace and happiness, he should use just a bit more of the common sense for which his first marriage was noted. The common mistake is to go seeking novelty in a woman of unknown background and qualifications, or else to go chasing after a girl many, many years one's junior.

Usually in one's community there is the right woman for the lonely, middle aged man, a woman whose good character has been under observation in the social amenities of a prescribed circle, a woman who would appreciate a good home and a husband of good, home loving qualities. She is the sort to look for.

I believe it is a sort of shamefaced attitude of mind about taking on a new mate that inspires the "agency" suggestion. This is an erroneous attitude. A dangerous one, too, for the gamble is great in picking from a miscellaneous list of candidates.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Rich Boy, Poor Boy.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a rich boy and a poor boy. I prefer the poor boy, but rather a rich boy. Please advise. HADES."

Don't get the idea that money always brings happiness. Stick to the boy you love.

Take Her Back.

"Dear Miss Blake: My girl gave me the air and is going with other fellows. Would you take her back if you were I? FAT."

Yes, if you still care for her. Her desire to return proves that you stand high in comparison with the other boys.

"I Don't Feel Just Right, Doc"

(The Common Way of Describing Acidity)

You're not sick, yet not well. Your stomach isn't just right, you don't sleep well and you tire easily. Your color isn't what it should be and you probably look drawn.

A sort of vague, run-down feeling is one of the first symptoms of acidity. Acidity is due to our unnatural eating, our irregular hours and other excesses. The excess acid upsets digestion and causes putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. This frequently results in sick headaches, dizzy spells, "nerves" mental depression and general lassitude.

A remarkable new corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany.

This new, improved magnesia comes in the form of small, white tablets, called Magnesia Oxoids, which do not have to be chewed, but may be swallowed whole. Magnesia Oxoids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen. Now, active oxygen, as any doctor will tell you, when generated within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretions of the alkaline mucus. It checks the putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels.

All three effects are necessary to the true relief of acidity and Magnesia Oxoids supply them in perfectly natural manner.

Make This Acidity Test

See for yourself how much acid has to do with your run-down condition and that persistent feeling of tiredness. Make this acidity test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen's Drug Stores, Economical Drug Stores, or any other druggist today on our money-back guarantee. Take two after each meal. Note the pick-up in your pep and vigor. Mark the new peace of your stomach and nerves. If, after taking contents of one bottle, you don't notice a decided improvement in your health, return the empty bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money. A-8.—(Advertisement.)

CHILDREN CRY FOR IT!

FIVE million modern mothers will tell you that children DO cry for Fletcher's Castoria. For mothers always give a few drops of this pure vegetable preparation when a child has any of the symptoms that tell of sluggish bowels, colic, or other upsets. When tiny tongues are coated and breath is bad. When a child is restless; irritable. It's always soothing and comforting to an infant—yet it is effective for children in their teens. Mothers never have to coax children to take Castoria, for children of all ages love its pleasant taste.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

SALADS VIA BASEMENTS.

French by name and appearing on the menus of exclusive restaurants and clubs, a certain winter salad crop does not object to being grown in any basement with less care and less expense than head lettuce. That is French endive or witloof chicory, recommended by B. L. Weaver of the olericulture division of the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

In central Illinois the crop has to be started from seed about June 15. Earlier planting produces oversized roots two inches or more in diameter, which are not desirable. The plants are thinned to six inch intervals in rows and ready for digging late in October or early November. Severe freezing ruins the crop.

When the plants are dug, says Mr. Weaver, the tops are cut off to about two inches above the crown. Forcing of the roots may begin at once, as no dormant period is necessary. Roots not be forced until later may be stored in moist soil at temperatures of from 32 to 45 degrees.

The roots are set close together in ordinary soil in the forcing process. The crowns should be at the surface. Thorough watering after the roots are set should be followed by putting on the sand in which the heads are to make their growth, but this sand should not be applied until after the soil surface has dried. About an eight inch layer of sand is used.

Forcing temperatures usually are held at around 70 degrees and the initial watering usually is all that is needed. The heads are ready to use in from 14 to 20 days. Starting a few roots at intervals insures a constant supply of fancy salad material during winter months.

"There are smiles that make us happy..."

Do you remember the song? True words. For when a smile is lovely there's nothing more attractive. And how much it depends upon healthy teeth and gums!

But don't you sometimes wonder if you really are taking the best care of your teeth? You notice so many theories—so many dentifrices. What is right? E. R. Squibb & Sons asked a leading research institution to get 50,000 practicing dentists to answer the question. Read the summary of the replies received:

85% stated that the best product to prevent these acids from causing decay and irritating the gums is Milk of Magnesia.

Squibb Dental Cream is made with more than 50% Squibb Milk of Magnesia. Could there be better assurance that Squibb's will safeguard your teeth and gums . . . and protect the beauty of your smile?

DR. JULIA SMITH, EARLY SUFFRAGE LEADER, IS DEAD

Physician, Social Worker Passes at 92.

Dr. Julia Holmes Smith, whose work in medicine, suffrage and amelioration of conditions among the poor, placed her in the front rank of Chicago citizens, died yesterday at the age of 92 in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hyde W. Perce, 216 North Grove avenue, Oak Park. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon from the residence, with interment at Graceland cemetery.

Mrs. Perce and a son, Willis Abbott, by Dr. Smith's first husband, are the only surviving members of her immediate family. Her second husband, Sabin Smith, died in Chicago in November of 1908.

Leader Among Women.

One of the pioneers in the feminist movement, Dr. Smith was for years a distinguished leader of her sex in Illinois. She was a national figure and numbered among her friends such women as Susan B. Anthony, Frances Willard, Dr. Sarah Hackett Stevenson, and Julia Ward Howe.

She was the first woman to serve as trustee of the University of Illinois, having been appointed by Gov. Altgeld. She helped found the Illinois Women's Democratic league and the Wilson-Marshall league, serving as president of both. She was active in organizing the Chicago Woman's Press club as well as the Chicago Woman's club.

Dr. Smith was one of this city's first women physicians. She was graduated from the Chicago Homeopathic Medical college in 1877. She was a fellow of the American Medical association and once served as dean of the National Medical college. She helped found the Illinois Training School for Nurses and established the Woman's Day hospital at the 1893 World's Fair here.

Work in River Wards.

In her work among the poor, particularly in the river wards, she won a name on a par with that of Jane Addams. She devoted the greater part of her life to the betterment of living conditions and family life generally.

Born in Savannah, Ga., Dec. 22, 1838, Dr. Smith came to Chicago in 1876. She had lived previously in the east and south. Her first husband was Waldo Abbott. They were married in 1860 and he died in 1884. She married the late Sabin Smith in 1872.

Her biggest achievement was in the feminist movement. She joined the Association for the Advancement of Women in Boston in the early seventies. Thereafter she labored for suffrage incessantly. She was fond of telling that William Lloyd Garrison inspired her to take up the work by telling her she had as much right to vote "as my own darkies."

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Peace on Earth

S. M. COLGATE OF SOAP COMPANY DIES SUDDENLY

Thought Recovering from Long Illness.

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Sidney M. Colgate, chairman of the board of directors of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company of Jersey City and Chicago, died suddenly early today at his home, Orange, N. J. He was 68 years old.

Mr. Colgate had been ill for some time, but was convalescing. He believed himself well enough Saturday to dismiss the nurse. The previous night, when the welfare federation of the Oranges and Maplewood launched its twelfth annual ten day campaign for funds, Mr. Colgate, as treasurer of the organization, presided at the meeting and was named general chairman for the campaign drive.

Was Leading Welfare Drive.

That night approximately $200,000 of the $400,000 goal was reached, with Mr. Colgate personally contributing $13,000.

Prior to July 1, 1928, Mr. Colgate was president of Colgate & Co. On that date Colgate & Co. merged with the Palmolive-Peet company to form the present company.

Mr. Colgate was a former president of the Orange board of education and a former superintendent of the Sunday school of the North Orange Baptist church. He was a director of the Savings Investment and Trust company of East Orange. He was also a former president of the Chamber of Commerce and Civics of the Oranges and Maplewood. During the war he was chairman of the soap industry war service.

Widow Survives.

Mr. Colgate was born at Orange Sept. 11, 1862, the son of Samuel and Elizabeth Ann [Morse] Colgate. He was graduated from Yale in 1885. On Oct. 14, 1894, he married Caroline Bayard Dod of East Orange.

He is survived by his widow; a son, S. Bayard Colgate of Rye, and two daughters, Mrs. Howard C. Taylor Jr. and Mrs. Edward P. F. Egan, both of New York City.

Death of H. J. Gary in Wheaton Called Accident

A verdict of death from accidental causes was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury in the case of Hobart J. Gary, cousin of the late Elbert H. Gary, who was found unconscious Nov. 1 in the garage of his Wheaton home and died a short time later. The inquest had been continued three times. Reports that Mr. Gary had deliberately started the engine of his car with the intent to commit suicide by inhaling monoxide gas were discounted by the investigation, the coroner said.

AGREE ON BOARD TO END BUILDING TRADE DISPUTES

After a year of negotiations, representatives of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor and the National Association of Building Trades Employers signed an agreement in Washington yesterday for the creation of a national board of trades claims. The new board is designed to prevent strikes in jurisdictional trade disputes by means of arbitration.

The board, which will serve as a supreme court of appeals, will take office Dec. 15, after the agreement has been submitted for the signatures of all individual international trade bodies, as well as employers' associations. The agreement was signed by M. J. McDonough, president, and W. J. Spencer, secretary, for the trades, and David T. Riffle, president, and E. M. Craig, secretary, for the contractors' association.

CHARLES EDDY IS KILLED BY AUTO FUMES

Charles M. Eddy, 60 years old, president of the R. M. Eddy Foundry company, was killed by carbon monoxide fumes yesterday. He was found in the garage at the rear of his home, 5852 Sheridan road, the motor of his automobile running and the hood open as though he had been overcome while making an adjustment. Mr. Eddy was a member of the Chicago Athletic, Edgewater, and the Medinah Athletic clubs. He is survived by his widow and two children, Jeanette and Charles M. Eddy Jr.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the residence, with interment at Rosehill mausoleum.

HOOVER FACING HOT FIGHT OVER MUSCLE SHOALS

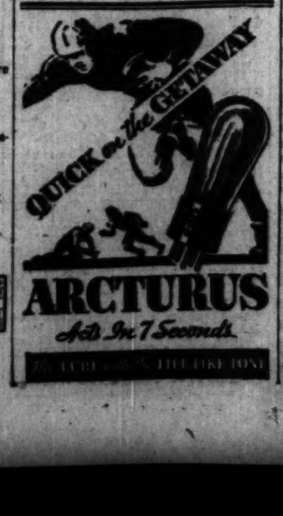
Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.] announced today that he would summon the conference committee on the pending Muscle Shoals bills into session as soon as congress reconvenes.

And in making the announcement he added his own prophecy to the predictions that water power and its control would assume national importance by 1932.

Consideration of the Muscle Shoals bills by Senator McNary's committee, it is expected, will throw the whole question of government versus private ownership into controversy on the floor of both houses.

THOMAS SMYTH WILL IS FILED; ESTATE $100,000

The will of Thomas A. Smyth of the John M. Smyth Furniture company, was filed for probate yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. Mr. Smyth died on Oct. 27 at his home, 821 Buckingham place. The will, filed by Attorney James A. O'Callaghan, leaves his entire estate, valued at $100,000, in trust for his four children, John U. Smyth, Agnes Smyth, both of Chicago, John E. Smyth of Lombard, Ill., and Angela Smyth of St. Louis.



KIN OF STANLEY McCORMICK FILE INVENTORY HERE

Value His Estate at $30,000,000.

An inventory of the estate of Stanley McCormick, 54 year old multi-millionaire incompetent, was filed yesterday with Probate Judge Henry Horner. The report was submitted by the board of conservators, Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick, his wife; Harold McCormick, a brother, and the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company.

The estate is valued at between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000, according to an estimate made by the law firm of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt, which filed the document. Based on current market prices of securities, however, the total value runs considerably higher than $30,000,000.

The principal holdings of the estate consist of International Harvester company securities, including 298,556 shares of common stock with a current market value of $16,540,000 and 32,976 shares of preferred, valued at $4,748,544. Also listed are 1,790 shares of stock in the United States Steel corporation, worth $254,495. Bonds are valued at $353,000 and real estate at $12,477,380. Bank deposits are listed at $400,000.

Follows Court Action.

Since Mr. McCormick was declared incompetent in 1906, two years after his marriage, $3,000,000 has been spent for him in his confinement on his estate in Santa Barbara, Cal. For a number of years after he was declared incompetent his estate was handled by members of the family. Three years ago the conservators were appointed by Judge Horner.

There followed two years of litigation both here and in Santa Barbara, Mrs. McCormick petitioning for the removal of Harold McCormick and Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine of Chicago, brother and sister of the ailing man, from his board of guardians. She also asked to be made the sole authority over the care of his health and the administration of his estate. The petition was denied last January by a Santa Barbara court, although Mrs. McCormick was named personal guardian.

Hint at U. S. Court Plea.

It has since been reported that the matter will be carried to the federal court on the question of whether the courts of Illinois and California had jurisdiction.

Mrs. McCormick recently won an increase in her income from her husband's estate. An agreement was reached out of court after she had petitioned to increase her income from $160,000 a year to $420,000 a year. Mrs. McCormick also asked for $600,000 immediately to pay off her creditors and $81,000 to pay her husband's doctors since January, 1928.

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, attorney for Mrs. McCormick, has said that he will ask a legal fee of $500,000 for his services since 1927.

Half-sick for Days Excess Acid is poisoning your system

Excess acid is a menace to health. It curdles the food we eat into insoluble lumps, forms gas in the stomach and intestines; attacks the delicate linings of the digestive organs, makes them inflamed, and often, if allowed to go uncorrected, prpduces constipation, ulcers, chronic indigestion and other serious disorders.

You can correct stomach distress almost at once. The surest and quickest way is Milnesia Wafers—which are pure milk of magnesia in a pleasantly flavored wafer. Excess acids are immediately neutralized.

Thousands of physicians and dentists are daily recommending Milnesia Wafers in preference to the old-fashioned liquid form of milk of magnesia because they are more effective, more convenient, less expensive, and much nicer to take.

Ask your druggist today for the home package of Milnesia Wafers at 60c or the convenient "carry" package for the vest pocket or purse at 20c.
